President, Fearing Intervention, Resolves on Personally Leading Troops Against Negroes.

OUR GOOD FAITH DOUBTED

Cuban Officials Are Not Convinced That We Do Not Mean to Intervene.

BITTER RACE WAR IS FEARED

Stories of Attacks on White Women Arouse Racial Hatred in Havana.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, June 6.—Because he feels certain that if the Cuban uprising is not controlled within a short time American intervention and resulting loss of Cuban independence are inevitable, President Gomez informed his intimates this afternoon that he proposes to take the field himself and call to the country to support him in wiping out the rebellion in the Oriente.

Notwithstanding that Washington has constantly reasserted assurances that the United States does not intend to intervene in Cuba, THE TIMES can state positively that Cuban officials are not convinced, fearing that intervention means the end of the present administration if not of the republic. They seem unable to understand that President Roosevelt's declaration several years ago that "the next intervention will be the last" is unlawful.

THE TIMES correspondent learns authoritatively that at the Cabinet meeting this morning it was discussed if there was any way to obtain the withdrawal of the American forces. Secretary Sanguily dwelt lengthily on the Platt amendment and its scope, declaring that the United States had no right to land troops in Cuba until it had been better demonstrated that Cuba was unable to overcome the uprising.

Want Us to Withdraw Troops.

Señor Sanguily's sentiments were echoed by all the other members of the Cabinet, but there was no agreement regarding the Platt amendment, the majority declaring "unfortunately the amendment gives the United States unlimited right to interfere in interior troubles," and for that reason Cuba should adopt every possible friendly means to avoid the United States taking charge of the campaign. Secretary Sanguily in an official statement says: "I consider the present situation which we Cubans find ourselves in to be really critical, but the Government, confiding in the resolution and patriotism of the country, is disposed to adopt extraordinary measures. The Government does not doubt that the country will do its part to help the administration in its elevated plans, so that no one can fail to know and appreciate the sacrifices which it is making to avoid foreign intervention in this interior conflict. This conflict should be settled as quickly as posible, and by Cuba itself, demonstrating in this way its decided unity of action and its capacity for the independent life of a republic."

The Havana situation is growing more serious, owing to the high tension between the races caused by constantly arriving stories telling of outrages upon white women. Comparatively few white men are unarmed, while arms are also found on all arrested negroes.

Hatred between the races, heretofore unknown, is now becoming at white heat. It is recognized that no more is needed than the killing of one white within Havana or perhaps one black to precipitate a race struggle with terrible consequences within the city.

The unverified report of the killing of a Spanish storekeeper a few miles from Havana has caused the city's streets to-night to be filled with excited persons.

Oriente Campaign Fails.

HAVANA, June 6.—Military operations in the province of Oriente have been brought to a complete halt, due to the apparent failure of Gen. Monteagudo's original plan of campaign, which comprehended a simultaneous advance into the territory occupied by the insurgents of heavy columns of infantry, accompanied by artillery and rural cavalry. The character of the region, which is mountainous, covered with heavy forests and destitute of practicable roads, appears to make such tactics impossible.

Gen. Monteagudo now depends upon reinforcing his regular organizations with plantation guards who have been released from duty by the arrival of American marines, especially in the vicinity of Guantanamo City, dividing his forces into smaller units and increasing them by bodies of regular troops, mostly mounted, who have been recruited in the province and are familiar with the scene of the operations. This will involve considerable delay before the troops can be so disposed as to compel the insurgents to accept combat.

The military situation closely resembles that in 1897-98, when small bodies of Cuban patriots, operating in the vicinity, successfully evaded pursuit by much larger bodies of Spanish regulars. The difficulty of the military operations is greatly increased because of the torrential rains now reported prevalent in a large part of the island.

Throughout all parts of the island loyal citizens are arming and organizing volunteer corps. Additional soldiers have been ordered from Camp Columbia to reinforce the guard of the palace, where sentinels, fully armed, are now stationed in all the corridors and entrances, in addition to the customary police guards.

Great alarm continues at Santiago,

LITTLE GIRL DEAD IN CELLAR.

Marks on Segred Eckstrom's Throat Resemble a Man's Fingerprints.

Segred Eckstrom did not come in for supper last night, and the parents of the six-year-old girl, who had let her play in front of their home at 1,075 Ogden Avenue, the Bronx, in the afternoon, were worried almost frantic over her absence. They searched the streets without avail, but at 10 o'clock last night Alfred Rocks, janitor of the apartment house in which the Eckstroms live as well as the one next door at 1,047 Ogden Avenue, discovered the body of the child in the cellar of the latter house. The little girl's legs protruded from beneath a shed which had been built in the cellar as a storeroom.

Rocks struck a light and found that the child's body lay half in this store room, the head beneath a stove that was stored there. A piece of carpet, evidently taken from the goods stored in the room, lay over the body covering it partly.

It was several hours later before Coroner Shongut and physicians had examined the child, they agreed then that the little one had died in a struggle. There were marks on the little girl's throat, which looked as though they might have been made by a man's finger's. In one place the skin was broken. The flesh was torn on the little finger of her right hand.

"The little girl evidently died while fighting with all her strength," said Coroner Shongut after his examination.

"He then ordered that the child's body be taken into her home, but insisted that it be no touched until Coroner's Physician Ringleman had performed an autopsy. This will be done this morning. Six detectives from the Highbridge station commenced a search of the neighbtorhood as soon as the discovery of her body had been communicated to the station house. No one, apparently, had seen the child's assailant, however.

The youngster was last seen playing on the street with little Catherine Grady, a child of her own age, who lives in the same house. Little Catherine was called to dinner by her parents, and left Segred in the street. When Segred failed to come in for supper as she was in the habit of doing without being called whenever she was allowed to play in the street her parents became alarmed and began a search for her. They also notified the police of the Highbridge Station, and asked that an alarm be sent out for her.

Rocks, who found the child's body, had to go to the cellar to fix the fire beneath the boiler of the hot-water supply for the house before he went to bed. As soon as he discovered the body he notified the parents of the child, for he knew of the search that had been made for the little girl, and then he ran to the home of Dr. Joseph D. Slack of 1,046 Ogden Avenue.

The physician hurried to the cellar and looked at the body. He said the little girl was dead and evidently had been strangled. When the police learned of the affair they called Dr. Shafer from Fordham Hospital. He also said the little one had been strangled.

The little girl's father is John Eckstrom, a civil engineer and a graduate of the University of Bonn.

A TAFT WHO MADE HIS MARK.

President Tells of Ancestor Who Signed with a Cross.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—That the first of the Tafts to come to America was a blacksmith who in the latter years of his life had to make "his mark" when signing a paper, was developed to-day during a visit of the four Republican Congressmen from the Cumberland Mountain region of Kentucky, Tennessee, and Virginia to the White House with an appeal for a pardon for a Pike County Kentuckian recently sentenced to serve five years in the penitentiary for alleged obstruction of process in Federal courts.

The story was told by the President himself, who was in rare good humor when Representatives John W. Langley and Caleb Powers of the mountain region of Kentucky. C. Bascum Slemp of Big Stone Gap, Va., and Richard Waustin of Kentucky called with their appeal for executive clemency for L. H. Sallyer of Hellier, Pike County. Sallyer is one of the prominent citizens of the Cumberland Mountain country and a man of means.

Recently one Compton and his wife were summoned to appear before Judge McDowell at Big Stone Gap as witnesses in a moonshining case. The Comptons had a dying child, which they did not want to leave. When they received the summons they consulted Sallyer. He thought of the dying child, advised them to stick by it, and they did, whereupon the Grand Jury at Big Stone Gap indicted Sallyer, who lived in Kentucky, for obstructing the process of the court. As soon as Sallyer heard of the indictment he bridled his mare and rode through the mountains to Virginia. To the court he strode and demanded an immediate trial. He got it and was sentenced to five years. Now he is out on bail awaiting the result of the appeal to the President.

Sallyer's petition for clemency was signed with his mark. When President Taft saw this to-day he told the Cumberland Mountain Congressmen—the only Republicans from these three States—about his own ancestor, Henry Taft, about seven generations back, the first of the family to come to America.

The President said this ancestor knew how to read and write, but had been a blacksmith all his life, and when up in the eighties the tendons of his wrists were so stiff that he always made his mark in signing papers, one of which is now a valued heirloom of the Taft family.

SAYS SHOT PIERCED 'PLANE.

Dr. Christmas Tells of Attack on Flying Mail Carrier.

Special to The New York Times.

MINEOLA, L. I., June 6.—Dr. Christmas of the Christmas Aeroplane Company, was asked to-night to make a statement in regard to a report that his machine, which he says has been selected by the Government to make the mail experiment from Washington to New York, was pierced by a bullet while 700 feet in the air at the field here to-day.

"The fact of the matter was that Clinton O. Hadley, the aviator who runs the machine, went out ostensibly for a world's endurance record, taking up fifty gallons of gasoline," he said. "The machine has already made a mile in sixty-two second. Hadley had gone about 185 miles, the longest cross-country record this side of the water, when his engine stopped.

"The machine has a high gliding factor, is automatically balanced, and, therefore, volplaned to the ground without a hitch. When we examined the machine we found a piece of her propelled blade was chipped off and she had a hole through her cylinder. We have offered $1,000 reward for the offender. That means tampering with the United States Government, for the machine is now under the direct jurisdiction of the United States. Hadley was sworn in as a mail carrier a few day ago in New York."

AUTO TRUCK DASHES INTO CROWD; ONE DIES

Woman Is Mortally Hurt—Driver Is Threatened by Men Who Saw Accident.

ARREST R. M. GUGGENHEIM

Accused of Interfering with Policemen Who Were Caring for the Injured and Is Fined.

Plowing through a crowd of persons who were boarding a south-bound Eighth Avenue car on the southwest corner of Eighth Avenue and Fifty-fourth Street, shortly before 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a heavy auto truck ran down two men and a woman, causing the death of one of the men and mortally injured the woman.

The truck, owned by the Reisenweber Hotel, was going south on Eighth Avenue in the same direction as the car. Mrs. Fannie Light, 54 years old, of 314 West Forty-ninth Street, was standing on the corner with Nelson Denne, 70 years old, who had rooms at her boarding house, waiting for the car. There were several others standing on the corner. As the car approached, Mrs. Light led Denne, who is feeble, from the curb, and following close behind them was David Sheehan, 55 years old, of 300 West Fifty-fifth Street, who was assisting both across the street.

Other persons who were crossing the street to meet the car caught sight of the auto truck approaching at a rapid rate. They afterward told the police that it seemed to be out of the control of the driver, as it zigzagged across the street. Those of the party who saw the truck in time to step out of the way shouted a warning to the two men and the woman, but the heavy vehicle swerved in toward the little group and bore them down just as they became aware of their danger. The wheels passed over Mrs. Light and Denne, while Sheehan was thrown to one side.

The cries of those who saw the accident brought Patrolmen Hembt and Mullen to the scene. After dragging the injured persons from beneath the truck, they sent a hurry call to the Flower Hospital. Mrs. Light, Denne, and Sheehan were taken into the drug store of F. B. Brocker, 905 Eighth Avenue.

Denne died shortly after reaching the hospital. Mrs. Light sustained a fracture of the left arm and internal injuries, which, it is thought, will prove fatal. Sheehan had his right wrist sprained.

The crowd that had gathered about the drug store before the arrival of the ambulance had begun to make threats against the driver, Michael Nayger of 428 East Sixty-seventh Street, who remained seated on the truck. The police forced their way to him through the throng and pulled him from his seat, carrying him into the drug store. Later he was taken to the West Forty-seventh Street Station, where he was locked up on a charge of felonious assault. Upon the death of Denne the charge was changed to manslaughter.

Police Arrest Intruder.

While the doctors were attending to the dying man and the other injured persons a man edged his way into the drug store, through the large crowd that had gathered, close to the doctors. The smoke from his cigar interfered with the work of the surgeons, and they asked him to withdraw. According to Patrolman Hembt, when the request was repeated, the man became abusive, and declared that he would not withdraw, at the same time exhibiting the shield of a Sheriff's deputy. Thereupon he was arrested.

At the station house he gave his name as John Doe, Special Deputy Sheriff, 71 Broadway, but shortly afterward called the doorman to his cell and asked him to telephone Martin Vogel, a lawyer of 56 East Eightieth Street, and tell him that Mr. Guggenheim, who had been arrested and locked in a cell at the West Forty-seventh Street Station, requested that he come and give bail.

Mr. Vogel, who returned to his home late last night from Philadelphia, said that he had been informed of the telephone message from Mr. Guggenheim. He stated that he supposed the matter had been attended to by his office in his absence, and when asked for the identity of Mr. Guggenheim, replied: "I suppose it must be Robert M. Guggenheim, the son of Daniel Guggenheim."

Mr. Guggenheim Arraigned.

When the prisoner wa sarraigned later in the Men's Night Court before Magistrate House, the Magistrate, after reading the complaint, asked him if John Doe was his real name. He said it was not, and Magistrate House asked him then if he had any objection to telling the court what his name was. He replied that it was Robert Guggenheim.

After hearing the testimony of Patrolman Hembdt and Mr. Guggenheim's denial, Magistrate House found him guilty of interfering with an officer, and imposed a fine of $5, which was paid without any comment by Mr. Guggenheim.

When Patrolman Hembdt took the stand he told what had occurred in the drug store, that the prisoner refused to stop smoking and had blown a cloud of smoke in the policeman's direction. He said he had become abusive, and it was then that the arrest was made.

In his own behalf Mr. Guggenheim said that he was coming out of the Automobile Club in his automobile and had seen the accident. He said that as he stepped out of the machine he was smoking a cigarette, but had thrown it away before entering the drug store. His reason for going into the store, he said, was for the purpose of being of some assistance and not to be in the way.

He said that when he entered the store the injured people were lying in the rear and that he was not smoking. The patrolman, he said, became abusive and swore at him.

He was then asked by the Magistrate if he heard any request made by the doctor regarding any one smoking, and Mr. Guggenheim said he had not. He repeated that he thought, having witnessed the accident, he might be of some service.

Magistrate House said he was very sorry such a thing had occurred, but was sure that the patrolman had acted according to his duty. He then imposed the fine. Neither at the station nor at the hearing was Mr. Guggenheim's home address given.

He was asked if he was connected with the Guggenheim family. He laughed and said he was. He was then asked what his business was and replied that he had no business at present but that his office was at 165 Broadway.

After he had left the court, when asked to make a statement, he replied that he had said all he cared to in court. But he said that the patrolman was mistaken in his statements.

FLOOR FOR WOMEN IN HOTEL M'ALPIN

PLAN SEPARATE ENTRANCE

All the Employes in Women's Section Will Be Women, Even in Their Restaurant.

When the new Hotel McAlpin, at Broadway and Thirty-fourth Street, is opened it will contain, in accordance with a plan conceived by Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of J. P. Morgan, what actually will be a separate hotel within itself. This other and smaller organization will be conducted exclusively for women, and will be managed and operated solely by women in all those departments where the guests must come into contact with the hotel operation.

This new departure in hotels was decided on yesterday at a meeting of the Directors of the Greeley Square Hotel pany, which owns and is erecting the McAlpin. The meeting, which was attended by Frank M. Andrews, President of the company; Col. B. B. McAlpin, Treasurer, and W. D. Marlowe, the Secretary, as well as Charles P. Taft, brother of the President, and T. Coleman Du Pont, the powder manufacturer, was held in President Andrews's office in the Metropolitan Tower.

Mr. Andrews laid the proposed plan before the board, together with the correspondence with Miss Morgan and the indorsements of her scheme which had been received from several members of the Colony Club. It was adopted unanimously, and the fourth floor of the new hotel was selected as the part which should be set aside exclusively for women.

Miss Morgan, in suggesting the innovation and in bringing to bear arguments in its favor, called attention to the fact that outside of the Hotel Martha Washington, maintained exclusively for women, there was no first-class hotel in the city where a woman, unescorted, might register and have assigned to her a room, without being compelled to apply at the main desk, there to undergo a scrutiny which to most women is an offensive ordeal.

To obviate these unpleasant features of the usual hotel, the Hotel McAlpin will be equipped with a separate entrance exclusively for women. This will lead to a special desk and booking office in charge of women clerks. The attendants will be women and girls, and it will be possible for a woman to enter the hotel, register, and then ride in an elevator especially reserved for women direct to the fourth floor without contact with other than women guests and employes.

There will be a special restaurant in charge of women and a lounge room on this floor also. There will be about forty rooms in this special woman's section.

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, President of the Colony Club, told a TIMES reporter last night that she had not given the matter any serious consideration, but believed that the plan was an excellent one.

"Women who travel alone, you know," said Mrs. Harriman, "are quite often women of moderate means who prefer to go to a cheaper place than a first-class hotel. They prefer the Young Women's Christian Association and similar places. The segregation of women in any big hotel on a plan similar to this is an excellent idea, and will work out, I am sure. It always remains to be seen how such things will work. You may remember that when there was a question of separate cars for women in the Subway the idea was quickly abandoned. I am not sure but what the women will prefer to be where the men are, after all. They will at least feel at home and safe with men about."

REFUSE TRAINMEN'S REQUEST

Pennsylvania Officials Won't Let Them Run Newark-New York Trains.

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—The request of the trainmen, firemen and conductors on the Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburg and Erie that a certain percentage of the electric trains of the company between New York and Newark be manned by them is again refused by General Manager Long in a reply sent by him to-day to the committee representing the employes.

Other questions concerning local working conditions which were discussed at a recent meeting were also ruled upon, the contentions of the employes being upheld in several instances.

His reply will be submitted to the general committee, representing the trainmen, firemen and conductors, at a meeting called for to-morrow in this city. The committee will decide whether a referendum strike will be taken.

100,000 SHOP MEN MAY QUIT.

Railroad Employes Vote to Strike to Aid Harriman Cause.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Referendum votes by unions of nine crafts of shopmen employed on railroads running west of Chicago show a majority for a sympathetic strike to aid the cause of the strikers on the Harriman lines. Next week a conference of international officers will decide on a course of action.

Only one union is said to have favored remaining at work, but a majority will make that vote inoperative, it is said. July 1 is the date on which action is expected to be taken. About 100,000 shop employes are involved.

POLITICAL BETTING VARIED.

$5,000 at 3 to 1 Offered on Roosevelt's Election—$800 to $500 Against Taft.

A variety of betting offers on the political situation were going the rounds yesterday among sporting brokers, but as far as could be learned late yesterday afternoon hardly any had been closed.

One small bet, $450 against $500, it was said, had been made in the morning that Roosevelt would get the nomination. The largest amount offered is $5,000, at odds of 3 to 1, that Roosevelt will be elected, (presumably contingent on his nomination,) with the Roosevelt end covered. There is an offer of $1,200 to $1,000 that Taft will be defeated, if nominated, and $800 to $500 that Taft will not be the next President.

ANGRY HOUSEWIVES INVADE MEAT SHOPS

Cut Down Prices or Close Your Markets, They Tell Butchers.

DEALER'S WINDOW SMASHED

Business Suspended for a Time as Party of Women Makes the Rounds in Brooklyn.

A crowd of angry housewives visited some of the butcher stores in the neighborhood of De Kalb and Sumner Avenues, Brooklyn, yesterday, and demanded that the meat prices come down or the meat on the counters be thrown away and the stores be closed. The women were determined and were driven to desperation by the exorbitant prices they have been compelled to pay for meat. Some butchers closed their shops.

The first sign of trouble came when several women visited the butcher store of J. Diamond, at 924 De Kalb Avenue. Benjamin Diamond, son of the proprietor was in the store when the women entered the place. He did not suspect anything was amiss until one of the women, acting as spokesman, told him the prices of meat must come down.

"We can't pay 18 cents for meat now when we paid 14 cents a year ago. These prices will have to stop now. There are twenty-five families in my house and not one of them will touch meat at the present prices."

Diamond tried to argue with the women. He told them he would have to sell the meat he had on hand. They told him they meant business and left it to him to decide whether or not he would follow their warning. They walked out of the store. A few minutes later, while Diamond was standing in the rear of his store thinking it over, a heavy steel bucket came crashing through the store window. Without waiting for further developments Diamond took his meat off the counter and stored it safely in the icebox.

Other butcher stores in the neighborhood got an inkling of what happened and business was temporarily suspended. A number of women, supposed to be the same as the ones who visited Diamond's store, went later to the butcher shops of W. Klein, at 585 Gates Avenue, and J. Hoffman, at 591 Gates Avenue. No damage was done there, but the butchers listened to an argument against the high meat prices and were warned to heed the advice of the visitors to close up shop or reduce the cost of meat. No damage was done in these stores.

PLOTTED KING VICTOR'S LIFE.

Police Believe Anarchists from Paterson Instigated Dalba.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, June 6.—The police are convinced that the attempt made in March on the life of the King was the result of an Anarchist plot. Every effort is being made to discover the accomplices of Dalba, who fired the shots.

Last August the American police warned the Italian Government that three notorious Italian Anarchists had secretly left Paterson, N. J., bound for Turin, with the object of killing the King, while he was visiting the exhibition there. The police failed to arrest the Anarchists when they landed at Genoa, but their hiding place in Turin was discovered, and they were arrested there. They were found to be in possession of revolvers and sticks of dynamite.

The Anarchists were tried on a charge of attempted regicide, but were acqquitted owing to lack of evidence. Now the police suspect that when the Paterson pipot was frustrated the Anarchists instigated Dalba to attempt th eKing's life here.

The police are reinvestigating the case, and are likely to reopen the trial.

TOO BUSY TO TAKE HIS $616.

Hammerstein Tries Hard to Restore It, but Loser Won't Be Bothered.

William Hammerstein is advertising this morning asking H. M. Joralmon of the Hotel Manhattan to please call at the box office of the Victoria Theatre and get his purse and the $616 it contains. It is quite an ordinary purse, and the money is in nice $100 and $50 bills, with enough of smaller denominations to make out the odd $16. Mr. Joralmon lost it Tuesday night and an usher found it and offered to return it. But the owner was in a hurry and did not care to be bothered, he said.

Mr. Hammerstein sent a messenger yesterday to the Hotel Manhattan with the property and word was sent to Mr. Joralmon's room. Word came back from the same room that the gentleman did not wish to be disturbed and that the money would keep perfectly well in the Hammerstein safe. The treasurer at Hammerstein's, however, would much rather be relieved of the duty of taking care of non-interest bearing securities, and hence the advertisement this morning. What will be done with the money in case Mr. Joralmon neglects it entirely has not yet been decided.

THIRTY LAWYERS CONVERTED

Yield to "Billy" Sunday's Entreaties to be Saved at Weaver Falls.

Special to The New York Times.

BEAVER FALLS, Penn., June 6.—Thirty lawyers were converted at evangelist "Billy" Sunday's tabernacle to-night after he had preached on "What must I do to be saved?" They were members of the Beaver County Bar Association, which attended in a body. When Sunday called for converts, the thirty lawyers, including men who have moved crowded courtrooms to tears, marched to the front with seventy other persons.

A chorus of "hallelujahs" went up from the throng. Sunday grasped the hand of each lawyer, with a fervent "God bless you, brother," and with a beckoning hand invited the other members of the Bar Association to join their colleagues.

It was predicted that in a few more days "an unconverted lawyer in Beaver Falls will feel lonesome."

MURILLO IN WALDORF SAFE.

Its Owner Declares It a Genuine Duplication of "Immaculate Conception."

A genuine Murillo, painted upon handbeaten copper in the year 1647, and valued at $200,000, has been locked in the Waldorf-Astoria safe for three days, according to a statement made last night to a TIMES reporter. The present owner is C. F. Mendez, a dealer in rare art objects in Mexico City, who has brought the painting here to sell it.

Señor Mendez declares that the painting is one of the twenty genuine duplications made by Murillo of the original "Immaculate Conception" which is in the Paris Louvre. Several of these copies found their way to Mexico, and countless spurious ones are to be found in Mexican churches. The picture will be shown to critics privately to-day.

No definite statement as to the history of the picture could be obtained last night from Señor Mendez, who refused to make a general statement about his picture until to-day. There are thirty figures in it and it is about 5 feet by 3 feet. There is a Murillo in the Metropolitan.

AT 92 HE TAKES A BRIDE.

Edward Bowerman Marries Miss Geer, Who Is 55 Years Old.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, June 6.—Miss Elizabeth Geer, 55 years old, of Watervliet, and Edward Bowerman, 92 years old, of Port Schuyler, were married to-day at the home of the bride at 952 Broadway.

The marriage is the result of a romance, which began when Mr. Bowerman, who is wealthy, came to Miss Geer's home to board about ten years ago. Miss Geer is the daughter of the late Erastus Geer, the Geer family being one of the oldest in Watervliet. The ceremony, performed by the Rev. Henry F. Hamlin of the North Reformed Church, was witnessed by a few relatives and friends.

72 THE BRIDE OF 75.

Cummins H. Folkner Marries Mrs. Sarah E. Smith in Belvidere, N. J.

Special to The New York Times.

BELVIDERE, N. J., June 6.—Cummins H. Folkner and Mrs. Sarah E. Smith, who were married here last night, are, respectively, 75 and 72 years old. They were quietly united at the bride's home in Walter Street by the Rev. William J. Hampton, pastor of the Methodist Church. A few friends of the couple witnessed the ceremony. The venture was the third for the bride.

The best man was Selden S. Allen, and Mrs. Allen was matron of honor. Helen Allen, their daughter, was flower girl. The bridegroom is a retired business man of Belvidere.

THIS TROUT FED ON JEWELS.

Diamonds and a Platinum Chain Found Inside It at the Waldorf.

Manager Stewart of the Waldorf-Astoria is authority for the latest fish story. A trout, he averred last night, was cut open yesterday by the chef, which had a platinum chain three inches long and three ⅛ carat diamonds in its stomach. Mr. Stewart had the diamonds and the chain to prove his story.

The fish, which was captured in Ulster County, was taken alive from a tank in the south grill of the Waldorf. It is believed that some woman leaning over the tank to look in lost the chain, which the voracious trout swallowed.

WILLS ESTATE TO BELLBOYS.

Aunt of "Lucky" Baldwin Remembers Three Hotel Servants.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, June 6.—When the will of Hannah Dwight Greene was offered for probate here to-day it was found that she had given all her estate, save some personal effects and jewelry, which were bequeathed to relatives, to three bellboys—Edwin J. Greenewood of Littleton, N. H.; George Hadenburg of Providence, and Frank Donegan of Boston.

Mrs. Greene was an aunt of "Lucky" Baldwin, the mining speculator, and inherited some of his wealth. She was also an aunt of Samuel Bowles, owner of The Springfield Republican.

The bellboys benefited were in hotels where Mrs. Greene usually stopped, and they are to divide between them the proceeds of twelve shares of New York & New Haven stock, ten shares of United States Steel preferred, and a promissory note for $3,481.

ATE IN BED; IS DIVORCED.

Late Breakfasts Form Wife's Complaint and Court Indorses It.

Special to The New York Times.

PASADENA, Cal., June 6.—Mrs. Francina Henderson, daughter of Charles G. Emory, formerly owner of the Frontenac Hotel in the Thousand Islands, has just been divorced from Charles Mortimer Henderson of 815 South Orange Grove Avenue. Mrs. Henderson receives the custody of their two children, Mortimer, 6 years old, and Francina, 5 years old. She asked for no alimony.

The Hendersons were married eight years ago in Orange County. According to the wife's testimony, Mr. Henderson insisted on having his breakfast served in bed, and became involved in debt.

"He always got his breakfast in bed, and then lay around the house the rest of the day," she testified. "I wanted him to go to work, but he would not."

HIS LOOKS WIN A FORTUNE.

Laborer Is Left $200,000 by Widow Whose Dead Son He Resembled.

Special to The New York Times.

WESTFIELD, N. J., June 6.—Louis Lebout, a farmhand employed by Abraham Bird of Bird's Corner, will not be married on Sunday, as he had planned. He started yesterday for Longby, Minn., and his fiancée, Miss Julia Marston, is contentedly waiting, for he is going to collect a legacy of $200,000, and even a bride might be willing to delay to gather in such a sum as that.

The money was left to the young man, who has been working for $20 a month, by Mrs. Josephine Watts, the widow of a lumberman. Mrs. Watts spent the Summer seven years ago on a farm where Lebout was employed, and was attracted to him immediately by his resemblance to her dead son. She remembered him on his birthday and each Christmas with a twenty-five-dollar check, and a day or so ago the New York representative of a St. Paul lawyer hunted Lebout up to tell him that his benefactress had left him her fortune.

EXPECT COLONEL TO BOLT EARLY

May Not Wait for Temporary Organization of the Coliseum Convention.

ADVISERS IN SECRET SESSION

Gloomy Gathering of Roosevelt Chieftains Following a Day Full of Victory for Taft Managers.

FLINN TO ACT FOR COLONEL

He Starts for Chicago to Lead Fight for Roosevelt on Floor of Convention.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt may bolt the action of the National Republican Convention even before temporary organization of the body is perfected. This fact, indicated in the news dispatches from Chicago last night, was among the political developments yesterday.

The Roosevelt campaign managers held a secret meeting in Chicago late last night, following a day of skirmishes before the National Republican Committee, which in every instance resulted in a decided victory for the Administration forces. Altogether, it was a Taft day in Chicago.

A significant feature of the proceedings was the failure of Mr. Howell of Nebraska, a Roosevelt supporter, to press his claim to a seat upon the Republican National Committee.

The National Committee decided that the hearings on contests which will begin to-day shall be open to representatives of the press.

Col. Roosevelt sent William Flinn, the Pittsburgh political boss, to Chicago in a hurry yesterday after a conference with his close counselors at Sagamore Hill. It was no secret that Mr. Flinn was to lead the fight of the Roosevelt forces on the floor of the convention, just as William Barnes, Jr., of New York is to lead the fight for Taft.

Col. Roosevelt also admitted that he might go to Chicago next week.

It has been agreed by the Taft campaign managers that the President's name shall go before the convention second, or not until Col. Roosevelt has been nominated.

Minnesota Democrats instructed for Woodrow Wilson at the Baltimore Convention. West Virginia Democrats expressed a preference for Clark.

ROOSEVELT MEN GLOOMY.

Conference of Leaders Thought to Indicate a Bolt.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, June 6.—The talk of a Roosevelt bolt was strongly revived to-night after an important conference had been held by Senator Dixon and some of the other Roosevelt leaders. The conference was held in the rooms of Senator Dixon and a brave attempt was made to keep its motive secret.

It is learned on good authority that it was a gloomy gathering of Roosevelt chiefs, and that the general opinion of its leaders assembled was that the bottom had dropped out of the Colonel's boom. It was more than intimated after the conference that the Colonel may lead a bolt from the convention before even a temporary organization is perfected.

It was learned to-night that the Southern representation question which has been discussed by the party leaders was disposed of by unanimous vote of the National Committee recommending to the convention that the present plan of delegate representation be allowed to stand.

The Republican National Committee held a preliminary meeting this afternoon and laid plans for the work which it expects to do in the next ten days. First of all, a resolution was adopted to exclude from the contest hearings, which will begin to-morrow morning, all the newspaper men with the exception of those representing the press associations and one favored newspaper which recently has made it a practice never to print Col. Roosevelt's name in its columns. This done, the National Committee adopted practically without change all the rules which governed the operations of the Roosevelt steam roller in 1908.

It was only through the meeting this afternoon that the surprising strength of President Taft on the National Committee was disclosed. On the vote where the roll was called—the vote on the resolution to curtail the opportunities of the press—forty members lined up on the Taft side against an unlucky thirteen on the Roosevelt side.

Patrick L. Flannigan, who represents Nevada on the National Committee, was absent and was not represented by proxy. At future meetings he will be represented by ex-Congressman Lucius N. Littauer of New York, who is a staunch friend of Col. Roosevelt. Thus if the vote at to-day's meeting may be accepted as an indication of the Roosevelt strength on the tribunal which will adjudicate contests, all the Colonel will be able to muster under the most favorable circumstances when vital questions are up for consideration is fourteen votes.

These committeemen voted with the Colonel to-day: California, George A. Knight, (proxy;) Delaware, T. Coleman Dupont; Idaho, William E. Borah; Kentucky, A. R. Burnam; Louisiana, Pearl Wight; Minnesota, Frank B. Kellogg; New York, William L. Ward; South Carolina, John G. Capers; South Dakota, Thomas Thorson; Texas, Cecil A. Lyon; Wisconsin, C. E. Loose; Wisconsin, Alfred T. Rogers; District of Columbia, Sidney Bieber, (proxy.)

This is five less votes than the Taft managers have conceded to the Colonel. At the Roosevelt headquarters it was said to-night, however, that some friends of Col. Roosevelt on the committee voted to keep the newspapermen out because they believed such a course would tend to expedite proceedings in connection with the contests.

It was only yesterday, however, that Senator Joseph M. Dixon, Col. Roosevelt's campaign manager, told the newspaper correspondents that all the influence the Roosevelt people could wield at the meeting to-day would be arrayed behind a resolution providing for wide-open hearing on contests.

Just a Big Taft Day.

It was another Taft day, decidedly so. The Roosevelt managers though kept on claiming everything in sight. National Committeeman William L. Ward of New York declared that nothing was more certain than the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt on the first ballot. Lucius M. Littauer, who is a member of Mr. Ward's New York entourage, said he felt positive that if every contest before the National Committee was settled adversely to the Colonel, he would win anyhow.

They laughed at all these rosy predictions in the Taft camp.

"They are whistling to keep their courage up," was the manner in which one Taft boomer put it.

"They're trying to create an atmosphere," said another.

"President Taft is certain to control the Republican National Committee by a majority of at least 55 votes," said Representative William B. McKinley, director of the Taft Bureau.

There appears to be ample foundation for the assertion that is made in the Taft camp. Since such masters of political strategy as Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania, W. Murray Crane of Massachusetts, and half a dozen other political experts of their caliber have reached this city and taken hold of the situation the Taft managers have shown by more than one adroit move that the political lieutenants of Col. Roosevelt are no match for them.

To-day it was declared positively that the Roosevelt managers had been checkmated in their move to bring about a stampede of colored delegates from the South. The incursion of Ormsby McHarg, the Colonel's chief delegate purveyor, into Dixieland, it was said, had been undertaken to no earthly purpose.

Several weeks ago Secretary Hayward of the National Committee announced that he was at work on a plan to reduce the Southern representation on the Republican National Convention. Up to the present time, despite many efforts to bring about a change, Louisiana, a State where there are scarcely enough representations to make up the three sets of delegates expected in Chicago within a few days, has fared as well in the way of representation in the convention as have the Northern and Western States, where the Republican Party has considerable strength.

With the Congressional districts as a basis, Louisiana, where the Republican Party cannot muster up a sufficient number of votes to get a place on the official ballot, is entitled to fourteen district delegates and four delegates-at-large, where such States as North and South Dakota, where the Republican Party is dominant and rolls up a considerable vote, must be content with ten delegates in all.

To remedy what some Northern representatives have pronounced a glaring injustice, the Hayward plan contemplated fixing the Southern representation on the basis of votes cast in the last preceding Presidential year. This proposition has been played over for all it is worth in the Southern States recently visited by Mr. McHarg until the Republican workers reconsidered the trend of events.

It was not until within the last forty-eight hours, or since two district delegates from Alabama broke away from the Taft fold and threw in their lot with the Roosevelt forces, that word came bringing to the Southern delegates hope that evil days might be averted.

Newell Sanders of Chattanooga, head of the delegation from Tennessee, who has the proxy of "Sam" Perkins, the Representative of Washington on the National Committee, to-day summoned a number of Southern National Committeemen to meet him in conference. Among those who responded were the committeemen from Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia. After the conference word was sent to the Taft headquarters that these committeemen had pledged themselvs to hold for President Taft all the delegates from their States. As a result the threatened Southern stampede, according to a positive statement made to-night by an attache of the Taft headquarters, will be limited to the two delegates from Alabama, who already have deserted, two from Georgia, two from South Carolina, and two from Tennessee.

Will Let Dixie Alone.

No one here intimates a deal or a bargain, but in some quarters it is considered more than a coincidence that the National Committee at its meeting this afternoon passed, without a dissenting vote, a resolution urging on the Republican National Convention the wisdom of letting well enough alone in Dixieland. The move is regarded as part and parcel of the anti-Roosevelt movement.

With the arrival here to-day of Charles D. Hilles, Secretary to President Taft, it is learned that the selection of Senator Elihu Root for Permanent as well as Temporary Chairman of the convention was part of the fixed Taft programme in case the President's friends should control the convention. This is looked upon here as a wise political move for more than one reason.

It was not definitely decided until after Col. Lafayette B. Gleason, Secretary of the Republican State Committee in New York, had arrived here and place on the desk of Director McKinley of the Taft Bureau definite pledges from a large majority of delegates, some of them very friendly to Col. Roosevelt, that they would vote to make Senator Root Temporary Chairman as against any other Republican who could be proposed. It was poined out to-night that no delegate who has pledged and signed himself up for Senator Root for Temporary Chairman could afford to stultify himself by deserting the Senator when he is proposed for the same position under the permanent organization.

With the Root poll brought here by Col. Gleason it became apparent to the Taft managers also that his selection for the Temporary Chairmanship, which was first proposed by William Barnes, Jr., was good generalship in another respect, too. It has broken the Roosevelt lines in such States as New York, where only one of the seven Roosevelt delegates will vote against seating Senator Root; in Oregon, in Massachusetts, in Maryland, and in Illinois.

To confound Col. Roosevelt and his followin further the Taft managers are now considering a scheme to put into operation the plan used in the Republican National Convention of 1880 to frustrate the hopes of Grant, who, like Col. Roosevelt, was a third-term candidate. In that year as now a bolt seemed imminent, which would endanger or render impossible Republican success.

The plan which may be put into operation again this year was developed by Roscoe Conkling, leader of the Grant forces, who placed before the convention before nominations were reached a resolution pledging every delegate to abide by the convention's decree, no matter who was the nominee.

The resolution proposed follows the text of the Conkling resolution. It is now in the hands of Mr. McKinley. It has received the approval of such prominent Taft leaders here are loked to for advice by the Taft director for means of smoking out the Roosevelt followers. The Roosevelt following, it is believed, would be compelled to show by their vote on the resolution, whether they really contemplated a bolt. The resolution is also looked upon as a good thing because it would emphasize on the eve of the nomination the third-term issue which in reality defeated Gen. Grant.

Howell Out of Contest.

The Republican National Committee was in session behind closed doors for two hours while the preliminaries to the contest hearings were determined upon. The meeting was held in the Coliseum Annex. The committee elected President Taft's friend, W. Victor Rosewater of Omaha, Chairman by unanimous vote. R. B. Howell of Omaha, who was elected representative of Nebraska on the National Committee at the direct primaries and who last Sunday announced that he would be on hand to claim his seat at the meeting, to-day, withdrew before it was called to order.

After a set of rules to govern the management of the National Committee, the first written rules the committee has had for its guidance, though it has been in existence for more than fifty years, had been laid aside to be submitted to the convention, the vote was taken on the proposal to admit or exclude newspaper men.

Former Special United States Deputy Attorney General Frank B. Kellogg, who represents Minnesota on the committee, moved that provision be made to admit representatives of all newspapers who are admitted to the Senate press gallery. This was voted down, and the motion was amended to provide for the admission of representatives from "the press associations who have floor privileges in the House of Representatives." This includes also the representatives of one New York morning paper. The amendment was adopted by a vote of 40 to 13, after Senators Penrose and Crane and others had opposed the original motion.

Senator William E. Borah of Idaho next moved that the rules of four years ago be amended so as to provide for a roll call on any question if eight members of the committee should demand it. This was voted down by a viva voce vote. The rules as adopted follow:

> Contests shall be heard in the alphabetical order of the States, the Territories, and other delegate districts following, and the districts in each State in the numerical order.
>
> Each side shall be allowed not to exceed thirty minutes for the presentation of contests over delegates-at-large, and not to exceed fifteen minutes for district contests.
>
> When the grounds of the contest and the evidence relating to the same in one or more districts or the State at large are substantially identical, or when both sides to the contest shall agree, the hearings may be consolidated and the findings in the one case apply to all the cases involved. In case of such consolidation the committee may extend the time for the presentations.
>
> Evidence used in the hearing of one case may be used in the hearing of any other case from the same State.
>
> After the presentation of the case the contestants and their representatives shall retire and the committee shall decide the case before calling the next one, without debate and by a viva voce vote, unless a demand for a roll call is sustained by at least twenty members.
>
> No person claiming to be a delegate or alternate whose credentials were not filed with the committee in accordance with the provisions of the call shall be entitled to have his name placed on the temporary roll, but where the claim is not contested it may be entered on the roll by a majority vote of the committee.
>
> No person other than members of the committee and those holding proxies shall be present during the hearings, except those designated by the Chairman, Secretary, and Sergeant-at-Arms to assist in the discharge of their respective duties, and except also the contestants and their attorneys or representatives.
>
> No resolutions shall be considered during any of the sessions of this committee, and any introduced shall be referred without debate to the Convention Committee on Resolutions.
> In cases where parties to contests have not filed or presented printed statements, briefs or arguments within the described time limit the committee may by a majority vote admit the parties to a hearing notwithstanding.

After the meeting of the National Committee Mr. McKinley made a statement in which he declared that "the first disappointment Mr. Roosevelt will experience before the governing bodies of the Republican Party will be the collapse of his contests."

A Challenge to the Colonel.

Mr. McKinley followed this up by an urgent invitation to the Colonel to come to Chicago and watch the committee at work so as to make sure that he was geting a square deal. He virtually challenges the Colonel to bolt.

"The time has arrived when Mr. Roosevelt and his followers must deliver their ultimatum directly to the Republican Party, which they have ignored in the pre-convention campaign," said Mr. McKinley, "and in the interest of the Republican Party, if they are Republicans, they must prepare to accept the verdict of the party, expressed through its ruling bodies, as final.

"The first disappointment Mr. Roosevelt will experience before the governing bodies of the Republican Party will be the collapse of his contests. The most charitable thing that can be said concerning them, so far as Mr. Roosevelt is concerned, is that he either knows nothing about them personally or has been misinformed from the outset. He has said much about 'fraud' and 'contest' in this campaign, and he has been guilty of much loose language concerning primaries and conventions which have been held.

"Mr. Roosevelt cannot repeat this mistake again without denouncing the Republican Party itself. To the end that this mistake may not be repeated, and in the interest of the Republican Party as a whole, it is to be hoped that Mr. Roosevelt will find it convenient to come to Chicago—not after part of the contests have been heard, not after all the contests have been heard—but at once, in order that he may inform himself at first hand of the actual proceedings before the Republican National Convention in order that no misstatement of facts may be given to the country by him or his managers which will in any way unjustly reflect on the Republican National Committee or upon the party.

"If, on the other hand, Mr. Roosevelt persists in remaining at Oyster Bay and in handling out invective when things do not go to suit him, there is just one logical outcome for him to pursue.

"Let him bolt the Republican National Convention and quit the party to which he says he belongs."

In predicting that President Taft would have fifty-five majority on the first ballat, Mr. McKinley said:

"Of the fifty-three States and Territories and districts represented in the convention this year Taft has the entire delegations, or a majority of the delegations, from twenty States in the North and West, ten from the South, and five from the District of Columbia and Territories, or a total of thirty-five. Mr. Roosevelt has the delegations, or a majority of them from fourteen States in the North and West and two from the South, or a total of sixteen. Senator La Follette has two, Wisconsin and North Dakota.

"Furthermore, President Taft has representation on the delegations from seven of the States which Mr. Roosevelt has carried in this contest, increasing the number of political units represented in his total of delegates to forty-two out of fifty-three in the convention.

"In the face of this analysis, the utter absurdity of the claims of Mr. Roosevelt and his managers that they control the coming convention is apparent. They will have, in fact, all the difficulty possible in managing the so-called Roosevelt 'sore' delegates, who already realize that they are being led into a ditch, if not into an actual bolt, by a lost cause."

Secretary Hilles will remain here as the personal representative of the President until the convention has nominated.

"There is absolutely no question that President Taft will be renominated," he said to-night. "During his term in office he has carried out the pledges in the Republican platform of 1908 to the letter, and has a party record of promises performed unparalleled in the history of the country. The President merits a renomination, and he will receive it. A majority of the delegates to the convention are already instructed or pledged to his renomination."

The National Committee will get together for its hearings on contests at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning. The first contests to be heard will be those from Alabama.

WILL NAME TAFT SECOND.

Managers Consider How the President Shall Be Proposed.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—President Taft's name may not be the first to be presented to the Republican National Convention at Chicago. In fact, Taft leaders in Washington said to-night that the President's name might not be put before the convention until after Col. Roosevelt had been put in nomination.

It became known that when C. D. Hilles, President Taft's secretary, left for Chicago last night he carried a draft of a tentative plan for the presentation of the President's name to the convention. That plan was declared to be subject to alteration by Taft leaders now in Chicago and, of course, by Mr. Taft himself if he finds it unsuitable before the day when the nominations are made.

According to the plan taken away by Mr. Hilles, the name of Senator A. B. Cummins of Iowa, who has ten delegates from his own State pledged to him, may be the first given to the convention.

Alabama stands at the head of the list of States on the convention roll. Counting upon the Alabama delegation as certain for Taft, his political advisers suggested that she should yield, not to Ohio, the President's own State, which would put him in nomination, but to Iowa. It would give Iowa the opportunity to put forward the name of its senior Senator.

Next on the roll of States comes Arizona. The Taft adherents claim Arizona, too, and that State, according to the approved scheme, would yield to New York.

Although the Taft leaders also claim New York by a large majority, it was their idea that some Roosevelt delegate might be permitted to present the name of Col. Roosevelt at this point in the proceedings.

Arkansas, another State claimed by the Taft leaders, under this plan would then yield to Ohio, and the name of the President be put before the convention probably by Warren G. Harding, former Lieutenant Governor of the State and one of its delegates at large.

With Senator Cummins, Roosevelt, and Taft out of the way, Wisconsin will nominate Senator La Follette, and friends of the President say that in putting his name before the convention his sponsor can be relied upon to leave with the convention, just before the vote, a denunciation of Col. Roosevelt.

Although this was said to-night to be the plan most favored at present, others have been considered. One was for the presentation of Mr. Taft's name by Mr. Harding before other candidates. Another was that Mr. Taft might be suggested to the convention by New York. This appealed to some of the President's friends particularly because it is Mr. Roosevelt's home State. One reason advanced against the giving of the honor to Ohio was that the State has more Roosevelt than Taft delegates.

Philippine Islands—Henry B. McCoy, Manila.
Porto Rico—R. H. Todd, San Juan.

The Republican National Committee has been in existence since 1858, but has never had a set of rules to govern its conduct. Now for the first time it is proposed that there shall be a written law to guide the committee instead of the unwritten law wrought by precedent.

A committee headed by Charles F. Brooker of Connecticut has worked out the proposed set of rules which will be submitted to the National Convention for approval before they can become valid. The new rules provide for the termination of a committeeman's service after the National Convention. This has been the practice heretofore, but question about it was raised as the result of the new system of electing National Committeemen at direct primaries in some States.

The new rules also provide for the election of a Vice Chairman, which is an innovation, and for the filling of vacancies on the committee by the Central Committees of the respective States from which the vacancy occurs instead of by the Chairman of the National Committee as has been the practice in the past.

TRELOAR SCORES ROOSEVELT

Ex-Lord Mayor of London Thinks Gov. Wilson a Much Finer Man.

The White Star liner Baltic sailed at noon yesterday for Liverpool with 305 first cabin, 423 second cabin, and 1,000 steerage passengers, which was practically a full ship. Among her passengers was Sir William Treloar, former Lord Mayor of London.

"I had the pleasure of meeting at dinner last night," he said, "one of your possible Democratic candidates, Gov. Wilson. He is a very fine man. I think that he is the kind of man the country would like as President, as he is a scholar and reserved in his manner, rather than a circus acting, flamboyant character like Roosevelt."

The Rev. Dr. J. H. Jowett, the English preacher who was called last year to the pulpit of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, sailed on the Baltic with Mrs. Jowett, and will be abroad until September. He said that he liked his work in New York, and found the poor here better off than in the cities in Great Britain, and the slums not so degrading as in London, Glasgow, or Liverpool.

Two Titanic survivors, the Misses Elizabeth and Clare Allen, daughters of James B. Allen, a former Mayor of St. Louis, sailed on the Baltic to be married in London on July 11. Miss Elizabeth will wed Dr. J. B. Mennell of London and her sister, Clare, Prof. Charles Haskins of Harvard University. They were crossing in the Titanic to complete their trousseaux when the disaster occurred.

Law Degree for Senator O'Gorman.

WASHINGTON, June 6. — Senator O'Gorman of New York received the degree of Bachelor of Laws at the Commencement exercises of Georgetown University here to-night. The Senator made the principal address to the graduating class.

Two Claim South Dakota Nomination.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., June 6.—The United States Senatorship was still in doubt this evening, with both Gamble and Sterling claiming the Republican nomination. The precincts which are still to be heard from are in remote parts of the State, and it may be days before the figures are complete.

ROOSEVELT HURRIES FLINN TO CHICAGO

The Pittsburgh Politician Is to Take Charge of ex-President's Fight on Convention Floor.

THE COLONEL IS GOING, TOO

About Decided to Get on the Ground When National Committee Decides Contests.

Special to The New York Times.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., June 6.—Col. Roosevelt has selected ex-Senator Flinn of Pittsburgh to direct his fight on the floor of the National Convention, and late to-night, at the personal request of the Colonel, Flinn started for Chicago. The decision was reached after a long conference at Sagamore Hill between Col. Roosevelt, Flinn, E. A. Van Valkenburg, proprietor of The Philadelphia North American; Richard Quay, and Alexander H. Moore of The Pittsburgh Leader.

The latest reports from Chicago, which the Colonel is receiving from his managers who are already in the convention city, were discussed. After a careful analysis the Colonel told Flinn to jump immediately in the fight, and see what he could do.

"Senator Flinn starts at once for Chicago at my request," was the way the Colonel put it to the reporters who saw him at Sagamore Hill late to-night.

Then the Colonel was asked about his own plans, and whether he expects to go to Chicago himself.

"I may go at the end of next week, but I don't know," he replied.

This is the first time, however, that Col. Roosevelt has given any intimation as to when he expected to be at Chicago, if he goes at all, and it left little doubt in the minds of his interviewers that he has finally come to a decision. Flynn, it is said, urged him to go, and he is now planning to be on hand just at the moment that the National Committee is ready to give its decisions on contested seats. If these decisions are against him a spectacular warfare from that time until the nomination is made is promised.

When Col. Roosevelt concluded his conference and greeted the reporters he was ready to talk.

"I regret that all the newspapers were not admitted to the hearings of the committee," said he. "I am glad the press associations are to be admitted, but this is not enough.

"In many parts of the country, notably in New York, one of our most serious difficulties has been the constant suppression of the news so that the great masses of the people have been kept in ignorance of what has happened.

"I very earnestly hope that the roll call in the National Committee on every important point will be made public."

He laid particular emphasis on the latter part of this statement. Col. Roosevelt, it is said, is confident that many of the National Committeemen will not dare vote against him if full publicity is to be given to their vote.

The Colonel referred back to the situation in Ohio, where the State Convention gave the six delegates at large to President Taft, despite the fact that Roosevelt won by a big majority in the preference vote. He had been told that there was "talk of a revolt in Colorado on the part of the people who believed that the politicians had thwarted their will."

"Of course there will be a revolt against the methods employed by the Taft managers," he declared vehemently. "The action of the Taft people in accepting the delegates at large in Ohio despite the fact that I won by 30,000 majority when the people expressed their will shows that these politicians have made up their minds to nominate Mr. Taft by any means, if they can, in direct opposition of the people. There is bound to be a revolt in Ohio and Colorado and in other States as well."

When the Colonel was asked if he would comment on reports that he might accept an invitation to attend the proceedings of the National Committee, he looked a bit bewildered.

"I haven't heard of any such thing," he said.

He was told that the invitation was reported to come from the Taft manager, Congressman McKinley.

"Now gentlemen, I want to say right here that I will answer no hypothetical question," he retorted. He said he had heard nothing of the story that Senator Dixon had refused to accept a proxy and sit in the National Committee.

Those at the conference at Sagamore Hill to-night expressed the utmost confidence in the result of the fight in the National Convention.

Flinn, who upset Senator Penrose in Pennsylvania at the primaries, sweeping the State by a big vote for the Colonel, is said to be one of the most able politicians that the Colonel has behind him, and his advent in Chicago, it is openly declared, will be the signal for a livening up in the fight.

Roosevelt expected a slump in the enthusiasm after the last of the primaries were disposed of, and the National Committee, which has been controlled by his bitterest opponents, began its work. But he expects now that reports of quite a different nature than those of the first few days will soon begin to come out of Chicago.

The Colonel was told that another late report was that Senator Du Pont, National Committeeman and delegate at large from Delaware, had gone over to him and had predicted that at least four more of Delaware's delegates would be for him.

"I hadn't heard of that," said the Colonel, showing a lively interest. It is understood, however, that such a move on the part of Du Pont would not come as a great surprise to the Colonel, and that he had received advices before that Du Pont felt kindly toward himh.

All of those at the conference at Sagmore Hill to-day hurried away late to-night. Richard Quay, a delegate from Pennsylvania, who is taking so prominent a part in the Colonel's fight is the son of Matt Quay who ruled Pennsylvania politics for nearly twenty years. It was by the decision of Matt Quay that Roosevelt was named as Vice President at the convention which nominated McKinley.

$200,000 ROOSEVELT FUND.

Expense Accounts Are Filed for the Primary Campaign in Ohio.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, O., June 6.—The Roosevelt forces in Ohio expended a large sum of money in electing delegates to the National Convention. Careful estimates put the amount at $200,000. They had field agents traversing the State for two months, visiting every district.

Expense accounts filed by Roosevelt managers with the Secretary of State to-day show that they received $28,241 from the National Roosevelt Committee in Washington, and had expended it all in electing Roosevelt delegates. The money, according to the account, was "used in organization, salaries, office rent, telegraphing and telephoning, bands, printing, &c."

M. A. Karshner, Roosevelt manager in Franklin county, filed a report showing that it cost $5,198 to elect two Roosevelt delegates from this district. The report also says the National Committee contributed $2,700 of the amount, and the remainder was made up by local men. The county committee employed 500 men as workers about the polls on election day, paying each one $5.

Expense account statements filed with the Secretary of State by candidates show that the Taft State organization made large contributions to their candidates for use in their campaign. Charles S. Dana of Marietta, one of the Taft candidates for delegate in the fifteenth district, expended $1,601, and of this sum $1,100 was received from the Taft State organization. Dana was defeated.

Former Congressman Charles H. Grosvenor of Athens, defeated delegate in the eleventh district, got $1,000 from the Taft State organization for use in his campaign. In addition to this he went down into his own pocket for $65.

E. E. Eulass of Lebanon, a successful Taft candidate in the Sixth district, in his expense account said that Hurlburt Taft of Cincinnati, a nephew of the President, agreed to pay all of his expenses. He spent $109.

The Willys-Libby Taft Club of Toledo expended $13,687 in an unsuccessful attempt to elect Taft delegates in the Ninth district. John N. Willys, an automobile manufacturer, gave $7,000 of this. Other contributors were: R. R. Scott, $1,000; S. O. Richardson, $500; Ninth District Taft Club, $700; H. C. Hassett, $440; Isaac Kinsey, $450; William Hardee, $250, and J. K. Secor, $250.

Gov. Harmon spent a total of $4,946 in winning the preferential primary indorsement. The Governor contributed $3,586 of this and the balance was given by these State officials: State Insurance Commissioner E. H. Moore, $50; Oliver H. Hughes and John Sullivan of the Public Service Commission, each $100; Christ Pabst of the Tax Commission, $100; T. J. Duffy and Wallace Yaple of the State Liabilities Board of Awards, each $50; Attorney General Hogan, $50; R. M. Ditty, State Tax Commission, $50; George S. Long, secretary to the Governor, $50; Senator W. M. Shaffer, $100; A. P. Sandles, Secretary of Board of Agriculture, $100; John W. Devanney, executive clerk to the Governor, $60; S. E. Strode, Dairy and Food Commissioner, $50; Charles Randall, employe of the State Liability Board of Awards, $25; Congressman W. G. Sharp of Elyria, $250.

WILL FIGHT COLONEL.

If Roosevelt Opposes Root Wisconsin Delegates Will Have Candidate.

MADISON, Wis., June 6.—If Col. Roosevelt makes a fight on Senator Root for Temporary Chairman of the Chicago Convention, the La Follette delegates, numbering thirty-six, will put up a candidate in opposition to him. This was the assurance here to-day of State Treasurer Dahl, delegate at large from Wisconsin. Their choice for Chairman has not been decided, but Senator A. J. Gronna of North Dakota may be chosen.

A steering committee of four will be named to direct the La Follette fight on the floor. It will meet either in Madison or Milwaukee soon. The Wisconsin delegation probably will meet in Chicago on Saturday prior to the convention.

TWELVE FOR ROOSEVELT.

Colorado Sends a Delegation to Protest at Chicago.

DENVER, Col., June 6.—Three hundred Progressive Republicans of Colorado in convention here last night elected a protesting delegation to the National Republican Convention at Chicago.

The meeting memorialized the National Convention to seat the delegation, and expressed its favor of Theodore Roosevelt for President, but did not instruct the delegation to vote for him. About ten counties of the State were represented.

The members of the protesting delegation are: E. P. Costigan, Ben B. Lindsey, Merle D. Vincent, J. L. Crank, Allison Stocker, J. T. Jacobs, Daniel M. Sullivan, D. C. Burns, V. C. Orange, C. A. Fisher, S. A. Costigan, and J. I. Carper.

WATCH OUT FOR THIEVES.

Chicago Police Order a "Round-Up" Pending the Convention.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Capt. John J. Halpin of the Detective Bureau, believing that thieves nationally and internationally known to the police are headed toward Chicago to reap a harvest among the convention crowds, has ordered a general "round-up" of all suspicious characters.

That several experienced thieves are already at work is the belief of Capt. Halpin. Within two days there have been twenty complaints, the similarity of which has led the police to believe that a well-known crook is at work with two women accomplices.

WILSON GETS MINNESOTA.

Attempt to Stampede Convention for Bryan Fails.

DULUTH, Minn., June 6.—Minnesota Democrats, in convention to-day, voted to send a full delegation of twenty-four delegates to the Baltimore Convention with instructions to vote for Woodrow Wilson.

It was agreed, however, that whenever in the opinion of two-thirds of the delegation Wilson's nomination is impossible, the vote may be thrown to another candidate.

Victory came for the Wilson forces only after followers of Champ Clark and William J. Bryan had made an attempt to have the delegates either instructed for Bryan or not instructed at all. As a result of the attempt to stampede the convention for Bryan the hall was in an uproar for more than an hour. During all that time, however, the name of Clark was not mentioned, even by those who contended for an uninstructed delegation.

Several delegates who are said to favor Clark are on the list but they are under instructions to vote for Wilson. The Clark manager, H. S. Williams, said after the convention that he would carry his fight to the National Convention at Baltimore.

The Wilson men selected Fred B. Lynch of St. Paul for National Committeeman. So strong was the sentiment in his favor that his opponents did not present a candidate.

WEST VIRGINIA FOR CLARK.

Henry Gassaway Davis Causes Excitement by Boosting for Harmon.

PARKERSBURG, West Va., June 6.—Speaker Clark received the unqualified indorsement of the West Virginia Democracy to-day. In the State convention the six delegates-at-large were instructed to vote for him at Baltimore as long as there was any hope of his nomination.

At district conventions earlier in the week Clark had received six instructed delegates, two uninstructed were favorable to him and two more were uninstructed, but were said to favor Gov. Harmon of Ohio. The delegates-at-large follow:

Former Senator Henry G. Davis, Lawrence E. Tierney, W. A. McCorkle, Samuel Hays, J. J. O'Brien, Stewart W. Walker.

While leaders were reasonably certain that the convention would indorse the Clark candidacy sentiment for a time caused excitement. National Committeeman John T. McGraw in convention said he favored Gov. Wilson and Henry Gassaway Davis, candidate for Vice President in 1904, said his favorite was Gov. Harmon. There was confusion for a while, but Mr. Davis finally said Gov. Harmon was his first choice, but he was ready to abide with the convention. The name of William J. Bryan was brought up by Mr. McGraw and was greeted with cheers. McGraw was re-elected as a member of the National Committee.

NO TRAFFIC IN SEATS.

Col. New Gives Warning to Speculators Who Have Tickets to Sell.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Col. Harry S. New, Chairman of the sub-Committee on Arrangements made it plain last night that he is prepared to deal harshly with ticket scalpers, should any attempt be made by them to procure tickets for speculation purposes, to the Republican National Convention.

"If professional ticket scalpers attempt to sell tickets to the convention I will have them in custody as soon as I hear of it."

Col. New branded as "rubbish" a rumor that six hundred seats had been arranged for outside of the number originally announced. He said the report was so absurd that it was not worth answering.

Two boxes of tickets which arrived from the printers were locked up in a vault to-night to remain there until forty-eight hours before the convention.

CANCELS PEARL CONCESSION.

Mexico Said to Have Ended the Margara Monopoly in Lower California.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN DIEGO, June 6.—The Managara pearl fishing concession, covering the gulf side of Lower California for a distance of 900 miles, has been canceled by the Mexican Congress, according to advices received here.

The Managara monopoly is controlled by a British syndicate and had been held for years. Twenty years ago the largest pearl ever known was found near Santa Rosalia. It was valued at several thousand dollars and was presented to Queen Victoria by Richard Managara.

As a result of the cancellation hundreds of fishermen and pearl divers will now engage in work along the coast, where are some of the richest pearl fisheries in the world.

It is reported that the San Doval lobster and fishing concession, extending from the American boundary south, will also be canceled this week.

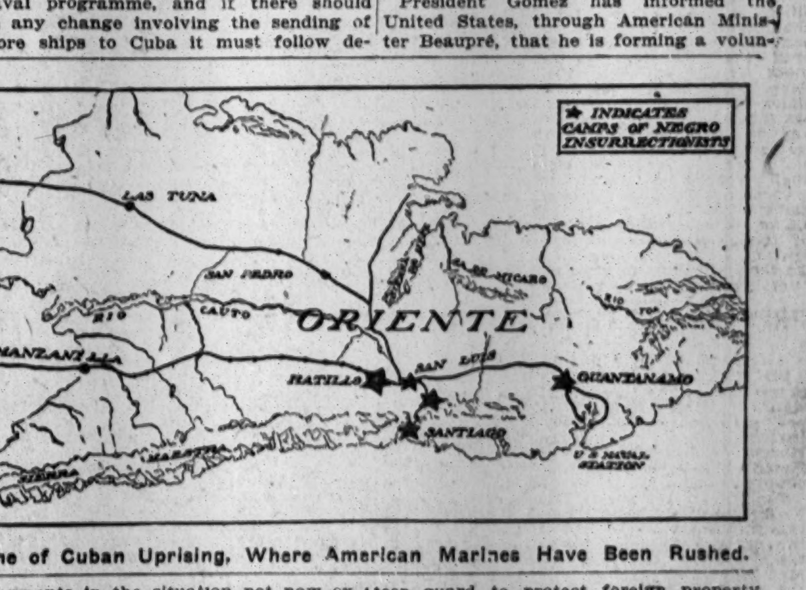
GOMEZ TO TAKE FIELD IN CUBA

where preparations are being made to defend the city. American and other foreign property owners estimate that nearly 100,000 troops are needed to protect the plantations and mines. Only unimportant skirmishes are reported from the theatre of operations. Tranquillity is reported throughout the island except in Oriente, where the suspension of the constitutional guarantees was proclaimed this morning.

Navy Asks $65,000 for Marines.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—For the present at least the four battleships comprising the Fourth Division of the Atlantic Fleet, which are due to arrive in Guantanamo Bay to-morrow, with the gunboat Paducah, lying off Daiquiri, will constitute all the United States naval force to be assemble in Cuban waters.

The State Department signified its satisfaction to-day with that part of the naval programme, and if there should be any change involving the sending of more ships to Cuba it must follow developments in the situation not now expected.



Zone of Cuban Uprising, Where American Marines Have Been Rushed.

An emergency appropriation of $65,000 for the expenses of the marine expedition to Cuba was requested from Congress today by the Secretary of the Navy. Mr. Meyer described the movement as "an expeditionary force of marines for tropical field duty."

A letter from Major Gen. W. P. Biddle, Commanding General of Marines, accompanied the request. It described the necessary for more money to equip the marines dispatched to southern waters and to Cuban stations. He said 2,035 enlisted men and 69 officers had been dispatched. The equipment of the corps was insufficient to arm the men properly, and the War Department was requisitioned for pistols and emergency field equipment.

Gen. Biddle said that sixty days' rations have been furnished, that $25,000 was needed for ammunition and arms, $15,000 for transportation, and $25,000 for miscellaneous supplies.

Fleet Held Ready at Key West.

The present intention is to keep the third division of the fleet at Key West so that there may be an adequate force within five hours' sail of Havana to deal promptly with any outbreak that might exceed the power of President Gomez's troops and police to curb. This precaution is deemed essential, not that there is any direct information that an outbreak is impending at Havana, but there is much doubt as to the actual state of mind of the laborers in Cuba.

With the weapons already in the possession of the Cuban Army and those to be sent them from the United States arsenals, it is believed that the soldiers will be amply equipped to deal with the scantily armed insurrectos, many of whom are said to possess no weapons save machetes, ancient fowling pieces, and sporting rifles stolen from plantations, for which no ammunition can be obtained.

The real essential, in the opinion of General Staff officers, is cavalry necessary to run down the exceedingly active insurrectos, who, for the most part, are themselves mounted on stock they have commandeered from the plantations. It is believed that Gen. Monteagudo's first effort, therefore, will be to increase the number of rurales, who, being mounted and well acquainted with the country, are more efficient than regular soldiers.

Volunteer Guard for Foreigners.

President Gomez has informed the United States, through American Minister Beaupré, that he is forming a volunteer guard to protect foreign property, and asks that his recent order for Krag-Jorgenson rifles be increased from 5,000 to 10,000, and that 2,000,000 cartridges accompany them.

The arms and ammunition will be shipped immediately by rail to Key West, and thence by water to Havana. The Watervliet (N. Y.) Arsenal will ship the rifles, and the ammunition will be taken from the Frankford Arsenal, near Philadelphia.

As President Gomez indicated in a statement last night, the assumption by the American marines of responsibility for the safety of the foreign properties in Oriente will relieve Gen. Monteagudo's army of the most onerous portion of its work, and will enable that officer to begin almost immediately an organized campaign in force against the marauding bands of negro insurrectos.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, June 6. — Lieut. Charles Belknap, acting under the orders of Capt. George W. Kline, Commandant of the Guantanamo Naval Station, arrived here to-day to investigate conditions and report the wishes of American citizens with regard to military protection. Lieut. Belknap had a conference with the American Consul, Ross E. Holaday, and many Americans, and made lists of their applications for troops for the protection of property in the city and vicinity, amounting altogether to 930 soldiers.

MRS. STOKES PLANS HOTEL MAIDS' UNION

If Organization Is Effected, a Strike in Sympathy with the Men Will Be Called.

NEW WAITERS DOING WELL

Strikebreakers Fast Becoming Proficient, Proprietors Say—The Hotel Mechanics Against Quitting.

Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes, wife of J. G. Phelps Stokes, announced yesterday that she intends to organize the hotel women employes into a union, and in the event that she succeeds it is said the International Hotel Workers' Union will order them to strike in sympathy with the waiters. The strike leaders are also still threatening to call out the hotel mechanics, but beyond the walkout of the Hotel Netherland engine room force that part of the strike programme does not appear likely to be realized. The mechanics are well paid, and they are said not to look with favor on going out.

The strike leaders are still boasting that they have the hotel proprietors on the run, but a visit to the hotels affected by the strike does not confirm these assertions. In most of the hotels new forces of waiters are rapidly becoming familiar with their jobs, and the hotel proprietors say that within a short time their serving staffs will be filled up with men who are just as efficient as those who deserted them.

The strikers declared yesterday that forty waiters employed in the Whitehall Club, in Battery Park, one of the largest business men's clubs in the city, had walked out, but the management of the club branded the report as false, and said that only eight of the waiters obeyed the command of the union to strike, and that the members who were lunching when the eight threw down their napkins and took off their aprons would never have been aware of the walkout, so far as the service was concerned, had they not been told of it. It was added that not one of the cooks employed by the club struck. The Whitehall Club walkout was the only one of the day or evening.

Mrs. Stokes Made Investigation.

Speaking of her intention to organize the women employes of the hotels, Mrs. Stokes in an interview yesterday referred to conditions which she said the women who work in hotels are compelled to endure.

"I have investigated actual conditions in several of the hotels," she said, "and I found those conditions to be almost unbearable. For instance, the chambermaids have to work every day in the week from 7:30 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and after a brief hour's rest they resume work at 6 o'clock and keep at it until midnight. They are supposed to be off at 3 P. M., so that they can have three hours' rest before beginning the evening work, but few of them ever stop their work until 5 o'clock.

"The women have no amusements or diversions of any sort provided for them that I was able to discover in any of the places that I investigated. The fact of the matter seems to be that life holds very little for these women. No responsible business man could have such conditions in an establishment of his own without experiencing a thrill of horror.

"As for the hotel scrubwomen, their condition is even worse than that of the chambermaids. They go to work after banquets and work for hours, sometimes until the following afternoon. All of these women employes are supposed to sleep in the hotels, but no adequate provision for their comfort is made. There are a few little rooms set aside for them, and in most of them they have cots instead of beds. It is a pitiful situation, and one that should be remedied, and I shall do all in my power to improve it."

According to Hugh Frayne, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor, who is the personal representative of Samuel Gompers in this city, the Federation is ready to help the striking hotel waiters, though the International Hotel Workers is not in the Federation.

PREPARE FOR THAW HEARING.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 6.—Supreme Court Justice Martin J. Keogh signed an order to-day directing the superintendent of the State Hospital for Insane Criminals at Mattewan to transfer Harry Kendall Thaw to the custody of Sheriff William J. Doyle of Westchester county on June 8.

The judicial inquiry granted by Justice Keogh is set for June 17, and in anticipation of the time of the trial and for the purpose of being near Thaw during the week of final preparation, his mother, Mrs Mary Copley Thaw, and his sister, the former Countess of Yarmouth, will arrive early Saturday morning, taking up a suite of rooms in the Hotel Carlton Arms. Mrs. Thaw and her daughter lived at this hotel during the Summer of 1909, when Thaw had his last hearing before Justice Mills.

It is said to-day that in addition to Clarence J. Hearn there will appear for Thaw, John F. Brennan of Yonkers, of the law firm of Brennan & Curran, attorneys for the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad.

QUESTIONS ANNOY BANKS.

Controller's Office, Asked to Advise on Money Trust Inquiry, Evades.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Many National banks, being in a quandry as to how to answer questions of the House "Money Trust" Committee, have appealed to the Controller of the Currency for advice. The Controller's office has replied, it is said, that the problem was one for the Directors of each bank.

The questions, which cause most objection, are said to be those, seeking a list of stockholders of the banks and the names of Directors and stockholders, who have borrowed from the institutions as well as the amounts and character of the securities for such loans.

FIVE MEN THE POWER IN CLEARING HOUSE

Untermyer, at Money Trust Inquiry, Has Manager Sherer Disclose Methods.

BILLIONS IN CLEARINGS NOW

Business Grows, Though Number of Banks Decrease—Revenue from Out-of-Town Checks.

The New York Clearing House was presented by Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the Pujo Money Trust Investigating Committee, at its first hearing in this city yesterday, as an illegal combination wielding "autocratic power" and exercising "monstrous regulation" over the banking business and enabling its members to wring from the rest of the country an annual tax of $50,000,000 on the collection of out-of-town checks. William Sherer, manager of the Clearing House for the last twenty years, was the medium through which the facts in regard to the organization and operation of the institution were brought out. He testified that the power of the association was practically in the hands of five men, constituting the Clearing House Committee, and admitted that in some respects it ought to be subject to judicial review, which is not now the case.

The five men composing this powerful committee are:

Frank Vanderlip, President of the National City Bank, Chairman.
James I. Conners, President of the Fourth National Bank.
Walter E. Frew, President of the Corn Exchange Bank.
Richard Delafield, President of the National Park Bank.
Otto T. Bannard, President of the New York Trust Company.

Mr. Sherer showed some hesitancy in agreeing to Mr. Untermyer's figures on the revenue from out-of-town collections, saying at first that the figure was so large that he didn't want to go on record as accepting it, but Mr. Untermyer went over the calculation with him, and he admitted that it was approximately correct. He had testified that one-fourth of the total business of the Clearing House consisted of out-of-town checks. The charge for collections in the Eastern and Middle States is fixed by the Clearing House rules at one-tenth of 1 per cent., and in the remoter States at one-quarter of 1 per cent.

Taking one-seventh of 1 per cent. as an average of the two rates, it was shown that the daily charges would amount to $128,571 and multiplying this by 300 days gave a total of nearly $50,000,000. In this calculation no account was taken of the fact that the collections at the lower rate, being in the nearer States, are presumably much larger than those in the remote States, so that one-seventh would hardly be a correct average. In making up this average the checks on the so-called "discretionary cities" on which the practice is to charge no exchange were disregarded. These "discretionary cities" include the principal banking centres in the East, with which a big share of the transactions that go through the New York Clearing House are concerned. The entire list is Boston, Providence, Albany, Troy, Jersey City, Bayonne, Hoboken, Newark, Philadelphia, and Baltimore. Items collected for the accounts of or in dealings with the governments of the United States, the State of New York or the City of New York are also excluded from the requirement that the banks shall charge the rates fixed. The charges are discretionary and as a rule no charge is made.

Committee Expects More Power.

Besides Mr. Sherer, Prof. J. Laurence Laughlin of Chicago University, and Irving T. Bush, President of the Bush Terminal Company were witnesses yesterday. They were questioned about the funds raised by the National Citizens' League for the Promotion of a Sound Banking System, which is advocating the principles of the Aldrich bill. Joseph G. Cannon, President of the Fourth National Bank, who is an authority on Clearing House systems, sat through the proceedings as an interested spectator and will be called as a witness. L. A. Hanna, examiner of banks for the Clearing House, has been subpoenaed. After to-day the hearings will be adjourned till Tuesday, but Chairman Pujo announced that few witnesses would be heard until Fall.

Mr. Pujo explained that "in view of the insistence by certain of the leading financial institutions" that the committee is without power to enforce its demands for information it was not advisable to take up the main inquiry until all doubt had been removed by the passage of the pending bill giving either house of Congress the same power of investigating the National banks now apparently possessed only by the Controller of the Currency and the courts. The data required, he said, first must be obtained from the banks before witnesses can be advantageously examined.

"The committee," he said, "is anxious to avoid exposing legitimate transactions of the institutions concerned and to examine only into those that are believed to be the proper basis for remedial legislation. The objections put forward by the banks invite the exposure of their affairs, which will be avoided if the desired legislation is enacted.

"The committee considers it inadvisable in any event to conduct this important and far-reaching inquiry during the heat and excitement of a political campaign and has not from the outset contemplated any such course. It has been recognized as imperative that the public confidence in the judicial attitude of the committee shall be beyond suspicion, and for that additional reason the committee has not considered pursuing the main branch of the investigation until after the election."

The intervening time, Mr. Pujo said, would be devoted to taking testimony on collateral subjects and the collection of material for the main inquiry. The relations of the Clearing House and the Stock Exchange to the financial system and to "the increasing concentration of money" will be investigated in the few sessions before the Summer vacation.

The members of the committee who were present yesterday were Chairman Pujo of Louisiana and Representatives Brown of West Virginia, Byrnes of North Carolina, Dougherty of Missouri, Neely of Kansas, Stephens of Mississippi, Hayes of California, and Heald of Delaware.

Fewer Banks Than 60 Years Ago.

When Mr. Sherer took the stand yesterday he described the Clearing House Association as a voluntary organization formed in 1853. He said it had no State charter and was the sole judge of its own membership.

Q.—It requires a vote of three-quarters of the members to admit a bank, and a majority may expel a member? A.—Yes.

Q.—It may expel a member without cause, and the committee decides whether it shall even have a hearing? Q.—Yes.

Q.—How many charter members were there? A.—Fifty-two.

Q.—Were there any banks in 1853 that did not become members? A.—I don't know, except from hearsay.

Mr. Untermyer brought out that the clearings in 1854 were $5,750,000,000 and in 1911 $92,420,000,000, while they were still larger in 1909 and 1910. He showed that with this great increase there were fewer banks now than there were sixty years ago. Seventeen trust companies have been admitted to the Clearing House since the bars were let down last August, but up to that time there were but fifty members, although in 1895 there were sixty-seven.

Q.—There are two less banks in the association than in 1853, and the business has increased about twenty times? A.—Yes.

Q.—After 1895, when there were sixty-seven, the period of consolidation set in? A.—Yes.

Q.—What banks with the required capital of $1,000,000 or over were not members in 1910? A.—I don't recall any.

Mr. Sherer said that up to three or four years ago banks with $500,000 capital and $500,000 surplus were eligible to membership. The requirement of $1,000,000 capital was made, and the factor of surplus was eliminated. He did not know why it was eliminated.

Q.—If a bank cannot get admitted it has to clear through another bank? A.—Yes, or pay its checks over the counter.

Q.—In order to clear through another bank it has to subscribe to all the rules and regulations imposed on members? A.—Yes.

Q.—It is subject to the same discipline, and to the same examinations? A.—Yes.

Q.—The Clearing House has the same authority over non-members that clear through other banks as over the members. A.—Yes.

The list of members was produced to show that some of them are located in New Jersey, the purpose being to show that the Clearing House is an inter-State affair. The only National bank of sufficient capital in this city not a member or a clearing non-member that Mr. Sherer could name was the Harriman National Bank, formerly the Day and Night Bank. Mr. Untermyer pointed out that by clearing through the Clearing House it would lose interest for an extra day on checks taken in after 3 P. M. In order to adjust matters with the other banks it could present each day only those checks that were received up to 3 P. M., and the others would have to be held until the second day. There are no State banks, Mr. Sherer stated, that do not clear directly or indirectly. Mr. Untermyer's object was to show that it is practically impossible for a bank to do business unless it is admitted to the Clearing House, apart from the exceptional circumstances of the Harriman, with its night feature. He then went on to show that the Clearing House Committee has the power of keeping a bank from clearing through the institution.

Reason for Big Banks.

Q.—Banks are not always able to get a member to clear for them? A.—No.

Q.—They must get the consent of the Clearing House Committee and also arrange with another bank? A.—Yes. There may be a question as to the assumption of responsibility by the member bank. It takes responsibility for the checks of the other bank for one full day.

Q.—Who are the present members of the Clearing House Committee? A.—Frank Vanderlip, President of the National City Bank, is Chairman. The other members are James G. Cannon, President of the Fourth National; Walter E. Frew, President of the Corn Exchange; Richard Delafield, President of the National Park Bank, and Otto T. Bannard, President of the New York Trust Company.

Q.—And these five men have autocratic powers? A.—They have executive powers. I would hardly call them autocratic. The committee has to go to the association for its own authority. It can't admit new members, but has to report to the association.

Q.—But, apart from the matter of the admission of members, the committee exercises all the powers of the association? A.—Certainly.

The meetings of the full association, Mr. Sherer said, were held annually and at the call of the committee. Besides the annual meetings it had met in the last three years only to admit the trust companies and one bank.

Mr. Untermyer wanted to know why, after fifty-nine years, the association found itself with less members than it started with.

"The banks in 1853," explained Mr. Sherer, "were very small affairs. They had small capital and extended small accommodations. Bringing in more capital by consolidating them has made the banks more effective machines. They have been made more applicable to the needs of general business than was possible in 1853. The volume of business done is greater than it would be with smaller banks."

Q.—Don't you see how much more play there was for competition in 1853? A.—Well, some of them had to go out of business.

Q.—You mean by the big banks driving them out? A.—They died a natural death. Small banks are not effective. I wouldn't start a bank in this city with less than $500,000 capital. It wouldn't make money.

Q.—Now, all these banks are known by groups, are they not? A.—I don't know them as such.

Q.—Don't you know they are known as the Morgan or Standard Oil or Kuhn-Loeb groups? A.—Only from the newspapers.

Q.—You know what their reputation is in the community as to ownership and control? A.—Yes.

Mr. Untermyer started to have Mr. Sherer classify all the members of the Clearing House along these lines, a proceeding which Mr. Sherer did not seem to relish, and Mr. Untermyer let it drop after a few questions.

"These banks are labelled," he began. "Now, tell us what the labels are?"

Mr. Sherer mentioned the Irving National and said it was associated with the Hanover National.

Q.—And the Hanover is known as what? A.—I don't know.

Q.—Isn't it known as a Morgan bank? A.—I never got that idea.

Q.—To what group does the Merchants' National belong? A.—I don't know.

Q.—In what group is the National City? A.—Its own, I should say.

Q.—Isn't it a Standard Oil bank? A.—I have heard that it was.

Q.—The Bank of New York? A.—That is entirely independent as far as I know.

Q.—The Manhattan Company? A.—Entirely independent.

Can Keep Men Out of Business.

"If you don't feel that you are able to answer these questions correctly, of course you may say so," remarked Mr. Untermyer, who was not getting much satisfaction.

"I don't feel that I can," said Mr. Sherer, looking relieved. "I want to answer all the questions I can. You can have anything I know except the combination to the vault."

"These matters you don't think you know enough about to be able to testify regarding them?"

"That's right," said Mr. Sherer.

Mr. Untermyer had the constitution and rules and regulations of the Clearing House Association introduced in evidence.

"Under the three-quarters vote rule," he said, "it is possible to keep any man or group of men out of the banking business, isn't it?"

"So far as the Clearing House is concerned."

"It is impossible to conduct business without the clearing privilege, isn't it?"

"That is a matter of opinion," said Mr. Sherer. "I think it is."

Mr. Sherer described the actual operation of clearing, telling how checks aggregating some $4,000,000 may be exchanged in ten minutes and the balances settled by the payment of about 4½ per cent. in cash. He also told of the system of examining member banks which was established last year, with Mr. Hanna in charge, and was asked what other functions the Clearing House had.

"We have clearing house deposit vaults," he said, "in which the banks keep gold, gold certificates, silver certificates, and legal tender notes. For these we issue certificates, like warehouse receipts, which the banks use in settling balances."

He produced canceled certificates of each variety and they were put in evidence.

Q.—Did the Clearing House ever take advice of counsel as to its right to issue these certificates? A.—Yes, about twenty years ago.

Q.—They pass in lieu of money? A.—In settling balances, yes.

Q.—You know the question has been mooted as to the right to issue them? A.—In recent years, yes.

Q.—You know that Mr. Hanna, your examiner, questioned it in a book he wrote? A.—No, I didn't know that.

Q.—Clearing Houses in smaller cities have issued them for general circulation? A.—Yes; but under our rules they are restricted to payments between members. I wouldn't call that circulation. If I choose to take your I O U and you choose to take mine, they don't enter into general circulation.

Mr. Untermyer switched to the subject of collection charges. He drew from Mr. Sherer that the Clearing House has nothing to do with the collections.

"So all the regulations relating to the collection of out-of-town checks are foreign to the legitimate functions of the Clearing House?"

"Foreign to the original functions, I would say," replied Mr. Sherer.

Suggests a Restraint of Trade.

Mr. Untermyer read from the constitution of the Clearing House a section giving the Clearing House Committee power to establish rules regarding collections and the rates to be charged, applying to all members and those clearing through them. He read the provisions that in certain States the charge shall be one-tenth of 1 per cent., and in others one-fourth of 1 per cent.; prohibiting any rebate on the charges; providing that the Directors of each bank admitted shall adopt resolutions agreeing to abide by the regulations and file it with the association, and fixing a fine of $5,000 for the first infraction and expulsion for a second offense.

Q.—The Clearing House has about as much to do with out-of-town collections as the man in the moon? A.—It is a voluntary association of banks for the mutual protection of their business. They found they were not getting paid for the expense of collection and they decided to reform the system.

Q.—What right have these men, the members of the committee, to restrain others from doing business as they see fit? A.—If the banks decided to bind themselves they certainly had the right to.

Q.—But if one bank chose to deal with its customers independently it would be expelled? A.—Yes; but they agreed unanimously.

Q.—You regard the association as in the nature of a private club? A.—Yes, in a sense.

Q.—But you recognize that it has important public functions and plays an important part in inter-State commerce? A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you think it would have the right to fix the rate of interest? A.—No.

Q.—If it can properly do one of these things, why not the other? A.—The question of interest has never arisen.

Q.—Don't you recognize that its action is in restraint of trade? A.—No; I don't recognize that.

Q.—But a bank can't live without the privilege of clearing? A.—Private bankers do, and they take deposits and collect out-of-town checks.

Q.—Private bankers don't do a general checking business? A.—No.

Mr. Untermyer propounded a hypothetical question of a bank wanting to get a big customer away from another bank.

"It might be worth its while, in order to make an inducement, to collect that customer's checks without charge," he said. "Under this rule it couldn't do that?"

"It has its option."

"But it can't do it and stay in the Clearing House?"

"No."

Q.—It can't be expelled and live? A.—There is no reason why it can't.

Q.—The mere rumor that it may be expelled would be sure to cause a run? A.—Yes.

Many Banks Gone Out of Business.

Mr. Sherer explained that this might be avoided by a bank that desired to cut charges withdrawing from the association without waiting to be expelled.

"I don't think the independence of banks is taken away," he said, "when they voluntarily come together and agree to certain rules, when the way is open to them to retreat."

Q.—How many new banks have started in the last five years? A.—I can't recall without referring to records.

Q.—How many have gone out of existence in the last ten? A.—The list I have furnished you shows 103.

Q.—Out of town checks amount to about one-fourth of the business? A.—About that. A few years ago, when I looked into it, they were about $55,000,000 daily.

Mr. Untermyer figured out an overage rate of one-seventh of 1 per cent. for collections, that being the mean between the two rates of one-tenth and one-quarter, and Mr. Sherer agreed that on this basis the charges would amount to nearly $80,000 a day.

"That amounts to a tax of $24,000,000 a year paid by the people outside to the banks of New York," he said.

"There is another side to it," said Mr. Sherer. "Before the rule was made it must have cost the banks about that much, because they were losing interest while the checks were in transit, as well as the actual cost of remitting. Country merchants kited checks. The whole situation was to see who could make the most by kiting in buying goods and by throwing the burden on the banks."

Mr. Sherer admitted that the fixed rate on collections would not last long if it were made optional with the banks. He said he would not approve the fixing of interest and did not agree with Mr. Untermyer that it was the same thing as fixing collection charges.

Mr. Untermyer read another rule providing that if a bank changes ownership or is merged with a non-member bank, it must receive the assent of a majority of the association to remain a member.

Q.—Nobody can buy a bank without the consent of the committee? A.—Not and remain a member.

Q.—It gives them power to say who shall go into the business; don't you think that a monstrous regulation? A.—No; I do not. It is to be supposed that the average business man is a person of some moral status. He can make more money by walking straight than crooked. If the banks took a narrow view and pet others out because they would be competitors it would react on them and business men wouldn't stand for it.

Q.—Don't you think such an unbridled power should be subject to some judicial review? A.—Yes.

Mr. Untermyer read another rule requiring the association's consent to the transfer of a non-member bank from one member to another as its clearing agent, and Mr. Sherer said this also should be subject to judicial review.

The Charge for Collections.

Mr. Untermyer brought out that the out-of-town checks collected had increased from the time he and Mr. Sherer had first figured on to about $100,000,000 a day at the present time, and on the same basis the revenue from collection charges to the New York banks amounted to $50,000,000 a year.

Prof. Laughlin, who was the first witness, told how the charter of the National Citizens' League for the Promotion of a Sound Banking System had been amended to omit from its objects "to aid in securing legislation." He said the purpose of the league was educational, and that the amount of subscriptions paid in to May 25 was $216,678. About $75,000 in addition had been pledged.

He said he had not discussed the aims and purposes of the league with any of the financial people in New York. The league was not committed to the Aldrich bill, but favored it as the best bill so far introduced. Personally he was opposed to some provisions.

Prof. Laughlin said $200,000 more would be all the league would need, and that some of the State organizations were self-supporting, the money raised amounting to about $25,000 or $30,000. Absolutely nothing had been done toward influencing legislation. The publicity bureau consisted of three men in Chicago and one in New York.

"With that small staff you have spent $200,000?" asked Mr. Untermyer.

"We have been organizing in forty-five States, and that has been the chief expense."

Q.—The banking interests are in favor of the Monetary Commission bill? A.—Yes.

Q.—On the lists of contributors I notice the absence of the great New York institutions; nothing from Morgan or Kuhn-Loeb? A.—No.

Q.—Is that because the league felt that contributions from them would hurt its propaganda? A.—No.

Prof. Laughlin said that banks had been assessed through Clearing Houses in the proportion of their clearings by Clearing House officials, but not in their official capacity.

Irving T. Bush is Chairman of the Executive Committee of the New York branch of the league. He was asked why the big banks had not contributed, and said it was understood that they would co-operate through the American Bankers' Association.

Andrew Carnegie, it appeared, had subscribed $5,000, the suggestion coming from him in a letter.

FOR MARKSMEN'S EYES.

Physician Recommends Use of New Glasses for Better Aim.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 6.—Dr. John A. Witherspoon of Nashville, Tenn., was elected President of the American Medical Association by the House of Delegates to-day. Dr. Philander Harris of Paterson, N. J., was named First Vice President; Dr. John L. Heffron of Syracuse, N. Y., Second Vice President, and Dr. H. M. McClanahan of Omaha, Neb., Third Vice President.

With the exception of a half dozen sections, which will continue their sessions to-morrow, the convention practically came to a close to-night, after a successful meeting.

One of the interesting meetings of the day was that of the section on ophthalmology, where Dr. John A. Donovan of Butte, Mont., declared that the eyesight of the Nation's marksmen is the real defense of the country in the times of war. He called on the eye specialists of the country to assist in the work of preventing injury or accident to the eyes of the riflemen in the army, navy, and State militia.

Glasses that will automatically find the target without the marksman bothering with the sights were predicted. Amber glasses were recommended to overcome strain caused by light, and he advocated glasses large enough to act as a screen in case of back fire.

A paper read before the section of preventive medicine and public health on anti-typhoid inoculation by Dr. Leslie H. Spooner contained the following: "There has been a remarkable diminution of occurrence of typhoid fever among inoculated individuals. The relative proportion between uninoculated and those who are is nine to one, respectively. In hospitals and other places where typhoid patients are confined the danger from personal contact with the sick, by the use of inoculation has been reduced to a minimum in Massachusetts hospitals and training schools for nurses, where heretofore there was an alarming epidemic among those whose vocations brought them into contact with victims of the disease."

Other officers elected to-day were: Fourth Vice President, Dr. Walt P. Conaway, Atlantic City; Secretary, Dr. Alexander R. Craig, Chicago; Treasurer, Dr. William Allen Pusey, Chicago; Trustees, Dr. M. L. Harris, Chicago; Dr. C. A. Daugherty, South Bend; Dr. W. T. Councilman, Boston; Member of the Judiciary Council, Dr. George W. Guthrie, Wilkesbarre, Penn.; Member of Council of Health and Public Instruction, Dr. Walter B. Cannon, Boston; Member of Council on Medical Education, Dr. James Holland, Philadelphia, Dr. W. D. Haggard, Nashville, Tenn.

Minneapolis was selected as the next place of meeting.

Some Financiering for Early June

CLOTHES are debatable up to the first of June. After that the necessity of thin garments is no longer open to discussion.

As four months' wear is more economical than three, the purchaser in June has the advantage over the purchaser in July.

The man that is well and seasonably dressed early in the season enjoys prestige—business as well as social—over the laggard who wears his old clothes late.

Weber and Heilbroner clothes have been proved.

On Decoration Day they were in evidence everywhere.

Twenty-five and thirty dollar suits took their place beside seventy-five dollar suits—and on the same class of wearers.

For twenty dollars there are good hot-weather business suits here in choice unfinished worsteds, serges, flannels and cheviots.

They embrace the New York season's style essentials in cut and tailoring.

No use to wait. Promptness means economy—and in this case correctness.

Roxford Underwear
The sort that does not "stick."
50c & $1.00

This specialty has lifted the standard of two-dollar shirts to a higher plane. The materials are woven—not printed; the patterns are of the tasteful sort that is usually linked with custom garments only. There is a distinction, too, between "manufactured" and "tailored." Our Shirts at $2 are tailored.

We are extensive distributers of this exceptionally fine, old-fashioned balbriggan underwear—made in modern styles. No other fabric is so elastic, soft, comfortable and durable. Full, generous models in every popular style—two-piece and union suits.

Men's Blue Serge Suits
17.50 to 35.00

Tailored throughout by Saks, which is a consideration in view of the fact that most ready-for-service clothes are not tailored at all by those who sell them.

¶ The world is full of blue serges. They are in every tailor shop, in every wardrobe, in every walk of life, and worn by at least six of the Seven Ages of Man. Varying their weight to the exigencies of the climate, blue serges have invaded the four seasons, and have thus extended their sphere of usefulness the whole year round. But it is in Summer that a blue serge is at its best in the Comedy of Clothes.

¶ However, the fabric is not your only problem. No man buys a house solely because it has four walls and a roof, but because its general construction and the layout of its interior conform to his requirements. Similarly, it is not enough that you should buy a blue serge solely because it is fashioned in the shape of a suit. Assuming that the quality is right, the one big consideration that makes a blue serge worth while is the manner in which it is tailored. A fig for the fabric if the style's not there.

¶ In a Saks blue serge the style is very much there. It controls the situation. It subordinates fabric to fit, and individualizes the garment as a whole. We have not tailored blue serges for forty years without absorbing all there is to know to date in the art of making clothes. And no matter what the model may be, or what the price, a Saks blue serge carries in its lines the imperishable stamp of good workmanship and fine style.

¶ Blue serges whose quality is above suspicion, and whose color is as tenacious as the virgin dyes. Summer weights, light as flannels, and as cool. Mostly with narrow, natural shoulders, and soft rolling fronts, with lapels that take life easy and have never known the hardships of an iron. One, two and three button single breasted models, a double breasted model that's entirely different, and Norfolks a-plenty. Half, quarter, and one-eighth lined, in mohair or silk. Models of style.

MANY TREASURES IN TAYLOR COLLECTION

$60,000 OFFERED FOR A VASE

Two of the Eight Pieces of Medici Ware Known Are in the Collection—Persian Pottery Unrivaled.

By P. G. KONODY.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, June 6.—What promises to be the most important art sale so far in the present century will be held at Christie's during the fortnight beginning July 1.

The collection to be disposed of is that formed by the late James Edward Taylor, who was proprietor of The Manchester Guardian. His London house, 20 Kensington Palace Gardens, was a museum of art treasures. He died in 1905, leaving his collection for life to his wife, who recently died, so the magnificent collection is now thrown on to the market.

The pictures are few in number, but of exceptionally fine quality. Among them are two wonderful Mantegna grisailles, from the series of which two other pieces are in the National Gallery here and one in the Irish National Gallery at Dublin. They are accepted as unquestionably authentic, both by Berenson and by Kristeller, the author of the standard biography of Mantegna.

Next in importance is a superb portrait by Memlinc. There are also a fine lunette by Cima da Conegliano, belonging to an altarpiece, of which two wings are in the Strassburg Museum, and a good Bronzino.

Of the Turner watercolors from the Taylor collection it is scarcely necessary to speak, as they have frequently been exhibited and enjoy world-wide fame, surpassing as they do in quality the remarkable Turner drawings of the Salting Bequest.

Far more important, though, than the pictures are the miscellaneous works of art of the collection, which cover practically all periods and schools from the antique to the nineteenth century. The mediaeval objects are even finer than those in the famous Carmichael collection.

It is impossible here to give a list of the priceless champ-levé enamels, ivories, chasses, croziers, and wonderful translucent enamels of the fourteenth century. The collection is particularly rich in émaux peints, and includes, besides some splendid pieces by Jean Court and the Pénicauds the finest dish by Pierre Raymond in existence.

The majolica is throughout of superb quality, but nothing can rival the two extraordinary blue and white vases of the excessively rare Medici ware. The larger of the two has been valued at over $60,000—the price offered to the late owner on more than one occasion. These pieces were made for Francesco, the first Grand Duke of Tuscany. They were the first pieces of porcelain made in Europe, and resemble, as regards quality of paste, the finest early Sèvres. They are signed at the base with the private factory mark—a sketch of the Duomo of Florence—and with an "F," which stands for either "Florence" or "Francesco."

Only eight pieces of this ware are known, and for at least twenty years no example has appeared at public auction, so it would be vain to conjecture the possibilities of what these two vases may realize.

The bronzes, again, are of quite unusual excellence. A number of them have been included by Bode in his famous catalogue of Italian Bronzes of the Renaissance, where they hold their own with the best pieces at the Bargello in Florence and at the Berlin Museum. Among them are several very fine Riccios, the famous Venetian firedogs from the Spitzer collection, and the finest existing example of "Virtue Overcoming Vice," by Benvenuto Cellini.

The series of early Persian pottery is practically unrivaled, the only examples worthy to rank beside these being those in the Godman collection and in the Salting Bequest at South Kensington.

Nor did Mr. Taylor neglect the eighteenth century, which is represented at its best achievement by a vast gathering of French sculpture and decorative objets d'art.

Then there are masterpieces of the silversmith's craft of all periods, the English collection beginning with the end of the fifteenth century. The collection is particularly rich in Elizabethan silver, including examples such as have not been seen in the auction room for many a long year. The same remark applies to the German masterpieces of this craft.

One of Mr. Taylor's latest purchases was a very beautiful Spanish ciborium from the Carmichael collection, which ought to be one of the features of the sale, but perhaps the most valuable piece in the whole collection is a Flemish Gothic morse in gold and enamel, probably by the same artist who wrought the famous triptych from the Carmichael collection, which, even in those days, when prices had not assumed anything like their present proportions, was sold to Herr Gutmann of Berlin for what was then the record figure of $40,000.

It is confidently expected by those who are most competent to judge that the total for the ten days' sale will amount to considerably over $1,250,000, which is obviously a moderate computation, since Mr. Taylor, who bought most of his treasures in the two closing decades of the nineteenth century, long before values had reached their present prodigious figures, is known to have expended over $750,000 on his collection.

$7,300 FOR A "DON QUIXOTE."

Good Prices at the Huth Sale—Caxton Chaucer Brings $4,525.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, June 6.—The highest price of the second session of the Huth library sale at Sotheby's to-day was $7,300, paid for the first two parts of "El Ingenioso Hidalgo Don Quixote de la Mancha," by Miguel de Cervantes Saavedra, printed, respectively, at Madrid in 1606 and 1615. The first part is with the privilege for Madrid only; this was subsequently extended for the second issue to Aragon and Portugal, besides Castile, to prevent piracy. The copy sold to-day was purchased in an old calf binding, evidently English from the boards it was made of, and subsequently belonged to Claude Pellot, first President of the Parliament of Normandy. By an error, F. Bedford, the binder, rebound the book in place of repairing it, but M. Pellot's bookplate is preserved in both volumes.

A Caxton, the first edition of Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales," printed at Westminster about 1478, brought $4,525. It is in black letters, long lines, twenty-nine to a full page, without marks, large capitals printed in red, thick boarded brown Morocco, covered with blind stamped ornaments, by F. Bedford. The first and second leaves are in fac simile, as are eight leaves at the end and six elsewhere. Only two perfect copies of this edition are known.

Another Caxton, the "Christine de Pisan," printed at Westminster in 1489, sold for $2,200. It is in black letter, long lines, 31 to a full page, thick boarded morocco by Riviere. It is of extreme rarity. This copy was obtained at the Libri sale in 1862. It was sold to Libri by the operatic singer, Mario. Some leaves have been washed and plain margins mended. It opens with Caxton's statement: "Here begynneth the Book of Fayttes of Armes & of Chyuabrie."

A rare edition of "Don Quixote," printed in Madrid in 1605, went for $775. It is the second genuine edition of the first part of this famous book. It is in red morocco binding, by F. Bedford.

A copy of the "Cent Nouvelles," Paris, 1538, in binding by W. Pratt, brought $150. This edition was unknown to Brunet.

The "Chastising of God's Children: The prouffytable Boke for Manes Soule. And right comfortable to the body," &c., a small folio, printed without place, printer's name, or date, sold for $1,650. Although this work is usually ascribed to the press of Caxton, Blades says: "The use of a title-page, a practice unknown to Caxton—the appearance of Type No. 7—and the adoption of signatures having 3 sheets only—all point to Wynkyn de Worde, rather than to Caxton, as the printer of this book, which was probably executed about 1491." A part of some lines in the last two leaves have been supplied in fac simile. Only five perfect copies are known.

A copy of Chaucer's Works, printed by Richard Pynson in London in 1526, brought $1,300. This was the first attempt at a collection of Chaucer's writings. It is in modern boarded brown morocco by F. Bedford, and is a fine and perfect copy. The verso of the last leaf is occupied by Pynson's large device.

Henry Chettle's "Englandes Mourning Garment: Worne here by plaine Shepheardes in memorie of their sacred Mistresse, Elizabeth, Queen of Vertue while shee liued, and Theame of Sorrow, being dead," sold for $360. It is the first edition, printed in London in 1603. The author alludes to Shakespeare, under the name of Melicert, and seems to intimate that the great poet had received from the Queen special marks of favor, which he ought to requite by some tribute to her memory. It is an extremely rare work. The last copy, sold at Sotheby's, realized $505.

Another work by Chettle, entitled "The Treason of Hoffman, or A Reuenge for a Fatter," London, 1631, brought $260. It is a fine copy in binding by Riviere. This work is of considerable Shakespearean interest for its similarity to the plot of Hamlet. According to Henslowe's Diary it was written in 1602, a year before the publication of Shakespeare's play.

The sale will be continued to-morrow.

$1,328,900 REALIZED IN ONE DAY'S SALE

Doucet Collection Breaking All Auction Records — Over $2,000,000 Obtained Already.

$106,820 FOR PAIR OF VASES

The Work of De la Rue—Miss Anne Morgan Wants Bust by Houdon, but the Duveens Get It for $90,000.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, June 6.—The enormous sum of $1,328,900 was realized at to-day's session of the Jacques Doucet sale at the Georges Petit Gallery. This is undoubtedly by far the greatest amount ever obtained at a single day's auction. With the sum realized yesterday, the sale has already brought $2,048,900, and it will continue two more days.

Even the figures quoted do not represent the full amount that the buyers are spending, as under the French system, 10 per cent. is added for sale expenses.

Almost all the noted collectors of France, and many of other countries were present in person or were represented at the sale to-day. Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of J. Pierpont Morgan, was one of the principal bidders. She was evidently anxious to obtain Houdon's bust of the child, Sabine Houdon, and contested it keenly against the Duveens, who, however, finally obtained it for $90,000.

This, however, was not the highest price of the day which was realized, for two beautiful decorative vases in marble by De la Rue were sold for $106,820.

Two groups of "Two Young Women Carrying a Plate of Fruit," by Clodion, brought $17,000 each.

Another group of a young girl and a faun, by the same artist, "The Intoxication of the Kiss," brought $41,000.

Clodion's "Drunkenness of Wine" fetched $22,000; his "Two Young Women Supporting a Sphere" brought $37,400, while a figure of a young girl, entitled "Innocence," brought $26,120, and his "Projected Monument to the Actor Larive" fetched $10,820.

Coustou's "The Rhone," representing the figure of the river god leaning against a lion couchant, was sold for $10,000.

The "Bust of a Magistrate," by Houdon, was sold for $15,400, and his bust of Claudine Houdon went for $13,200.

The bust of de Beauveset, by Jean-Baptiste Lemoyne, was sold for $13,400, while his bust of the Marshal of Saxony went to Stettiner for $13,600. P. H. Roland's bust of Denis Sebastian Le Roy was sold to Seligman for $14,000. L. C. Vassé's "Bust of a Child" was sold for $15,000, while Jean Warin's bust of the Cardinal de Richelieu went for $26,000. A group of "A Child Playing with a Dove," by an unknown sculptor, was sold to the Duveens for $11,200.

Stettiner paid $16,000 for Boucher's painting "The Road to the Market," and Wilderstein bought Chardin's "The Builder of Houses of Cards" for $38,000.

A picture by the latter artist, entitled "The Soap Bubbles" and depicting a boy blowing bubbles for a child, brought $60,100. Chardin's "Refreshments," showing a dead wild duck, a loaf of bread, some wine, fruit, &c., fetched $12,200, going to Wilderstein, while the same artist's picture, "A Plate of Eggs," brought $11,000.

Joseph Ducreux's "Portrait of the Mother of the Artist" fetched $13,400.

Fragonard's "The Sacrifice of the Minotaur" went for $72,000. His "Dream of a Beggar" was bought by Hodkins for $25,000, and his "Le Feu aux Poudres" sold for $22,200. Fragonard's "Mademoiselle Marie-Madelein Riggieri, called Adeline," was sold to Baron Gunsburg for $30,400, and his "Brown Young Girl" fetched $18,800.

"The Duchesse d'Albe," by Boya, was bought by Seligmann for $23,200. Guardi's "Venice: La Salute et la Douane" brought $14,600, and his "Venice—St. Georges Majeur" was sold for $16,200 to the Marquis de Ganay.

A "Portrait of a Young Girl," by Sir Thomas Lawrence, was sold to Feral for $40,000. A "Vase of Flowers," by François Sebastien Leriche, was sold for $23,000. Nattier's "Portrait of a Young Woman" fetched $20,000, and a "Camp Scene," by Pater, fetched $18,400.

The presumed portrait of Madame Blondel d'Azincourt, by Perronneau, was sold for $16,600.

Sir Joshua Reynolds's "Omiah, Native of Otahiti," depicting a young negro, was sold for $24,000. Hubert Robert's "Countryside and Ruins" brought $10,420, while Stettiner obtained "The Park of St. Cloud" by the same artist for $21,500, and the Carnavalet Museum bought Robert's "View of the Burning of the Théâtre de l'Opéra at the Palais Royal in 1781" for $10,500. Robert's "Women Bathers" brought $13,000; his "Antique Ruins" fetched $11,200, and his "Italian Palace" was sold for $10,800.

Knoedler & Co. obtained Vigée Le Brun's painting of "Madame Grant, Later the Princess of Talleyrand," for $80,000.

"The Gate of Valenciennes," by Watteau, brought $11,200. A "Portrait of a Young Woman," by an unknown artist of the eighteenth century, was sold to Wilderstein for $12,200.

Mortimer L. Schiff was one of the Americans who watched the bidding, but no sale was recorded in his name.

PENFIELD BUYS A NATTIER.

Purchases Portrait of the Marquise de Changey for $30,000.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, June 6.—Frederic Courtland Penfield of New York, who is well known in Europe as a buyer of English and French masterpieces, has recently purchased several additions to his collection besides the fine examples of Corot and Daubigny, mentioned in a previous dispatch to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Mr. Penfield has bought from a Paris dealer Nattier's portrait of the Marquise de Changey, paying, it is understood, $30,000 for it. This gives him three of the best Nattiers outside Versailles, the other two, which are hanging in his Fifth Avenue home, being portraits of daughters of Louis XV.

In a talk with a NEW YORK TIMES correspondent, Mr. Penfield gave it as his opinion that the world's best art collections fifty years hence will be in the United States, and that Europeans and others who wish to study art will have to go there.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 6.—The Duma to-day adopted a bill permitting women to practice law.

TO EXHIBIT 35 HORSES.

Judge Moore Arrives in London with Big String for Olympia Show.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, June 6.—Judge W. H. Moore, who is a great favorite with the Olympia Horse Show crowd and with all Londoners with whom he comes into contact, has arrived here with a string of thirty-five horses to take part in the coming show.

It is impossible to get him to talk about his hopes at the show. "I am here for business," he said when asked to-day what he thought of his prospects of success, adding, "I can tell you better when the show is over." He will also exhibit at the Richmond Show, which opens two days before the Olympia Show.

Regarding the financial situation in America, Judge Moore was a little more communicative. "It is a deal better than it was," he said. "There is a disposition to cut out politics in business, and there has been steady liquidation in business and securities for the last four or five years. The crops are in very fine condition outside of wheat in three States, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, and that shortage will be made up by corn. The American people refuse to be frightened any longer."

SPANISH PRINCE IS BETTER.

Don Jaime Saved from Brain Trouble by the Operation.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Friday, June 7.—The Madrid correspondent of The London Times sends this dispatch:

"The operation performed yesterday on Infante Don Jaime was of a somewhat serious character, but the abscess has now been successfully removed. It had invaded the middle ear and threatened the brain.

"The Infante from birth had suffered an affection, which had prevented the normal development of his hearing, and, consequently, speaking faculties.

"It is hoped that after recovery from the operation he may be able to resume the treatment, which during last year he had been receiving at Fribourg."

MILLER AND MOTLEY SAIL.

Accused Men Elude an Extradition Warrant and Start for New York.

LONDON, June 6.—Clark A. Miller and Alfred H. Motley, who were detained here at the request of the American State Department for extradition on charges of larceny, made by the United States Lithograph Company of New York, but were later discharged because certified copies of the indictments and the requisitions were not received within the time limit set by the court, sailed for New York on the Kronprinz Wilhelm from Cherbourg yesterday.

The New York officers who came here after the men obtained a new extradition warrant yesterday afternoon, but Miller and Motley had left three hours earlier. Detective Flood of the New York Police Department cabled his Headquarters asking that the men be detained on their arrival.

German Aviator Is Fatally Hurt.

HAMBURG, June 6.—The German aviator, Gottlieb Rost, was mortally injured while making an aeroplane flight to-day.

PARIS, June 6.—The Aerial Navigation group of the Chamber of Deputies to-day adopted a resolution of sympathy in the death of Wilbur Wright. The President of the group, M. Painleve, will send a message to Orville Wright.

LEUTZE LEAVES NAVY YARD.

He Is Succeeded by Capt. Gleaves and Retires from Active Service.

Rear Admiral Eugene H. C. Leutze yesterday relinquished the command of the Brooklyn Navy Yard and retired from active service. He is succeeded by Capt. Albert Gleaves.

The ceremony of turning over the command yesterday was simple. Admiral Leutze and Capt. Gleaves, with the heads of the yard departments, assembled in the commandant's office. Admiral Leutze read the order directing his retirement and Capt. Gleaves that for his own assumption of command. Admiral Leutze shook hands with the other officers and left for Washington, where he is to live.

LONDON 1812 BALL A WONDERFUL SIGHT

Loveliness of the Setting in the Albert Hall Never Surpassed Within Living Memory.

ALL SOCIETY IS PRESENT

Nobles Wear Costumes of Their Ancestors of a Hundred Years Ago—Americans Take a Prominent Part.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, June 6.—The Royal Albert Hall was to-night the scene of the greatest ball of the season—the Dance of a Hundred Years Ago.

All society was present in splendid costumes, and the loveliness of the setting was never surpassed by any spectacle in London within living memory.

The ball was under the special patronage of the King and Queen, and was organized in aid of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Help Society.

Members of all the most famous families of England appeared in the guise of their ancestors of a century ago. A series of brilliant quadrilles represented the Court, society, Government, navy and army, and clubs of 1812. The Duchess of Richmond's famous dance the night before the Battle of Waterloo was danced again, and the glories of India in the days of the Nabobs were revived. Ladies of the Peerage brought to life pictures of their stately predecessors, and the fashions, uniforms, jewels, and beauties of 1812 glowed once more in a setting representing the lawn before the righton Pavilion in its palmiest days, during the Regency.

American peeresses and society women took a prominent part.

In the Waterloo Dance, arranged by Lady Arthur Paget, many lovely women, wearing Court costumes of the period, were seen. They included the Duchess of Roxburghe as the Duchesse d'Ursel, Mrs. Cecil Bingham as the Comtesse d'Oultremont, Mrs. John Ward as the Comtesse de Latour-Lupin, and the Duchess of Marlborough as Countess Waleska.

Lady Acheson, Lady Curzon, and Lady Maidstone were seen in other dances.

DUCHESS IS RECOVERING.

Connaught's Wife May Be Able to Leave the Hospital in a Week.

MONTREAL, June 6.—The condition of the Duchess of Connaught is reported to be improved, and it is now believed that she will be able to leave the Royal Victoria Hospital in a week's time.

The following bulletin was issued from the hospital early this evening, and it was announced that no further bulletin would be issued unless unexpected developments arose:

> Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Connaught passed a satisfactory day, sleeping a considerable portion of the time and complaining of less pain. Her Royal Highness continues to make satisfactory progress.

The force of medical advisers attending the Duchess was augmented to-day by the presence of Dr. W. F. Hamilton, a local specialist in women's diseases and nervous troubles.

The Duke visited the hospital this morning and remained a couple of hours.

SMELTER STOCK FOR BOURSE

Another Effort Made to Interest the French in American Securities.

PARIS, June 6.—The Banque de Paris et des Pays-Bas and the Société Generale, which have offered 153,500 shares of the preferred stock of the American Smelters' Securities Company to the French public, have made application for the listing of these shares on the Bourse parquet. This represents another effort to interest French capital in American securities.

MR. SHUSTER IN LONDON.

Arrives on His Way to South America—To Continue Journey To-day.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, June 6.—W. Morgan Shuster, formerly Treasurer General of Persia, has arrived in London on his way to South America, where he goes on behalf of the National City Bank of New York with a view to opening branches in several cities.

Mr. Shuster will leave here to-morrow.

BELGIAN RIOTING CONTINUES.

Strikers Now Number 100,000—A Fatal Clash in Luxemburg.

BRUSSELS, June 6.—The agitation among the laboring classes in the Walloon Provinces continues. There are now 100,000 men on strike, but the energetic measures by the authorities are beginning to have an effect.

Less violence was displayed to-day than yesterday, although a number of isolated cases are reported.

At Mons gendarmes arrested fifty strikers, who had stopped the machinery of a colliery, thus preventing the miners from coming to the surface.

The signals on the railroad between Charleroi and Jemeppe have been demolished.

At Charleroi the strikers attempted to force the glass workers to join their movement, but the police dispersed them.

Several acts of mutiny in the Civil Guard are reported.

Bombs were placed at the entrance to the Directors' room of a big Charleroi colliery, but were discovered and removed by a patrol before they exploded.

One man was killed and twenty others were seriously wounded at Musson, a commune in Luxemburg, in a fight between Clericals and Anti-Clericals. Most of the inhabitants participated in the encounter, which lasted two hours.

The Socialist leaders seem to have lost control of the men in part of the Walloon Provinces, where the workmen declare that they wish to avenge their comrades who were killed at Liège.

At a meeting of 20,000 workingmen at La Louvière Socialist orators were hissed when they urged the strikers to return to work.

King Albert and Queen Elizabeth had planned to leave here to-day for Ostend for a stay at the royal villa on the seacoast, but the journey was abandoned because of the political situation resulting from the Socialists' resentment of the Clerical victory in the elections.

WERNHER LEFT $25,000,000.

$2,500,000 for Philanthropic Objects, Including South African University.

LONDON, June 6.—The estate of Sir Julius Charles Wernher, late head of the De Beers Diamond Syndicate, was provisionally sworn at $25,000,000 to-day.

About $2,500,000 is left for philanthropic objects, instead of $15,000,000 as had been reported. Of this $1,250,000 is given to South Africa for the establishment of a university at Grooteschurr, near Cape Town; $500,000 to the Imperial College of Science and Technology at South Kensington, and $300,000 to various hospitals.

PANIC IN OPIUM MARKET.

Stock at Shanghai Worth $10,000,000 Less Than on May 1.

SHANGHAI, June 6.—Panic reigns in the local opium market, the stocks in the hands of the merchants having depreciated in value $10,000,000 since May 1.

The dealers, overburdened with supplies, reiterate the complaints of the Indian merchants that the cultivation of poppies in China is unabated, in violation of the international agreement, while for months past the markets of the interior have been closed illegally against Indian opium.

LONDON STRIKE NOT ENDED.

Employers Apparently Unwilling to Accept Government's Plan.

LONDON, June 6.—The Government is experiencing difficulty in arranging a settlement of the dock strike. Conferences with the various parties throughout today were without result, but will be resumed to-morrow.

The employers, apparently, are unwilling to accept the Government's proposal.

Brethren Sect Retains Plain Dress.

Special to The New York Times.

YORK, Penn., June 6.—Efforts to have the members of the Church of the Brethren change their custom of dressing plainly were defeated at the closing session of the National Conference here today. A paper presented from Southern Ohio asking that the Brethren be allowed to wear neckties was returned.

STUDENTS RIOTOUS AS CARNEGIE SPEAKS

Smash Chairs and Throw Them All Over Hall During Address at Aberdeen University.

PLAY RAGTIME, FIRE SQUIBS

Refuse to Listen to Proposer of Vote of Thanks, but Afterward Heartily Cheer the Lord Rector.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

ABERDEEN, June 6.—Riotous scenes were witnessed to-day when Lord Rector Andrew Carnegie delivered the rectorial address at Aberdeen University.

Over 120 chairs were smashed into fragments. Several times during the delivery of the address Principal Smith had to appeal for quietness. Fragments of the chairs were thrown hither and thither, erratic ragtime tunes were played on various instruments, and when Prof. Souter moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Carnegie the students refused to listen to him.

Legs and pieces of the backs and seats of chairs were thrown from the rear into the body of the hall, then complete chairs followed the fragments as missiles, and at length rows of chairs, held together by long timbers, were raised aloft and hurled forward.

Fireworks were also in use, squibs being thrown forward and exploding.

On the north side of the hall, where the male students were seated, there were originally twenty-two rows of chairs. Fourteen rows disappeared altogether, and what were left resembled a heap of firewood.

Mr. Carnegie was heartily cheered by the students when the proceedings were over. Accompanied by his wife he attended the university sports in the afternoon, and Mrs. Carnegie presented the prizes to the winners.

In the evening Mr. Carnegie was a guest at a dinner given by the University Senators and Court, while Mrs. Carnegie was a guest of Lady Fleming.

To-morrow Mr. Carnegie will be admitted as an honorary member of the Aberdeen Chamber of Commerce. The Carnegies will lunch with the Lord Provost, and a ball will be given in the evening by Sir John Fleming and the students of the university. Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie will go to Skibo Castle on Saturday morning.

AUSTRIAN RULER VIGOROUS.

For First Time in Years Takes Part in Corpus Christi Procession.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

VIENNA, June 6.—For the first time in years, Emperor Francis Joseph participated this morning in the Corpus Christi procession.

There was a brilliant pageant, the procession including members of the imperial house and the highest State and Church dignitaries.

The Emperor impressed the onlookers with his ruddy complexion and elastic bearing. He was looking extremely well, standing erect, refusing a seat during the ceremony in St. Michael's Church, and walking briskly back to the Hofburg.

VENICE TO HAVE A TUBE.

Tunnel to Mainland and to Lido Decided On, Despite Protests.

VENICE, June 6.—The problem of communication between the city and the mainland is about to be solved by the construction of a tunnel from the mainland under the Lagoon, with openings at St. Mark's Square, on the island of La Giudecca, and at the Lido.

The tube will be from seventeen to forty feet below the sea level, and will cost $2,400,000.

The work of the "uglification" of Venice has been proceeding for the last half century despite the protests of those who desire to see this, the most beautiful city in the world, retain its ancient splendor undimmed.

It began with the construction of the two hideous iron bridges, ever one of which passes the railway that connects Venice with the mainland. Then, in 1880, "omnibus" steamers were introduced on the Grand Canal. They are a great convenience to the inhabitants, but they are not picturesque. Now motor boats are becoming so numerous that it is feared that before long they will supplant the gondolas.

But no innovation has been more bitterly opposed than that of the tunnel, which, as the foregoing telegram indicates, has finally been decided upon. It is not asserted that the tunnel will be a very serious disfigurement, and it will certainly be a boon in the hot weather, permitting rapid access to the seashore resort on the Lido; but it is believed by many persons that grave risks will be involved in its construction, and it is declared that the buildings of Venice are too precious to be imperiled even though the chance of damage be of the remotest.

NICARAGUA BOND AGREEMENT

Lien on All Customs—United States May Appoint Collector.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Friday, June 7.—The Nicaragua Committee of the Council of Foreign Bondholders yesterday considered and recommended the adoption of the proposed new agreement for the settlement of the Nicaraguan debt.

The agreement is the outcome of long negotiations, among others with the American bankers associated with the negotiations for the reorganization of the Nicaraguan debt. The agreement will be referred to the Nicaraguan Congress and will, it is expected, be signed by the President by June 25.

The Times says the detailed terms of the agreement will not be published until they have received the assent of a meeting of bondholders, but it is known that the objectionable feature of former proposals by which the principal of the debt was to be scaled down has been eliminated and the bondholders have an absolute lien on the whole of the customs duties of the republic. During the full period of the loan collection the customs will be under the control of a Collector General, appointed or approved by the United States Government.

The definite retention of the revenues for the debt service should, says The Times, thereby be fully assured.

In return for these concessions the bondholders are asked to consent to a reduction of the rate interest from 8 to 5 per cent. In the event of a future issue of the proposed $15,000,000 loan it is understood that provision will be made for the redemption of the existing bonds at the prices of issue in 1909.

BLAMES "AMERICAN SEAT."

Lord Lonsdale Declares This Is What Has Spoiled English Jockeys.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, June 6.—Lord Lonsdale, replying to "Tod" Sloan's indictment of the horsemanship of English jockeys, says:

"It is not the want of pluck or 'nerve' that prevents English boys from riding as well as their predecessors. The fault lies in the adoption of the unnatural 'American seat' with the absurdly short leathers. This practice is playing havoc with riding in this country. The position of the jockey is so unnatural that he must be of abnormal physique to be able to ride properly."

$18.50 to $24.75 MEN'S SUITS $14.75

Macy's Suits are really ready-for-service clothes made to special order.

The purpose of this sale is just to make that fact known to a larger number of men.

In the lot you'll find silk mixed worsted suits that other houses feature at $25.00.

Standard self-striped and shadow-striped blue worsted suits, sold elsewhere at $20.00 and $22.00.

Neat gray mixed and striped worsteds that other houses do not sell under $18.50 at any time.

Half of the suits were formerly in our regular stock lines up to $24.75, supplemented by a lot of fine suits of equal value from one of our regular manufacturers.

The suits are in semi-conservative American models that gracefully outline the waist and shoulders, or in the English models, with the soft, long, rolling lapels and a distinct note from abroad in the cling and curve, with a slight suggestion of adherence to the figure.

Included are special models designed for the man whose lines diverge from the normal. All sizes, from 34 to 44.

In regular stock lines, Blue Serges at $14.75 to $29.75, and Fancy Sack Suits at $18.50 to $38.50.

$2.00 and $2.50 MEN'S STRAW HATS $1.49

Hats that are light and easy fitting, in the newest shapes of crown and brim, at a price that can't be duplicated elsewhere.

Milan and Mackinaw Braids, American Split Braids, and English Sennits, the latter with self-ventilated, cushioned sweatbands, are included in the assortment.

In soft or stiff brims, pencil curl or straight brims.

A complete assortment of other straws in stock at $1.88, $2.49, $2.97, $3.49 up to $24.49. The collection includes blocked Bangkoks, Philippine Paperweight Hats light as tissue paper, and blocked and unblocked Panamas in all the popular shapes.

BIG JERSEY STATION FOR OCEAN WIRELESS

New Marconi Transatlantic Service from Belmar Plant Will Open June 1, 1913.

SECOND STATION PLANNED

Will Permit Sending and Receiving Without Interruption—Marconi System for 480 More Ships.

Contracts were signed yesterday and checks paid by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of America for the purchase of 550 acres of land near Belmar, N. J., intended as a site for a long-distance wireless station to communicate, as already announced in THE NEW YORK TIMES, with London. The land is well situated for building purposes, as it has both water and land transportation facilities right at hand.

In an interview with a TIMES reporter John Bottomley, General Manager of the Marconi Company, said that the plans and specifications for the erection of the towers on this station are now in course of preparation and work will be commenced almost immediately. He hopes to have the new station open for business by June 1, 1913.

"What will the cost of construction be?" he was asked.

"The estimate is from $500,000 to $750,000," replied Mr. Bottomley, "but it may go a little beyond those figures. The land we have purchased on the Shark River has the proper directional situation, and has excellent soil without rocks or gravel or any substance that would have to be removed before work of erecting the station could be commenced. Mr. Marconi will be here in September to superintend the erection work.

Station 6,000 Feet Long.

"We paid a good average price for it as agricultural land. The price amounted to between $125,000 and $140,000, but nearly half of this may be sold again in lots because in order to get a proper site for the construction of the high-power station, 6,000 feet long and 1,500 feet broad, we had to purchase more land than was required. The price must have been at least four times what the farmers paid for it twenty years ago.

"The site in New Jersey was selected after two months' traveling over New York State and Connecticut. It was chosen as being the most suitable in every way. This station will be open in ample time to operate with the station that is now being erected near London by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company, Ltd. With a receiving office in New York and a station nearby to send messages across we expect to make a new era in wireless telegraphy from a commercial point of view. There will be many miles of wire strung between the towers at the Shark River Station, and with the London Station it will be the largest in the world.

Mr. Bottomley added that he had obtained an option on land for a duplex station on Toms River or Barnegat Bay, which will permit sending and receiving at the same time, and he expects that contracts of purchase will shortly be executed.

In explaining the construction of the two Jersey high power stations, Mr. Bottomley said that they will be connected by telegraph and telephone lines, so that the operators may talk to each other and correct any errors. The duplex station, which will receive messages, will be on similar lines to the sending station at Shark River, except that it will not be equipped with the same high power. They will be just far enough apart that the tuning up of each will not interfere with the work of the other station.

On the longitudinal section of 6,000 feet at Shark River will be twelve or fourteen towers, 350 to 400 feet high, to support the aerial wires for messages. Mr. Bottomley could not say exactly how many would be necessary to support the wires, as that will have to be decided later by Mr. Marconi when the plans and specifications are completed.

In addition to the aerial wires there will be a network of underground wires at the stations making what is called electrical earth, and a condition of purchase of the land is that it shall be free from stumps, rocks, or any hard substance that would interfere with the underground wires.

Options have also been obtained, he said, on the Pacific Coast for land on which a high-power station for communication with Hawaii and the Philippines will immediately be erected. There is also an option for a site in Honolulu.

Will Equal Cable Time.

The arrangement of the Marconi Company with the Western Union Telegraph Company, Mr. Bottomley said, will facilitate to a great extent the progress of business, and when these new stations are completed the time of transmission of a message from New York to London will equal that of any cable company.

He also added that the Marconi Company will take over the entire assets of the United Wireless Company early next week with the permission of the courts, and that the infringement on the Marconi patents will be removed and replaced with Marconi apparatus entirely. Thise means that 480 steamships plying the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts will be equipped with the Marconi system in addition to the land stations which have been erected by the United Wireless Company. The United Wireless offices will be moved from 42 Broadway to 27 William Street, where the Marconi Company has its offices. C. C. Galbraith, general manager of the United Wireless, will have charge of the marine department of the Marconi Company when the change is effected.

Mr. Bottomley appeared to be very sanguine for the future of the Marconi wireless business in America. He said that his birthday is on June 9, and that Mr. Sammis, the chief engineer of the company, had promised him that he should receive messages of congratulation on his birthday in 1913 from his friends abroad through the new power stations.

CAN'T LOWER TAXI RATES.

Cabowner Declares No Return Fares Can Be Picked Up in New York.

At a public hearing on taxicab rates before the Special Aldermanic Committee, officials of several taxicab companies testified yesterday that they were losing money under the present rates, and to reduce them would force them out of business.

Simon Kayton, President of the Kayton Taxicab and Garage Company, stated that his company for six weeks tried the experiment of operating taxicabs between 8 A. M. and 6 P. M. at half the rates registered by the taximeters. They lost $5,500 on forty taxicabs. It is only with the greatest economy, he declared, that any money can be made at the present rate of 80 cents for the first mile and 50 cents for each additional mile.

"When we started to operate at a reduced rate," said Mr. Kayton, "our Directors thought that with the reduction well advertised our taxicabs would pick up fares on their return trips, but in all those six weeks we did not get twelve return fares. New York differs from all other cities, particularly those in Europe. Over there the traffic goes in every direction, but here it seems to flow in one direction at certain times of the day. I'll venture to say that out of 1,000 taxicabs that go north after 10 P. M., not 75 get passengers on the way back."

Mr. Kayton said his company paid $8,000 a year for specially privileged stands, but he did not think if this was done away with his profits would be any larger.

George H. Hart, an "independent," who reduced his rate to 30 cents for the first half mile and 10 cents for each additional quarter of a mile, told the committee that he had gone back to the higher rate again.

KILLS POLITICIAN IN ROAD.

After Satisfying an Old Grudge Charles W. Benner Shoots Himself.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., June 6.—Charles W. Adams of Sharpsburg, Superintendent of the National Cemetery at Antietam, was shot dead on the avenue leading from Sharpsburg to Burnside Bridge to-day by Charles W. Benner of Sharpsburg, who then went home and killed himself.

The cause of the shooting is said to have been a grudge Benner held against his victim because of testimony reflecting on Benner's character which Adams gave in court a few years ago.

Adams was 70 years old. He was a doorkeeper in the House of Representatives during the Fifty-first Congress and was the Republican leader of Washington County. Benner was 55 years old.

Workhouse Is a Consumption Breeder

Special to The New York Times.

DOVER, Del., June 6.—The State Board of Pardons to-day held up an application for the pardon of a colored inmate of Newcastle workhouse, who is serving a life sentence and suffering with tuberculosis, in order to investigate the conditions at the workhouse, it having come to the knowledge of the board that many inmates who were healthy when admitted have contracted consumption afterward.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS AS COURT AND JURY

They Put Patrick F. McGowan on Trial for Kindness to 57½ of Them.

FOUND GUILTY IN NO TIME

Feminine Lawyers, Police, and Crier Do Their Duty to the Tune of the Wedding March.

The Washington Irving High School girls showed yesterday what the women will do when they have a chance. They held a mock trial, with Patrick F. McGowan, their chief aid in getting the new school building, in the prisoner's dock.

It seems that when the school had a pageant in January, a pay affair, Mr. McGowan took "fifty-seven and a half varieties of Washington Irving girls," (that was the way the testimony was given,) in free. In other words, he paid their admission fees and thereby "broke, smashed, and pulverized"—more testimony—one of the laws of the school.

The fifty-seven and a half varieties of girls didn't really mind a bit, not even the fifty-seventh and a half girl, who was a witness yesterday, and who was just half as tall again as any of the rest of the fifty-six, so the prisoner was found gloriously guilty, with all honors. The way the girls conducted the trial, as New York's future citizens, was momentous.

The Judge, with powdered wig, spectacles, and black gown; the crier and clerk marched into court to the music of the Wedding March, and the Judge in a stern voice called out:

"Policewomen, bring the prisoner into court."

The two policewomen wore broad bands of green ribbon across their breasts marked in big white letters, "Police." There was nothing masculinely suffragettish about the gentle lady police, but the badge did its work and the prisoner marched in docilely between them, received with tumultous applause.

The twelve good women and true who formed the jury acknowledged willingly to the defendant's lawyer that they didn't know anything at all about the case or anything else, but when the plaintiff's lawyer took exception to them they jumped up as one woman and, with one loud, composite voice, harangued the Judge in their own defense.

The Judge was amenable, and when Ella Michel, the "Head Sniffer of the Washington Irving High School lunchroom," a sniffer of fresh air for the room, took half an hour to tell a long conversation with a friend, including many jokes, she was allowed to get most of it in evidence without a reprimand. One of the jokes was that Mr. McGowan always stands by the school, because "he always stand pat." "But that's no joke," said Ella.

There was only one witness for the plaintiff, and the girls, who wrote their little skit themselves, arranged a pretty feature for this part of the trial.

"Do you know why Mr. McGowan broke the rule?" asked the witness. "It was because he has a heart of gold." Then, pulling the cover from a big screen, she revealed an enormous paper heart of gold upon it. "Do you know what is in that heart?" she continued. "Behold!" Tearing away the gold, she revealed the big heart-shaped opening filled with the heads of some of the prettiest of the Washington Irving girls.

"We are glad to throw up our case and plead guilty," said the defendant's lawyer. "Guilty!" shouted all the women jurors, whom the prisoner had been assured were his peeresses.

"You are sentenced to perpetual confinement in the hearts of your friends," said the Judge. They voted then that the prisoner make a speech. "I am glad," said Mr. McGowan, "that there were fifty-seven and a half girls on the occasion of the pageant, but there is only one kind of Washington Irving High School girl, and she is the best type of American womanhood that can be produced in this or any other country."

Two members of the Saskatchewan Educational Commission, Principals of normal schools of Winnipeg and Regina, W. A. McIntyre and T. E. Perrett, were present. Mr. McGowan said they naturally would consider their schools best, but that none could equal the Washington Irving High School. The girls introduced into the skit many songs, waved their gowans, and made school jokes.

The Judge of the court was Cecelia Goldberg; Clerk, Ida List; Crier, Mary Orrigi; lawyer for defense, Aurelia Brown; for plaintiff, Marguerite Tibesart; police, Louise Vignion and Cecelia Merican; witnesses, Ethel Lang, Marie Devine, Ethel Carstang, Henrietta Lipschnitz, Ella Michel and Sadie Melnick. The jurors were Augusta Fred, Irene Kemp, Eva Lehrer, Ray Garfinkle, Lillian Goldman, Anna Saltman, Hannah Flatow, Emma Frankel, Caroline Schoenhaus, Elizabeth Levine, Lena Ager, and Anna Schniebolk.

LINEN IMPORTS UNDERVALUED

Harry Turtle Held in $15,000 Bail for an Alleged Customs Fraud.

The Federal authorities have begun an investigation of the customs entries of a number of linen importers, on the ground that they have made a practice of undervaluing at the Custom House the goods they have brought in. It is believed that when the investigation is complete the frauds on the Government will be found to amount to nearly $1,000,000.

Harry Turtle of the firm of Turtle Brothers of 55 White Street was arrested yesterday in connection with these alleged frauds, and was arraigned before Commissioner Shields. Special Treasury Agents Williams and Coffee, who investigated the case, reported that they believed that the undervaluations of this firm will prove to amount to more than $100,000. The specific charge brought against Mr. Turtle yesterday accuses him of having conspired to defraud the United States by effecting the entry of twenty-six cases of cotton and linens on Jan. 4, 1910, on a false classification. The invoices, it is alleged, placed the cost of the imported linens at $12,381, whereas they actually were worth $13,000.

Commissioner Shields held Mr. Turtle in $15,000 bail for examination on June 20. He supplied cash bail.

WON'T LET U. S. SEIZE VIOLIN.

Court Decides That Havemeyers May Keep Their Stradivarius.

The heirs of H. O. Havemeyer will not have to give up the Stradivarius Kiesewetter violin, which the Government declared forfeit on the ground that the sugar man had it smuggled into the country at Boston. When the suit for forfeiture was brought i nthe Rederal District Court, counsel for the Havemeyer family set up the claim that the instrument was protected by the statute of limitations.

The decision was in favor of the defendants, but District Attorney Wise took the matter on a writ of error to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. The higher court has affirmed the lower court's decision, and yesterday at the motion of Parsons, Closson & McIlvaine, counsel for the Havemeyer family, Judge Hand directed the filing of the final order, dismissing the Government's suit in the Federal District Court.

RAIN SWEEPS STREET AS SWEEPERS MARCH

Soaking Commissioner Edwards's Men, on Parade, but Doing Their Work.

REVIEWED BY THE MAYOR

Lad of Nine, with Sunny Curls, Drives Tiny Ashcart and Wins Crowds' Cheers.

A rattling downpour of rain swept clean the streets of the city yesterday, while New York's regular street cleaners went marching sturdily, if not gaily, on their annual parade down Fifth Avenue. The glistening, rain-swept streets reflected the rhythmic strides of their "white-winged" legs, the bright red wheels of their newly-painted carts, and the great, slow-stepping legs of the broad, big-chested horses that drew them. It was a bad day for a parade—for any except a parade of the street cleaners. They don't mind the rain. They are used to it. They love it. It works for them, off and on, and was there to do their work yesterday.

Of the city's 7,500 employes in the Street Cleaning Department, more than 4,000 marched in line yesterday. Only those in Queens and Richmond Boroughs took no part in the parade. They were busy helping the rain keep the streets of their home boroughs clean. Besides the white-winged marchers in the parade, there were more than 500 khaki-clad drivers with brand-new-painted, drab-colored carts and great, well-groomed, strong-lunged, broad-backed horses selected for the department by its huge chief, "Big Bill" Edwards.

The parade formed in the side streets and park near Seventy-seventh Street and Fifth Avenue, and started promptly at 11 o'clock. A squad of eight mounted policemen preceded it, with a loud and clamorous brass band. Behind this rode the Grand Marshal, Supt. J. F. Carroll and his aids, Capt. F. J. McSherry of Brooklyn, and Supt. Frank Gannon and Patrick Connelly of Manhattan. Then came sixty khaki-clad Inspectors of the department, who, 364 days in the year, see to it that the city's garbage is properly collected and disposed of.

Then came the rank and file of the street cleaners, Brooklyn Borough men first, because they had furthest to go back after the parade; Bronx next, and Manhattan last. In each division a squad of white-winged marchers was sandwiched in between a squad of drab-colored ashcarts and a flaring brass band. From the start of the parade, at Seventy-seventh Street, past the reviewing stand in front of the Public Library at Forty-second Street, and down to Washington Square, where it disbanded, the long column marched sturdily in the rain for more than an hour and a half, with only two short stops for breathing and rest.

Mayor Reviews the Marchers.

At the reviewing stand Mayor Gaynor viewed the procession. With him in the reviewing box were Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards, Police Commissioner Waldo, Adjt. Gen. Verbeck, Major Gen. John F. O'Ryan, Commander of the National Guard of New York; Col. Francis J. Langdon of the Seventh Regiment, Col. Daniel Appleton, Col. Louis J. Conley of the Sixty-ninth Regiment, President Hibben of Princeton University, President John H. Finley of City College, Job Hedges, Walter C. Booth, Charles Scribner, Dr. George Kunz, R. A. C. Smith, John J. O'Bryan, and Deputy Street Cleaning Commissioners James F. Lynch, James F. Scott, and James F. O'Bryan.

As they passed the reviewing stand the khaki-clad drivers of the ashcarts raised their hands in high and vigorous, if not military, salute. Mayor Gaynor at first acknowledged the queer salute with a smile, while the big Street Cleaning Commissioner, mindful, perhaps, of his recent victory in the ashcart drivers' strike, nodded grimly at the manifestation of loyalty and respect among his new men. Very few of the old men who went on strike are now back in the department.

The Mayor was so much impressed by the discipline manifest in the men's ranks that he sent Commissioner Edwards a letter later in the day congratulating him on his work in breaking in a new force in six months and praising the men's appearance.

By the time the head of the parade column reached the reviewing stand the rain had soaked, darkening, into the khaki uniforms of the ashcart men, and wetted almost to a point of transparency the thin white "blouses and trousers" of the white wings. Even the white helmets they wore were beginning to show yellow under the steady downpour. Nevertheless, they kept marching bravely on, heads erect, arms hanging very stiffly at their sides, legs swinging in long strong strides and perfect time. The lofty brown-clad drivers in the ash carts and garbage wagons lorded it over them from their stand on high, but they looked even more military and certainly worked much harder, as they strode along there under the deluge, with their rain-soaked garments clinging close and cold to them.

The crowd applauded them again and again. It applauded also a score or more of old, gray-whiskered street cleaners who weren't in the parade, but who, with broom and garbage handbag, kept darting in between divisions and cleaning up the street while their younger brothers marched along.

An especial favorite with the crowd was a small khaki-clad boy of 9 or 10 years, standing proudly erect in a drab-colored miniature ashcart, and driving a little big-chested and broad-backed pony. As the little fellow passed the reviewing stand off came his brown leathern helmet, displaying a wealth of sunny curls, and up went his little hand in proud stiff salute. The Mayor saluted in return, and the crowd cheered. It cheered also another little fellow who, trudging at his father's heels, showed what was his own life's ambition by proudly wearing a tiny white wing uniform. The little fellow led by a string a still tinier snow-white poodle which, likewise, seemed destined for a white-wing's life.

Apparatus in Parade.

The rear of the parade was brought up with an odd assortment of automatic street-cleaning apparatus.

The merits of the paraders were judged by five judges in the reviewing stand: Major Gen. O'Ryan, Col. Appleton, Col. Conley, Major Francis J. Langdon, and Job Hedges. A silver shield was offered by Police Commissioner Waldo as a prize for the borough which excelled in general military appearance and department regulations, and there were banners for the borough having the finest appearing horses, and for the borough whose sweepers presented the finest appearance.

Besides these regular prizes, two silver cups were presented by the Gansevoort Market Association, one to the sweepers and one to the drivers of the district in which the market is situated. Individual bronze medals were presented also for efficiency by the Association of Classified Employes of the department, one to each driver of a stable and one to each sweeper of a section which should be judged to have made the best showing in its borough.

The awards were announced in the evening when the street cleaners were the guests of Commissioner Edwards at Sulzer's Harlem River Casino. There they had dancing, a concert, motion pictures, and refreshments.

GATES LEAVING MO. PACIFIC.

Report Follows and Is Denied That Rockefeller Has Sold His Stock.

Frederick T. Gates, Chairman of the General Education Board and John D. Rockefeller's representative on a number of directorates, will resign as a director of the Missouri Pacific at an early date. Mr. Gates was given a place on the board in 1911, when the management was reorganized, and B. F. Bush made president.

When it was learned that Mr. Gates was to leave the Missouri Pacific it was reported that his resignation was made necessary by the sale of practically all of Mr. Rockefeller's stock holdings in that company. This selling was thought to explain last week's break in Missouri Pacific, which carried the price down to 35½. Mr. Gates refused to comment on the report of his resignation last evening, referring inquirers to George Gould, who is now in Europe. He flatly contradicted the report that the Rockefeller stock had been sold, however. Mr. Rockefeller's interest in the railroads, it is said, is mainly due to his investment in Missouri Pacific bonds, his share holdings being relatively small.

An associate of Rev. Mr. Gates explained his decision to retire on the ground that with the resignation of Henry E. Cooper, for many years in the Standard Oil offices, to become a Vice President of the Equitable Trust Company, the almoner's duties having been greatly increased. It was said on the same authority that Mr. Rockefeller believed that the Missouri Pacific was now in safe hands, so that it was no longer essential that his representative should have a place on the board to look after his investments.

JUDGE INTERVENES FOR CHILD

Refuses to Allow Father to Accept Compromise in a Suit.

Judge Green of the City Court refused yesterday to permit Pasquale Rospoli to compromise in a suit brought for the benefit of his daughter Luci to recover $2,000 damages from the Third Avenue Railroad Company for personal injuries.

"If the father of this child will so far neglect her interests," said the Judge, "as to compromise in so good a cause for $325, with the provision that one-third of the sum should go to the attorney, the court will have to interfere in the infant's favor."

Luci Rospoli, who is 13 years old, was run over by an emergency wagon of the company last year. According to the testimony of a physician Luci's leg is still paralyzed, and there is grave danger that her injuries will be permanent. After reviewing the case, Judge Green concluded that the cause of action presentable by the plaintiff was worth more than $200 damages.

FIFTH AVENUE LOSES SPECIAL POLICEMEN

Men Employed by Merchants Are Arrested and Warned to Discard Uniforms.

HAD NO POLICE POWERS

And Were So Unpopular with Labor Men That They Had Regular Policemen Guarding Them.

"A policeman's lot is not a 'appy one." So sings the Sergeant in "The Pirates of Penzance," and certainly the three special policemen appointed by the Fifth Avenue Association, have reason to second this sentiment. Yesterday these three were called into the Yorkville Court, charged by Capt. McElroy of the Tenderloin Station of having violated Section 339 of the City Charter, which says that civilians may not dress like or represent themselves to be policemen. Magistrate Barlow gave it as his opinion that the men could continue to roam Fifth Avenue, but without their uniforms.

In the meantime Robert Greer Cooke, President of the Fifth Avenue Association, said that there was no trouble, that he and Commissioner Waldo were in perfect accord and that the men would go on as before.

"The men were engaged," said Mr. Cooke, "by the merchants who have shops on Fifth Avenue, between Twenty-sixth and Forty-second Streets. That is the reason they are placed in that section, which happens to fall within the Tenderloin Precinct. It happens simply that there are more shops in that part of Fifth Avenue than in any other. They are engaged by a detective agency, but it is the merchants who pay them. They are particularly intelligent men and they are supposed to be of great assistance to shoppers. They can, of course, make no arrests.

"Now these men were stationed with Commissioner Waldo's approval. I wish that you would see him. He and I are in perfect accord in the matter. As far as these arrests are concerned I did not know that they had occurred until to-day, but the men will return to their stations on the Avenue as usual."

Commissioner Waldo had nothing to say for publication. He would neither affirm nor deny President Cooke's assertions.

However, it was learned that certain labor elements in New York have an objection to the detectives because they come from the Burns detective agency. In fact it is said that each of these special policemen has needed the protection of a policeman from the Tenderloin Station, as he felt that his position was a dangerous one. For some time past, it seems, each of them has been guarded in this manner.

Capt. McElroy said last night that he was proceeding in the matter with full authority from headquarters.

"These men cannot usurp the duties of policemen on the avenue," he said. "I have had men watching them for some time and I have had reports that they have asked people to move on. Besides, they wear uniforms and shields with 'special patrolman' inscribed thereon. This is in direct violation of the code.

"There are few cases of larceny on Fifth Avenue, and that special section is better policed than any other section of the city. These men have no powers of policemen, and there is no record of their having tipped off any policemen as to dangerous characters frequenting the thoroughfare. It has been stated that it was intended that they should rid Fifth Avenue of the thugs that are said to infest it, but if such men do infest Fifth Avenue, which I have reason to doubt, these men could do nothing.

"These statements about thugs are particularly frightening to out-of-town visitors, who may imagine that Fifth Avenue is a very dangerous place. I talked the matter over with Mr. Cooke and the other members of the association, and asked them to have the men removed. They failed to do this."

The three specials are Thomas Kelly, Thomas Barrett, and Joseph Ridder. They appeared in court in their uniforms and carrying their caps, upon which are the words "Special Fifth Avenue Service." Capt. McElroy testified that Commissioner Waldo had given the men ten days to cease from patrolling the avenue in special uniforms.

Lawyer Meade appeared for the three specials. He said that one could not be mistaken for a real policeman. Assistant District Attorney Dickinson said he thought there had been a violation of the charter, and he suggested that the specials stop wearing the uniforms until the question had been decided by Mr. Waldo. Agreeing to this, they were paroled for further hearing on June 14.

A police official, in speaking of the Fifth Avenue specials yesterday, said that their day of service was over. Their standing in the community, he said, was the same as that of a floor walker in any department store, merely to impart information.

The Fifth Avenue Association organized the service about two weeks ago.

JAPANESE BRIDE AND PH. D.

Miss Arai Becomes Mrs. Haraguchi on Commencement Day.

Miss Tsuru Arai, who has been spending the last four years at Columbia University, achieved two titles in one day on Wednesday. She became Miss Tsuru Arai, Ph. D., at the commencement in the afternoon. Everybody congratulated her, and there were newspaper articles about her. That same evening, all unknown to her many friends at the university, she took the second degree of the day, emerging from that day of commencements with the additional title of Mrs. Takegiro Haraguchi. She was far prouder of the Mrs. than of the Ph. D. President Francis Brown married them at the Union Theological Seminary on the evening after the university commencement.

She explained laughingly yesterday that she had been engaged "for ever so long." None of the girls at Whittier Hall, where Miss Arai lived, had suspected it. Mr. Haraguchi comes from Ogigun, Sagaken, Japan. His bride comes from Hirosoburo. She is six years younger than her husband.

Mrs. Takegiro Haraguchi, Ph. D., and husband are going back to Japan, where the bride plans to teach for all her Ph. D. is worth. During her course at Columbia she specialized in psychology and philosophy, and she intends to teach those subjects. Takegiro Haraguchi prophesied proudly yesterday that psychology and philosophy would prove the most popular subjects in all Japan.

NEW BUSINESS DIRECTORIES.

Trow Company Issues Two Volumes for Greater New York.

The Trow business directories for 1912 have just been issued for New York City. One volume, the Trow Business Directory of Greater New York, contains the names of all business men, firms, and corporations in the five boroughs. A smaller volume covers Manhattan and the Bronx.

This is the fifteenth year of the Greater New York Directory and the sixty-fifth year for the directory of Manhattan. The names are arranged under an alphabetical list of occupations, trades, and businesses. The Manhattan directory contains a large map of the Boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx. Both volumes are issued by the Trow Directory, Printing and Bookbinding Company of 202 East Twelfth Street.

NO FATAL TRAIN ACCIDENTS.

Cumberland Valley and Long Island Lines Report Flawless Record.

The Cumberland Valley Railroad report, made public yesterday, shows that of the 8,859,203 passengers carried in the five years ending Dec. 31, 1911, not one was killed or injured as a result of a train accident. The railroad extends from Harrisburg, Penn., to Winchester, Va., a distance of 115 miles.

The Long Island Railroad, another part of the Pennsylvania system, has made public figures showing that in eighteen and one-half years not one of the one-third of a billion passengers carried had been killed as a result of a train accident. The official figures show that this road has carried 369,016,054 passengers from June 1, 1893, to Dec. 31, 1911.

MEXICO'S TROUBLES COMPARED TO OURS

Speakers at Dinner to New Ambassador Oppose Any Intervention.

CALERO ASKS PATIENCE

H. W. Taft Hopes Candidates for President Here Need Never Go Into Exile.

The Mexico Society, whose object is to bring about a better understanding and continued peaceful relations between this country and Mexico, gave a dinner at the Hotel Astor last night to Manuel Calero, the new Mexican Ambassador. The keynote of the meeting, struck first of all by the Mexican Ambassador himself and thereafter by each of the other speakers, was a plea for patience in this country for the turbulent trial through which the neighboring republic to the south is passing. Other speakers gave an earnest reminder that the National development of the United States in democratic government was accompanied by such disturbances as are now troubling Mexico and such suggestions of intervention from Europe as are now being made in this country. It was declared that, so far as the United States Government is concerned, the proposition of intervention or breach of neutrality toward Mexico has never for a moment been considered.

Present at the dinner with Señor Calero and other prominent Mexicans were Francisco Madero, father of President Madero of Mexico; Salvador Madero, the President's uncle, and Julio Madero, his brother. Supreme Court Justice Gerard, President of the Mexico Society and one of its founders, was toastmaster, and among the speakers of the evening were Henry W. Taft, John Barrett, director of the Pan-American Union, and Congressman Martin W. Littleton.

Among the others present were: Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Charles B. Alexander, Judge Hoyt, Justice Hendrick and Justice Jenks, Capt. Philip Lydig, Sumner Gerard, Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Hare, John M. Bowers, Dr. George F. King, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Eustis, James Speyer, William F. Sheehan, Phoenix Ingraham, Louis T. Corea, Mr. and Mrs Frank H. Witherbee, Amos Pinchot, Miss Sybil Douglas, Miss Helen Coster, Miss Robbins, Ashbel Barney, Monroe Robinson, Edward Bacon, Señor Algara, Attaché of the Mexican Embassy; Eugene N. Robinson, and Frank A. Munsey.

Justice Gerard, in introducing Ambassador Calero, declared that while the society regretted deeply the necessity which had compelled the former President of Mexico to dwell in exile from his native land, it was no less cordial in its congratulation and good wishes toward the new President, Madero, by whom Señor Calero was sent to this country.

"And now, when we hear so much of trouble and turmoil in the country south of us," he said, "let us remember that it is merely passing through a phase of our own National development—that we, too, had our revolutions after our great War of Independence, before full freedom was accomplished. We will never interfere or intervene with the affairs of Mexico, let us hope, other than commercially; for we need some place where we may ever invest our money in seeking an El Dorado."

Calero Forced to Speak English.

Señor Calero declared that his command of the English language was limited, and asked whether he might speak in Spanish. Trusting his perfect accent far more than his perfervid protestations, however, the diners shouted down the plea, and the Ambassador continued in English:

"The work your society has undertaken deserves the greatest praise for spreading in this country an exact knowledge of what Mexico is, and destroying thereby the false and erroneous exaggerations of the reports that otherwise come here from the South. It is unfortunate that the majority of your people do not share at present your enlightened understanding of the true state of affairs in my land, and that some still have a vague impression of Mexico as a savage country extending south of their own.

"We know you much better than you know us. You have been our teacher in political institutions, and your governmental system has been copied by us and other Latin-American republics. We are even beginning to partake of your practices, and bosses and steam-rolling methods are beginning to make their appearance among us.

"But you are too exacting. Thus, while you compel me to speak to you to-night in English, a language I scarcely know, any of you, if invited to speak at a similar dinner in Mexico, would consider it tyrannical and preposterous to have to talk in Spanish, and would take it for granted that your audience ought to understand your own language. The logical conclusion is that you North Americans will have to learn our Spanish and we Latin-Americans will have to learn your English. What would you think, for example, of one of our newspapers sending up here as a special correspondent a man who spoke and understood not a word of English? And yet that is precisely what some of your papers are doing in order to keep your public informed of the situation in Mexico—sending special correspondents who know not a word of Spanish, and whose reports must therefore necessarily be incorrect and exaggerated and from unauthoritative sources.

Ordeals Might Hove Been Ours.

"Mexico is a country passing through the same ordeals in its strife for liberty and democratic Government that you would have passed through had you not had the advantage of reaping the benefits of all the conquests of liberty made by the English people in five centuries or more of struggles against tyrannical Governments. We Mexicans did not have this advantage. Part of our population—the Indian—which is very numerous and important, had the traditions of the abominable and bloody tyranny of the Aztec Emperors. Spain, which has many titles to the admiration of mankind, implanted in the new colonies a regular and rigid system of despotic government which might prepare the Latin-American population for everything except democratic and free institutions. What you Saxons or English-Americans had obtained as a result of an evolution of many centuries, we Latin-Americans are trying to conquer in less than 100 years.

"The results are simply admirable, and prove the great moral possibilities of the Latin-American peoples, but we have not arrived at such a degree as to make the operation of our constitutional laws normal and regular. Hence the frequent uprisings we have to lament so often in Spanish-America. Hence, too, the present struggle through which Mexico is passing.

"You loyal and sympathetic friends of Mexico must be patient. My country is reconquering a new era of peace. The majority of the Mexican people who exalted President Madero is supporting him. The President is a man of great will and great patriotism. His efforts will soon be crowned with complete success."

John Barrett, the next speaker, assured Señor Calero that the heart of the American people would always be with his country in its struggles to attain democratic government. He reminded his hearers that this country passed through a similar but more terrible revolution from 1861 to 1865, and that for seven years thereafter the newspapers of Europe in long editorials predicted another civil war and soberly discussed the need of European intervention here.

"What would have happened in such a case?" he asked. "Let us not treat Mexico in the same way. Let us not deny her the same chance to work out her own salvation that we insisted on keeping when our own National future was a matter of doubt."

Hopes No Exile Will Come.

Henry W. Taft, brother of President Taft, said he hoped that there was at least so much difference between the way Presidents were made in Mexico and in this country that it might not become necessary for him to escape in exile "in case of a certain event."

"As for this talk of anti-American feeling in Mexico," he said, "I have seen nothing to warrant that. I fear it is due chiefly to defective communication between this country and Mexico. I fear the effort in this country to represent affairs in Mexico correctly has not been very continuous. Peace and neutrality are not very attractive headlines for American newspapers, while war, intervention, Japanese aggression, and the prospective appointment of a Major General to lead the army in Mexico are attractive.

"Yet I may say that it has been the consistent course of this Government ever since the election of President Madero to maintain neutrality and never for a moment seriously to consider intervention in Mexico. The policy has been to let Mexico work out her own salvation, and such, I feel, it will continue to be."

AN ENTIRE HOTEL ON STRIKE.

Guests at Litchfield House Awake to Find Their Host Skipped Out.

Special to The New York Times.

WATERBURY, Conn., June 6.—The Robert Probst Hotel in Litchfield, near Bantam Lake, went out of business so effectually last night that its guests awoke to find not a single person connected with it on the premises. Cook, porter, clerk, and proprietor had all gone.

Mr. Probst took all his belongings and told few people, if any, where he was going. It is known that he had his effects laden on a wagon and set off at night with his wife in the direction of Port Chester, N. Y. The few guests were completely surprised when they awoke and found they were alone in the hotel. There was no one to ask them for their bills and they lost no time in leaving to hunt up breakfast.

INDICT BEAUTY DOCTORS.

Denver Jury Charges Advertisers of Obesity Cure with Misusing Mails.

Special to The New York Times.

DENVER, Col., June 6.—Marjorie Hamilton Cunningham and her husband, Walter C. Cunningham, beauty doctors and advertisers of an obesity cure, were indicted by a Federal Grand Jury to-day on the charge of fraudulently using the mails.

The evidence against them was obtained by Post Office Inspectors of Denver and Washington. More than a score of witnesses were summoned before the jury from all parts of the country to make charges against the Marjorie Hamilton Company—principally women who wanted to reduce their weight.

The defendants, it is alleged, sent out 2,500 letters a day throughout the country, advertising the obesity cure for $15. If the would-be patient was not responsive the price was cut to $1. It is said that the company was making at least $500,000.

Mrs. Hamilton denies any intention to defraud.

SUES FRIEND FOR WIFE'S LOVE

Boyhood Chum of William Fergueson Broke Up His Home, He Says.

William Fergueson of 179 Stuyvesant Avenue, Brooklyn, has begun suit for $50,000 against James Hays of 254 Henry Street, Brooklyn, an old friend of his youth in Scotland, for alienation of his wife's affections.

Fergueson says he lost sight of Hays after both came to this country, but on a visit to his old home he found he was also there. They renewed their friendship, and when Mrs. Hays died about a year ago, Hays invited Mr. and Mrs. Fergueson and their three children to share his big home in Richmond Hill.

Hays and Mrs. Fergueson soon began to go to entertainments together, says Fergueson, while he stayed home and looked after his children. Presently he awoke to the fact that his wife cared nothing for him.

INVITE GERMAN OFFICERS.

Mr. and Mrs. James Speyer Will Give a Garden Party for Them at Waldheim.

BRIARCLIFF LODGE, Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., June 6.—Mr. and Mrs. James Speyer will entertain the officers of the German squadron at their country place, Waldheim, Scarborough-on-the-Hudson, next Wednesday. The German and American officers will come up the Hudson River by yacht in time for luncheon.

In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Speyer will give a garden party at Waldheim. Among the guests expected are the German Ambassador, Count von Bernstorff, and Mayor Gaynor and Mrs. Gaynor of New York. This is the only private function the German officers will attend during the visit of the fleet to this country.

Wedding Invitations Suddenly Recalled by ex-Secretary and Miss Newberry and No Explanation Given.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, June 6.—Invitations to the wedding of Miss Carol Newberry and Capt. W. H. Alleyne of the Queen's Own Regiment, stationed at Hamilton, Bermuda, were recalled to-day by ex-Secretary and Mrs. Truman H. Newberry, parents of the bride to be. The ceremony was to have taken place in church June 18, with a lawn reception following at the Newberry residence.

Capt. Alleyne, who came here Tuesday on the Newberry yacht from Buffalo, had been stopping at the Country Club as the guest of the Newberrys. He left here yesterday afternoon for New York.

During his stay here he and Miss Newberry were entertained socially, and several other functions had been arranged in their honor.

Invitations to a dinner and reception to be given last evening in honor of Miss Newberry by Mrs. Sidney T. Miller were suddenly recalled at noon, the explanation being that Miss Newberry was indisposed. More than 800 invitations had been issued for the wedding.

Miss Newberry and Capt. Alleyne first met last Winter in Bermuda, where the Newberrys were visiting, and the match is said to have received the particular sanction of Mrs. Newberry.

The ceremony promised to be one of the events of the season. Miss Helen Joy had been chosen as bridesmaid; Miss Marjorie Mellish was to have been maid of honor, and Mrs. Ernest Baker and Mrs. Lucien Moore had been selected as matrons of honor. Cept. Alleyne had not chosen his best man.

A large number of presents for the couple had already been received at the Grosse Pointe residence of the bride.

Capt. Alleyne is 36 years old and Miss Newberry is 24. According to some of Miss Newberry's friends, she made up her mind within a few weeks to break the engagement and intended to tell her fiancé when she went to Buffalo on her father's yacht to meet him.

The first announcement of the engagement of Miss Newberry to Capt. W. H. Alleyne was printed in THE NEW YORK TIMES on March 20, coming in a wireless message from Bermuda while Miss Newberry was on her way to New York on the Royal Mail steam packet Arcadian. It was confirmed by her father, who was formerly Secretary of the Navy, and who met his daughter at the pier the following day. He said:

"Capt. Alleyne is a fine specimen of the British army officer and I like him. He is a crack polo player, and has served nine years in the army in India. The Captain is about 32 years old. After the wedding my daughter will reside in Bermuda with her husband."

Capt. Alleyne arrived here Monday on the Orotavia from Bermuda, and declared to the immigration officials that he had come to get married and would be in Detroit until June 18 and then sail for England with his bride to visit his family.

The Queen's Own Regiment is famous in the annals of the British Army as the "Buffs," so named on account of the color of the facings on the uniforms. Three American girls have married officers of this regiment since it has been quartered in Bermuda.

THINKS SHIPS SAFE ENOUGH.

White Star Man Doubts the Usefulness of More Boats and Searchlights.

LONDON, June 6.—The disaster to the steamer Titanic has done little to alter the views of Harold A. Sanderson, a director of the White Star Line, as to the sufficiency of the present equipment of transatlantic steamers for all practical purposes.

The shipping man, when recalled by the Wreck Commission to-day, disputed the usefulness of additional lifeboats, searchlights, binoculars and larger crews of seamen, but he added:

"There is a popular cry for binoculars and extra boats, and we want to satisfy it.

"There are," continued Mr. Sanderson, "certain risks coming from the sea which it is impossible to eliminate, just as there are on land."

The witness emphasized the fact that small boats were carried only for the purpose of transferring persons from ship to ship, or from ship to land, and said that if more seamen were carried to man additional boats, they would have nothing to do until there was a wreck. Searchlights, he declared, would be "worse than useless. They would be a positive source of danger. The worst thing possible for a lookout is the glare of light."

Questioned regarding the space given up for accommodation of wealthy passengers, Sanderson replied:

"If there were anything more that we could do to insure the safety of passengers, the millionaires' suites would not stand in the way."

He attributed the greater loss of life among the third class passengers of the Titanic to the fact that the best position for launching the boats happened to be nearest the first and second class quarters.

Mr. Sanderson said that sixty boats would be required to accommodate all the passengers and crew of the Titanic.

"Such a number," he added, "would be ridiculous, and I do not think it would be possible. It would make the ship tender. In the interests of public safety I think it is not necessary and not wise that there should be boatage accommodation for every passenger and member of the crew."

MIDDLETOWN STRIKERS RIOT.

Attack Police at Russell Company's Mills, Near Hartford.

Special to The New York Times.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 6.—The Industrial Workers of the World employed by the Russell Manufacturing Company in Middletown, who went on strike yesterday, began rioting to-day. The first show of violence was when a crowd of infuriated women, who were interfering with men and women who remained at work, attacked the policemen from Hartford who had been sent down on a special trolley car. During the mêlée, which took place near the company's office at South Farms, a policeman's hand was sprained and his uniform torn.

At the suggestion of Gov. Baldwin the Chief of the State Police will reinforce the Deputy Sheriffs and the Hartford and Middletown policemen, and, if necessary, the Middletown Company of the National Guard will be ordered out.

The employes were not permitted to leave the factory at noon. To-night horns and cowbells greeted the loyal workers as they left the plant. The strikers were organized less than a week by Walter Eggeman and others who achieved notoriety at Lynn and Lawrence, Mass. The Russell Company refuses to treat with them. The company's seven mills are running, though every department is somewhat affected.

About 300 are out, two-thirds of whom are Italian women. The officers of the Industrial Workers' say there are six hundred out and that the Germans and Poles will go out to-morrow morning, when they intimate there will be a serious demonstration against the authorities.

Six Hartford policemen will go to Windsor Locks to-morrow morning to guard the American Writing Paper Company's mills which have locked out strikers in that town.

SUGARMAKING HURT BY GOVERNMENT SUIT

President of Great Western Says Makers Are Refusing to Extend Business.

PEOPLE ASKING FACTORIES

And Have Not Got the Capital to Build for Themselves—Price of Beets Advanced.

Chester S. Morey, President of the Great Western Sugar Company, in setting before Special Examiner Wilson B. Brice the Sugar Trust's side of the development of the beet sugar industry in Colorado, in the Government suit against the American Sugar Refining Company and other defendants, said yesterday that it was such proceedings as these that hindered the development of the industry. Cross-examined by Charles W. Waterman, his own counsel, Mr. Morey was asked about the factories for the preparation of sugar from beets in Montana.

"We would be erecting two other factories there right now," replied Mr. Morey, "if things were right. We are refusing beets at Billings, and must do so, just because of such suits as this and the tariff agitation. I am against putting up an additional dollar while questions such as are involved in this suit are in agitation."

"Could you get the beets for these factories?" asked Mr. Waterman.

"We have been forced to turn away offers of 10,000 acres of beets this year because the Billings plant can't handle more than it does!"

"Do the people of Montana want to go into beet culture?"

"I have requests from several localities in that State to put up factories, and the people of Yulesberg, in the extreme northeastern corner of Colorado, on the Union Pacific, want one, too."

The witness in his testimony emphasized the fact that the erection of the sugar factories at Billings, Mon.; in Morgan County, Colorado, and at Scottsbluff, Nev., by the Great Western Company, which already had six factories in Northeastern Colorado, was due to the requests of the people of those places, who were unable to finance their own factories.

"Couldn't Billings erect its own plant?" asked Mr. Waterman.

"No; the only local capital we could get was a subscription of $50,000. No Western city the size of Billings can put up a sugar factory."

At Scottsbluff, Nev., it appeared, the community subscribed only enough money to be the equivalent of a free site.

Mr. Morey also spoke of the gradual advance in the prices paid the farmers for their beets. The Great Western Company used to pay $5 a ton for beets at Scottsbluff, but last year it canceled these contracts and agreed to $5.25 on a guaranteed aggregat delivery of 125,000 tons. This year the rate is $5.37½ for 135,000 tons and $5.50 for 150,000 tons. At Billings the rate in 1910 was $5.90 for 120,000 tons, and last year $5.99 for 181,000 tons.

Mr. Morey will be on the stand again this morning.

MAKES SCHLEY PENSION $50.

House Committee Objects to Proposed $150 Grant to Admiral's Widow.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Senator Rayner's bill for a pension of $150 a month for Mrs. Annie R. Schley, widow of Rear Admiral Schley of Maryland, struck a snag in the House committee to-day.

The committee is opposed to giving more than $50 a month to a widow, and invoked the rule against the measure, reporting the Senate bill with an amendment reducing the amount from $150 to $50.

CARPETS CLEANED

Alterations Made

THE cleaning of Carpets and Rugs is a business in which we have had many years of experience. Our technical knowledge of the weaving process of each grade of carpets and rugs is of great importance when the question of cleaning arises. The method applicable to one weave would be ruinous to another.

We guarantee to clean carpets and rugs thoroughly and properly. We also store them and pack with moth preventives. No extra charge is made for fire insurance.

Carpets altered, remade and relaid promptly and carefully.

JOHN LANE CO. TAKES IN MOFFAT, YARD & CO.

Book Publishing Concerns Now Housed Under the Same Roof, but Not Wholly Merged.

HAVE SAME SALES MANAGER

And Walter A. Johnson, the Lane Company's Vice President, Also Becomes Treasurer of Other Company.

The well-known publishing houses of the John Lane Company and Moffat, Yard & Co. have been merged to the extent that the financial and business interests of the latter company hereafter will be looked after by Walter A. Johnson, managing director and Vice President of the John Lane Company, who has become the Treasurer and a Director of Moffat, Yard & Co. The latter concern has vacated its offices at 31 East Seventeenth Street and now occupies an office on the sixteenth floor of the building at 116-120 West Thirty-second Street, where the John Lane Company has a suite of offices on the eleventh floor. The only line that separates the two concerns seems to be the narrow editorial line. This branch of the work is to be carried on in independent fashion by each company.

The officers of Moffat, Yard & Co. are W. D. Moffat, President; Robert S. Yard, Vice President, and J. H. Coit, Secretary. Mr. Coit also was Treasurer until he was succeded by Mr. Johnson. Mr. Yard has not been actively interested in the concern for some time. The catalogues of the company for the current year has been issued. It contains a list of more than 300 books, besides a number of tracts.

The John Lane Company is an old and successful concern. Its officers are John Lane, President; Walter A. Johnson, Vice President; Henry B. Hamer, Treasurer, and J. Jefferson Jones, Secretary. Mr. Moffat of Moffat, Yard & Co. prepared this statement of the new arrangement between the two concerns for THE TIMES: It was read and O. K.'d by Mr. Johnson:

"Moffat, Yard & Co. have changed their address from 31 East Seventeenth Street, where they have conducted their business for the last six years, to 116-120 West Thirty-second Street.

"They will share offices with the John Lane Company. This does not mean a combination of the business of the two firms in any sense, but is simply an association for mutual advantages.

"The general office work and the sales management of the John Lane Company and the Moffat, Yard & Co. publications will be conducted by the same staff. The books of both companies will be offered to the trade by the same force of salesmen.

"The editorial work of the two companies will be entirely independent and carried on in separate offices.

"The business of the two firms will be quite separate and distinct, but they will be closely allied.

"Mr. Walter A. Johnson, the Managing Director of the John Lane Company, becomes the Treasurer of Moffat, Yard & Co., and one of its Directors, and the business management of the company will be in his hands."

RIFLE PRACTICE HALTED.

Bullets from Blauvelt Range Were Falling Into Nyack.

Rifle practice was temporarily discontinued yesterday at the State's new range at Blauvelt, by order of Major Gen. John O'Ryan, following many protests from the citizens of Nyack, who have been terrorized during the past few days by the ricocheting bullets. Every effort will be made to overcome this defect, so that the practice may be resumed.

The field artillerymen were on the range with their revolvers on June 1, and after them came the Eighth District Coast Artillery with nine companies, the Ninth District with ten companies, and finally the Thirteenth District wth twelve companes. Lieut. Col. N. B. Thurston, chief ordnance officer, has been in charge of the rifle practice, and he believes that by reducing the powder charge to a 700-yard trajectory, instead of the 5,000-yard that was being used, will overcome the difficulty.

Highway Medal for Thomas Lorenz.

TRIAL ON HUGHES WILL.

Jury to Determine Competence of Widow of Railroad Man.

The will of Louise Beauchamp Hughes, widow of David M. Hughes, builder of the Second Avenue Railroad, which has been in litigation almost continuously since her death, in 1907, is the subject of a trial which began yesterday in the Supreme Court before Justice Greenbaum and a jury. Surrogate Cohalan handed down a decision on Aug. 14, 1909, upholding the will, which disposed of about $400,000 worth of property, and dismissing objections against it.

The Appellate Division was then appealed to by the contestants and ordered a jury trial of the questions of incompetence and undue influence raised against the will. The will contested was made Nov. 17, 1902. Just prior to its execution, which was at the Park Avenue Hotel, Mrs. Hughes had been released from a sanitarium at Riverdale, where she had been committed for nervous ailments. On December 12, a Sheriff's jury pronounced her incompetent to manage her own affairs, and the Supreme Court appointed a committee for her. She was then 80 years old.

The habeas corpus on which Mrs. Hughes was at liberty during the period she made the will, was procured by David Michele Grasse, a son of her husband, and a servant, who had been in her employ in Italy. It was testified before Surrogate Cohalan that Hughes had enjoined his wife to treat David and his brother as his sons. Grasse got a bequest of $50,000 under the will. A previous will, made in 1899, left $120,000 to nephews and nieces of Mr. Hughes. The trial will continue to-day.

$4,000 FOR WIFE'S LOVE.

Jury Awards Damages to Man Who Brought Alienation Suit.

John A. Walsh, who sued Frank P. Sheehy of the Bronx for $100,000 damages, alleging that Sheehy had alienated the affections of his wife, Mrs. Mary A. Walsh, won a verdict of $4,000 from a jury before Justice Kelly in the Queens County Court yesterday.

Walsh, who accused Sheehy, lives at 31 Hunters Point, Long Island City, and was formerly an insurance broker, says that his wife disappeared on Aug. 15, 1906, and that he lost his business and health as an indirect result of her desertion.

GIRL HELD FOR KIDNAPPING.

Stella Rubin, Who Took Sophie Weisberg, Breaks Down in Court.

Stella Rubin, the young girl who kidnapped five-year-old Sophie Weisberg from in front of her home, 305 West 145th Street, on Monday night and returned the child Wednesday night, was held without bail for the action of the Grand Jury by Magistrate O'Connor in the Harlem Court yesterday.

The girl broke down when she was arraigned and shouted that it was only love for the little girl which made her kidnap the child. She cried out that she had bought the very clothes in which the little girl was garbed in court. She had to be assisted from the stand when Magistrate O'Connor announced that he must hold her.

RECORD FOR TELEGRAPHING.

Western Union Transmitted 715,000 Words on Day Carpathia Arrived.

The flood of telegrams received at and sent from New York on April 18, the day of the arrival of the Carpathie with the survivors of the Titanic, represented a total of 715,000 words, a new record for telegraphic communication for the Western Union Telegraph Company. The total transmissions included private messages, official communications, news dispatches, and other communications.

The highest record for one day's transmission previously made was during the Republican convention in 1908, when the total reached 433,000. Of the 715,000 words transmitted on April 18, 45,000 were sent to Europe.

DOG WILD IN RIDING SCHOOL.

Stubborn Owner Is Arrested and Policeman Kills the Dog.

John Gaynor, an old stableman, employed at the Central Park Riding Academy, took a big white bulldog, which he called Jerry, to work with him yesterday morning, and immediately there was trouble in the stable, for the dog snapped and snarled at every one who approached him, and soon had everybody in the vicinity in a panic.

Gaynor refused to leave or to allow his dog to be tied up, and when the dog tried to get into the riding ring, where several women were receiving instruction in riding, he frightened the women so badly that some of them insisted on leaving the ring and retiring to safety inside the academy.

Mr. Heinaman, the proprietor, tried to persuade Gaynor to give up his dog, and finally telephoned to the police. Sergt. Duane came from the West Forty-seventh Street Station and remonstrated with Gaynor. The old man was surly, and finally Duane knocked from his hand the leash which he had fastened to his dog's collar. As the dog sprang at him the policeman fired two shots, both of which struck the dog. The dog got out of the academy and ran.

Gaynor fought with Duane until the policeman overpowered him and took him to the station house, and afterward to the West Side Court. Magistrate McQuade fined Gaynor $5 on a charge of intoxication and, as he could not pay, he was sent to jail.

BRILLIANT LANE NOVELS.

MANALIVE

By GILBERT K. CHESTERTON, author of "The Innocence of Father Brown," etc. "An American essayist of great brilliancy and exceedingly rigid literary standards was talking of G. K. Chesterton's Manalive. The direct question was put to him. 'Chesterton is no longer a novelty. He has written enough to enable one to assign him a definite place in contemporary English literature.' 'In your mind, how high is this place? How do you appraise him?' 'At the very top.' 'And will this be permanent?' 'More permanent than that of Robert Louis Stevenson or Rudyard Kipling.'"—The Bookman. Frontispiece and jacket illustration by WILL FOSTER. Decorated cloth, $1.30 net. OUT TO DAY
ELSIE LINDTNER

A sequel to "The Dangerous Age." By KARIN MICHAELIS STANGELAND. Elsie Lindtner, who in "The Dangerous Age" divorced her husband and started on a trip around the world, in this sequel gives up traveling and goes to America. Here, yielding one day to an unexplained impulse, she adopts a ragged street urchin. All her motherly instincts are awakened and all the woes of the world pale into insignificance. The child is to her the present and the future. Decorated cloth, $1.20 net. Postage, 10 cents.

The DANGEROUS AGE

Europe and America went mad over "The Dangerous Age." Edition after edition has been required to meet the demand. "The most sincere, the most complete, the most humble and the most disquieting feminine confession that has ever been written," writes the eminent French critic, Marcel Prevost. Translations have appeared in fourteen different languages. Cloth, $1.20 net. Postage, 10 cents

MORE PANAMA LAND IS TAKEN FOR CANAL

Area Which the Gatun Lake Will Overflow Is Added to Zone—More May Be Needed.

TREATY PERMITS ADDITION

Efficiency of Goethals's Force Is Cutting Expense—Proceeds of Bond Issue Are Exhausted.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The United States is acquiring a large addition to the Canal Zone under the second article of the treaty of 1903, by which the Republic of Panama ceded to the United States the ten-mile zone for the purposes of the canal, and also agreed to release control of all land adjoining the zone that later might become "necessary and convenient for the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation, and protection" of the canal.

It was not known at the time just how much land might eventually be required for canal purposes. When the plans were completed it was apparent that the overflow from Gatun Lake and its tributaries would extend outside of the ten-mile strip. By public proclamation the President of Panama has already announced that his Government claims no jurisdiction over the area embracing more than seventy square miles covered by the rising waters of the Gatun Lake and the Trinidad, Chagres and Gatun Rivers.

All the territory which is likely to be overflowed is now being depopulated. The United States police are patroling the region, and before the land is covered by water more than 300 native houses will be wrecked or removed. The 87-foot contour level has been staked out, and the inhabitants know just how far the jurisdiction of this Government will extend.

The treaty also provides that all land needed for auxiliary canals or other works of the Panama Canal shall pass into the control of the United States, and it is likely that a considerably larger tract will pass to the United States when the lake has risen to its normal level.

Announcement was made to-day that the proceeds of the canal bonds of 1961, issued less than a year ago, have been spent. Secretary MacVeagh to-day disbursed $1,000,000, which not only exhausted the proceeds of the bonds and their premiums, but also deducted $559,000 from the general fund of the Treasury.

The construction of the waterways, like ordinary expenses of the Government, it is expected, will be borne by receipts from customs and internal revenue for months to come. If necessary, Secretary MacVeagh could issue $136,307,000 in canal bonds at once. That amount has been spent out of the general fund and is reimbursable by bonds. The cost of the waterway, it is estimated, will be $375,200,980, and of this $274,908,000 has been expended.

Canal affairs caused a lively set-to in the House to-day when consideration of the Sundry Civil bill was resumed. Charges were made that the appropriation for the Panama Canal had been cut $16,700,000 on "secret" information obtained by the Appropriations Committee and not divulged to the House. Members of the committee admitted the charge was true, but said the information was received at an informal gathering of members of the committee.

"Such action is unfair," said Mann, the minority leader. "All testimony on which the action of the committee was based should appear in the printed record."

Representative Fitzgerald, Chairman of the committee; Page of North Carolina, and Sherley of Kentucky defended the committee. The so-called "secret testimony," they said, consisted of an informal chat with Col. Goethals. Speaker Cannon was present during part of the conversation, Mr. Fitzgerald said, but Mr. Cannon insisted that nothing was said during his presence that could account for the sharp reduction made.

Explaining the reasons for the cut, Mr. Page said that many canal employes had been discharged within the last six months and the force retained had developed an efficiency "beyond the expectations of even the most sanguine."

FOR MAKING LINERS SAFER.

Naval Authorities and Senators Discuss Remedies for Wreck.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Government naval authorities and others entered into a discussion with the Senate Committee on Commerce to-day on legislation proposed as a result of the Titanic disaster. The questions of double bottoms for steamers, continuous wireless service, sufficient life-saving apparatus to care for all on board, and a score of other subjects were covered in the consideration of several bills introduced in both houses.

Rear Admiral Hutch I. Cone of the Navy Bureau of Construction, Eugene T. Chamberlain, Commissioner of Navigation; Capt. I. N. Hibbard of San Francisco, Superintendent of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, and others argued for a standard for the construction of American ships. Capt. Hibbard pointed out that there was no regulation of the United States that prohibited a ship made of tin from going to sea, providing she had the necessary life-saving equipment. Rear Admiral Cone urged the necessity of double bottoms, referring to the accident that befell the new battleship Arkansas on her recent trial trip. A general bill is expected to be passed at this session.

TAFT AT NIXON FUNERAL.

Body of the Nevada Senator Is Taken West for Burial.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Funeral services for Senator George S. Nixon of Nevada were held here to-day. President Taft and scores of members of both houses of Congress attended.

At the conclusion of the brief ceremonies the body of the late Senator was put on a train for his home at Reno, where other services will be held.

The following were designated by the Senate and House to accompany the body to Nevada: Senators Newlands, Bailey, Works, Heyburn, Brown, Curtis, Oliver, Chamberlain, Swanson, Clark of Wyoming, Fall, and Ashurst; Representatives Roberts, Langham, Bowman, Raker, Hamilton of West Virginia, Dyer, Ruby, Gould, Murray, Greene, Langley, Young of Kansas.

TO CONFER ON MEXICO.

Ambassador Wilson to See Knox and Discuss Neutral Zone Monday.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson will be in Washington on Monday, having been called here by Secretary Knox primarily to confer in regard to expediting the determination of the numerous claims by Americans for loss of life or damage to property along the international boundary in the Madero revolution. Secretary Knox has no criticism to offer as to the attitude of the Mexican Government in regard to their disposition. He says that there is every reason to think that the Madero administration is endeavoring to adjust them fairly, and will duly pay all that may be justly due.

While Mr. Wilson is here the policy to be pursued with regard to future outbreaks on the Mexican border, threatening life and property in the United States and requiring the use of troops by this Government to maintain order, will be considered. The most effective safeguarding of the border thus far suggested, it is believed, is the proposal of a neutral zone, in which the regular forces of either country may enter to deal with outlaw bands and revolutionary organizations. It is suggested that this zone be from ten to thirty miles wide and that as far as possible the Mexican Government should garrison points to cover it effectively and meet any emergency.

Secretary Knox said to-day that Mr. Wilson's visit here would also relate to the consideration of a number of other questions arising out of the two revolutions, and it was hoped that all of them could be disposed of satisfactorily to both countries.

SANDERSON, Texas, June 6.—A posse of Terrell County ranchmen is marching toward the border in an attempt to head off a band of Mexicans, who are said to have stolen a herd of horses from ranches in this section.

Renewal of the bandits' activities on this side of the border is ascribed to the withdrawal of United States troops who may have been patrolling the international line.

FIGHT ON MONK'S WILL.

Judgment Annulling Priest's Bequest to His Order Is Contested.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—In order to save religious orders, particularly of the Catholic Church, from threatened disintegration, attorneys of the Order of St. Benedict of New Jersey will ask the Supreme Court of the United States to-morrow to review the recent decision of the eighth United States Circuit Court of Appeals that the agreement of a monk to convey all his property to his order was void and against public policy.

The decision was made in the case of Father Augustin Wirth, for fifty years a member of the Benedictine Order, and at his death a priest of a German church society at Springfield, Minn. The court held that his relatives rather than the order, to whom he had made vows of chastity, poverty, and obedience, were entitled to the $5,000 property in his name when he died.

"If carried out to its full extent," the review attorneys say, "the decision may eventually dissolve or disintegrate the temporal organization of the church orders."

COTTON TARIFF REPORT LOST

House Committee Minority Vainly Search for It and Dalzell.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The minority members of the House Ways and Means Committee were concerned to-day to find, just before adjournment of the House, that the minority report on the Democratic Cotton Tariff Revision bill had disappeared. This was the last day under the rules on which the dissenting report could be filed. Representative Payne of New York, ranking member of the committee, begged the House to be magnanimous and extend the time one more day.

"Mr. Dalzell has the report," he said pleadingly, "and he has disappeared. We have been unable to find him."

Representatives Payne and Longworth of Ohio had been vainly searching for the Pennsylvania member throughout the Capitol and the House office building. They faced the possibility of having the cotton measure go before the country apparently on a unanimous committee report.

The House allowed another day in which to find Mr. Dalzell and the missing report.

END NEWSPAPER UNION SUIT.

Attorney General Wickersham Seeks a Friendly Settlement.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Negotiations between the Department of Justice and the Western Newspaper Union to reach a friendly settlement of the Government's anti-trust investigation of that company were begun to-day.

The question of an agreement to square the corporation with the Sherman law, in accordance with the Government's views, was discussed at a conference between Attorney General Wickersham, his assistant, Mr. Fowler, and representatives of the Union.

The concern supplies ready printed insides and "boiler plate" to country newspapers all over the country. The Attorney General has been investigating its business through W. T. Chantland, his special assistant.

NEW SUPERVISING ARCHITECT

Oscar Wenderoth of This City Succeeds J. K. Taylor.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Oscar Wenderoth, of the firm of Carrere & Hastings of New York, was selected by Secretary MacVeagh to-day as supervising architect of the Treasury Department to succeed James Knox Taylor, who resigned yesterday.

Mr. Wenderoth was associated with Elliott Woods, superintendent of the Capitol, in the construction of the Senate and House office buildings. He was connected with the supervising architect's office for six years. Mr. Wenderoth will assume his duties on July 15.

LORIMER SILENT A WHILE.

Illinois Senator Won't Speak Until All Arguments Are Made.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Senator Lorimer of Illinois plans not to speak in defense of his seat in the Senate until practically all other speeches on both sides have been presented.

All efforts have failed to induce him to resign to avoid what some Senators have told him is certain defeat, after a careful canvass of the situation. Senator Lorimer insists that whatever he has to say will be said to the Senate. He has made notes frequently during the speech of Senator Kern of Indiana. Senator Kern expects to conclude his speech against the Illinois Senator to-morrow.

THINK A GHOST TOOK KOSCIUSZKO'S SWORD

So the Poles of Yonkers Are Not Sure They Want to Catch the Thief.

STATUE ON HAUNTED GROUND

Work of Vandals Recalls a Long Series of Mysterious Happenings on the Copcutt Estate.

When their unveiled Tadeusz Kosciuszko in bronze on a pedestal 20 feet high in front of St. Casimar's Convent in Yonkers on Memorial Day the Polish patriot leaned on a huge sword. To-day he still leans a trifle forward, but has rather the appearance of being about to topple over. The sword is gone.

What any one should want with a bronze sword as large as the one the patriot leaned upon is an interesting puzzle to everybody in Yonkers except the members of the various Polish societies who subscribed for the statue. They don't care what ambition the missing sword may have satisfied, but they most earnestly desire to recover it and to trap the person who took it.

Rewards which aggregate more than $1,000 have been offered, and each night since Monday, when the sword disappeared, there have been a dozen or more sturdy members of some Polish society waiting behind the trees outside the convent in the hope that the purloiner of the sword may return for other detachable parts of the statue.

But there is a nervousness on the part of the watchers, which is not usually apparent in their manner, and it has been with some relief that they have seen each dawn since Tuesday arrive with no visitation to disturb them in the night. For they half suspect that they are waiting for a ghost.

There are many who more than suspect, who are certain, in fact, that no human hand removed the big sword, and they are not among the watchers, for they point to the fact that the statue stands directly over the spot where John B. Copcutt, dead these dozen or fifteen years, but once a well-known resident of the big rambling building which is now the convent, appeared one night some six years ago and cautioned the man who dwelt in his old home that the place was accursed.

Copcutt, once a wealthy manufacturer, lost his family when still a young man, and for years occuupied the big house on Nepperhan Road, with only Jeremiah Linehan, his old coachman, for companion. Linehan died beneath a huge tree which fell on him in 1877, and thenceforth until his death Copcutt lived alone in the house.

The big place was quuickly rented after his death, but the first tenants, and after them the second and third families who went to dwell in the house, moved after short intervals, and finally the place came to be considered haunted. Then Frederick Drew Hughes took the house and opened it to lodgers.

Hughes gave it up in 1906, and told his friends that Copcutt had appeared to him one midnight in the library, warning him that the place was under a curse. The next morning five of Hughes's dogs were found dead in the cellar and the sixth had disappeared. The dumbwaiter began to run up and down at midnight, and though Hughes clung to the rope it was pulled through his fingers.

Then he saw Copcutt and old Linehan drive around the place one midnight. Next he met Copcutt in the yard and was warned again to leave the place, as it had become the abode of spirits. The trees would die if he stayed, Hughes says Copcutt told him, and when they began to wither he left.

Members of the Polish Catholic Church of St. Casimar, which adjoins the old estate, became so nervous that they began to neglect night services until Father Joseph Dworzak bought the Copcutt property, publicly blessed it, and turned it into a convent. From that day no more was heard of the ghost until last Monday night.

Then the nuns were awakened by strange noises and saw figures flitting about in the garden. In the morning the sword was gone. Instantly the old tales of the ghost were revived, and, though there are many who scoff by day, there are few who of nights are willing to stand vigil beside the broken statue.

REPORT EACH OTHER MISSING

Milwaukee Couple Have a Night of Worry After a Missed Appointment.

Mrs. Frank M. Davis of Milwaukee, forty-three years old, considered herself until yesterday perfectly able to find her way alone through the show places of any American city. Before attempting to see the sights of New York she had successfully encountered the difficulties of unconducted tours through Buffalo, Detroit and Wilkesbarre, and made light of assurances from her husband, a busy business man, that she had better have a guide in her efforts to do Manhattan.

Mrs. Davis made her initial visit to the Aquarium on Wednesday morning and Central Park in the afternoon. The park visit was scheduled to close at 4 o'clock, when she was to meet her husband. It actually did not close, however, until yesterday morning, when there was a happy reunion of husband and wife at the Arsenal police station.

Mrs. Davis's trouble all came about because her husband told her he would hurry through a downtown business engagement and meet her at the Fifth Avenue entrance to Central Park, near the Arsenal. Mrs. Davis, after pleasantly touring the lake section came to the Fifth Avenue entrance, near the Sherman monument.

While she waited there for six hours Mr. Davis stood for an equally tedious period near the Arsenal, only a short distance away, but out of sight through the thick foliage. In the meantime night fell over the park and Mr. Davis became seriously alarmed. At 10 o'clock Mrs. Davis called a policeman and asked that a search for her missing husband be made. She also asked that she be directed to a hotel, and was sent to the Hotel Roland, 56 East Fifty-ninth Street.

Mr. Davis at 11 o'clock entered the Arsenal station with a request that police squads help him search the Park. At 6 o'clock yesterday morning, while Davis and the squads were still out, a general alarm was received from Police Headquarters telling of Mrs. Davis's anxiety about her husband and of the fact that a policeman had sent her to the Hotel Roland. She was notified and came at once to the Arsenal station.

KEATS BRINGS GOOD PRICES.

Three Rare First Editions Sell High at Richmond's.

A magnificent dated manuscript Latin Bible of the fifteenth century, written on 496 leaves of vellum, in double columns of fifty-two lines, with numerous initial letters in gold and colors and several hundred smaller letters in colors, brought $416 at an auction sale by the George H. Richmond Company, 19 East Forty-fifth Street, yesterday. At the end of the second volume is the date of the completion of the work, 1497. It was bought by a resident of Bay City, Michigan, whose name was not revealed.

A copy of the first edition of Dr. Thomas Leland's monumental "History of Ireland," Dublin, 1782-3, went for $45.75. Three rare first editions of John Keats sold high. For an uncut copy of Keats's "Poems," London, 1818, James F. Drake paid $350. It is in binding by Bedford, and is in perfect condition, containing all the four half titles. Mr. Drake paid $156 for the first issue of the first edition of Keats's "Lamia, Isabella, the Eve of St. Agnes, and Other Poems," uncut copy, London, 1820, in binding by Bedford. It contains the leaf of "Advertisement," dated June 26, 1820, and all the half titles. An uncut copy of the first edition of "Endymion," London, 1818, binding by Bedford, was bought on order for $200. It has the leaf "Erratum," the five-line slip of "Errata," and all the half titles.

The sale will be concluded this afternoon.

For Blackwell's Island Chapel.

An outdoor euchre and bridge will be held on the lawn of Blackwell's Island on Saturday afternoon to provide funds to furnish the recently constructed Chapel of the Sacred Heart, attached to the Tuberculosis Camp on Blackwell's Island. The chapel was the personal gift of Cardinal Farley. There will be a preliminary band concert at 3 o'clock, and those who care to do so may inspect the new chapel and visit institutions on the island. Boats will leave every fifteen minutes from the foot of East Seventieth Street, Manhattan. In the event of rain the affair will be held indoors.

PEERLESS TRUCKS
Often Work Where Horses Can't

A TRIP that was always difficult and often impossible with horse-teams is made on schedule time every day in the year by this 4-ton Peerless Truck.

The road from Pittsburgh to Carnegie begins in the close traffic of narrow city streets, extends over a crowded bridge, winds through mill-yards and breaks into the country between steep hills. Two miles of climbing include 12 to 15% grades, along the edges of cliffs and around sharp corners.

This day-trip of the Truck, loaded to capacity with ice-cream, averages 30 miles. At night it makes an additional 15 or 20 miles hauling milk from the stations. Summer and winter the performance of this Peerless Truck has been consistent and profitable.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 6.—Russell Ford, whose moist-ball delivery has usually been a hard problem for the Naps to solve, was no terror to-day, and Cleveland easily took the second game from the Yankees by the score of 8 to 3. Not only did the Naps hit Ford at will when they were in the mood for baserunning but they put up the same fast game in the field and on the paths that has made the Davis clan look so much like pennant contenders for the past two weeks.

Blanding, who pitched for the Naps, might have had a shutout had he cared to work as hard after his team got a big lead as he did early in the contest. But, with the Yanks hopelessly outclassed, he was told to ease up.

The Yankees did not get a hit until the third inning, when Ford grabbed a two-bagger, but got no further than second base. Hartzell singled in the fourth after Lajoie dropped his foul, but a double play nailed him at the second station. Chase managed to get his first hit in the fifth with one gone, but was also a victim of a double play.

No hits came in the sixth or seventh, but in the eighth Blanding began to slow down, and Chase's double, following Gardner's single, let one run in. Stump's single put Chase on third, from where he scored while Sweeney and Stump were being put out.

In the ninth the Naps rewarded the gameness of Manager Wolverton by allowing him to score. He was passed as a starter, Blanding making little effort to pitch strikes. Cree sent him to third, and when Zinn flied to Jackson, Joe declined to throw home, but let Wolverton romp across the plate. The fans showed that they like Wolverton by their applause. Cleveland fans do not think the New York manager is getting the best efforts of some of his men. Daniels loafed in fielding a bit in the first innig, and a Cleveland runner scored from first base. Daniels was benched and Hartzell sent to right, Wolverton covering third and doing it well.

Chase is one of the players who has not put much ginger into his work here. To-day he did not work out in practice, but played first. He did not put up the game of last season, however, nor does he show as much class on the bases. Sweeney, however, played much better to-day than he did yesterday, not a Nap being able to steal. Of course, O'Neil kept the Yanks from pilfering.

The Naps showed their utter scorn for Ford's reputation right at the start. After Graney had walked and died trying to steal, Olson singled to Hartzell, who was a little slow in fielding the ball. On the hit-and-run signal Lajoie reached for a wide one and sent the ball just where Gardner had been. As Olson came to third, Coacher Neal Ball saw Daniels make a weak toss to Stump at second, and he waved Olson to go on. He did, and beat the throw to Sweeney.

In the second inning O'Neil got on because Chase made a muss of Stump's perfect throw, and scored on Blanding's double that bounded off Stump's head. Graney's single sent Blanding home.

In the third inning Lajoie again fooled Ford. Jackson beat out a bounder to short, and when a pitchout was signaled Jackson started for second, and Larry merely reached for the ball and drove a double to right, scoring the fleet-footed Southerner. A wild pitch sent the King to third, from where he walked home on Peckinpaugh's sacrifice fly to Zinn, who made no effort to get the ball to the plate.

For three innings Ford pitched fairly good ball, but in the seventh singles by O'Neil, Blanding, and Jackson, with a double by Olson and a fumble in fielding, added three runs to the Naps' score and made the game so safe that the Naps took things easy for the balance of the game.

Senators Give White Sox a Beating.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Washington clubbed Walsh for two home runs to-day and won the second straight game of the series from Chicago, 9 to 1. Gandil and Johnson drove the ball into the left field bleachers for home runs. Walsh was put out of the game in the seventh for protesting when Umpire O'Loughlin called a balk. The score:

DETROIT, June 6.—Boston bunched three hits, with a pass, in the first inning to-day, and scored three runs, a lead that Detroit was unable to overcome. OBrien was wild, but effective with men on bases. Sensational catches by Speaker and Hooper spoiled Detroit rallies. Score:

WARNING TO BALL PLAYERS.

Must Not Play with Ridgewoods of Brooklyn, Says National Commission.

Because "Doc" Scanlon, the former Brooklyn pitcher, has been playing with the Ridgewoods of Brooklyn, the National Baseball Commission has issued a warning to all National Agreement clubs that they are subject to the penalty of a heavy fine by playing games with the Ridgewood team. The commission has investigated the Ridgewood Club, and found that it was harboring ineligible players.

The notice sent out by the National Commission says: "Notice is served on National agreement players that Rule 47 will be strictly enforced against all those who play with or against the Ridgewood or any other club which harbors ineligible players."

Binghamton Releases Lumley.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., June 6.—Harry Lumley was handed his release as manager of the Binghamton Baseball Team by officers of the association this afternoon. He was immediately offered a contract as a player, but decided not to accept. The managerial position will probably be filled to-morrow by appointment of one of the players, but no indication has been obtained as to who this will be. Secretary Porter J. Edwards of the association stated that the release was given without the slightest existence of ill-feeling, but that it was believed to be for the best interest of the team. Lumley regretted that the season of his management was not started under better conditions.

R. L. Spotts Wins Maine Shoot.

HAINES LANDING, Me., June 6.—The individual trap-shooting championship of Maine was won to-day by R. L. Spotts of New York, a member of the Mooselookmeguntic Gun Club, who broke 89 birds out of 100. Louis Culquitt of Newark, N. J., who broke 549 birds out of 600, made the high amateur average for four days.

PINKERTONS STOP BETTING ON RACES

Stamp Out Gambling at Belmont Park—United Hunts Meeting in Rain.

There was a clash in authority yesterday at the initial day's races of the United Hunts at Belmont Park Terminal, between the Pinkertons under Capt. Thornhill and the Nassau County officers, commanded by Sheriff Charles T. De Mott.

The latter, having been informed that the detective agency was to be in control of the policing arrangements with a dozen men, showed on the scene with a score of his deputies. The Pinkertons were on duty to the end of seeing that the law was obeyed as nearly as they could insure its enforcement in the matter of betting, which is said to have been entirely overlooked when the track was policed by the men under Schriff De Mott.

Several bookmakers who have been in the habit of accepting commissions "on the nod" were warned by the Pinkertons that any semblance of bookmaking would result in the ejection of the offenders.

Having learned that some members of the bookmaking fraternity had paid for the purpose of being permitted to wink at the law, the Pinkertons, upon the arrival of the bookmakers, quietly informed each one of them that they would be throwing their money away if they permitted themselves to be "shaken down" in order to be allowed to violate the law, as they would not be permitted to make book under any conditions.

A well-known member of the Jockey Club said he was well pleased with the turn affairs had taken, and declared that the association had made the proper stand in turning the policing of the grounds over to the Pinkertons, who were, he asserted, anxious to see that the law was lived up to to the very letter of it. He further said that he was strongly opposed to the business of men paying immunity, which incidentally was the means of making trouble for the Directors of the organization holding the race meeting.

Despite the vigilance and possibly because the order was viewed as a bluff several daring bookmakers attempted to do business, but they were promptly squelched. One, however, more venturesome than the rest, persisted in attempting to follow his vocation, with the result that he was arrested.

In spite of the rigil vigilance there were many who asserted that they had had a "bet down," but they admitted that they had to act like so many criminals because of the subterfuges necessary, and that the game was not really worth the trouble.

Society showed its devotion to the sport by attending in large numbers, despite the heavy rain which fell until just before the start of the fifth race. Among those who braved the conditions were Mrs. Payne Whitney, Mrs. J. E. Smith Hadden, Miss Frances Hadden, Mr. and Mrs. A. Butler Duncan, Malcolm Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Burden, Mr. and Mrs. August Belmont, Mr. and Mrs. August Belmont, Jr., Mrs. Tyler Morse, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. W. Baltazzi, W. Burling Cocks, F. S. Voss, Raymond Belmont, H. M. Harriman, W. C. Hayes, Harry S. Page, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Rumsey, Robert Kelly, Helen Hitchcock, Henry W. Warner, W. R. Grace, H. L. Bell, Elise Ladew, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. B. Pratt, and R. F. Potter.

The chief interest in the racing was centred in the Mounted Service Flat race at about two miles, which had as starters the nominations of officers of the United States Army, with a half-dozen Lieutenants as the riders.

Summer dress uniform was the costume of the jockeys, and a most interesting race was the outcome when Matabon, (Lieut. Rockwell,) Phoenix Stag (Lieut. Marks,) Goldwick, (Lieut. Herkness,) Kinnelon, (Lieut. Alexander,) Corzo, (Lieut. Tate,) and Roman Wing, (Lieut. Rumbough,) left the post.

J. H. Bradford got the sextette away to a capital break, with Roman Wing, Goldwick, and Corzo nicely aligned in front. This was the order passing the stand the first time, at which stage Matabon was last a couple of lengths back. Rounding the turn into the backstretch daylight showed between Roman Wing and Corzo, which had moved up into the place, being lapped by Goldwick.

Into the farcorner of the track and down the grade to the top turn this was the order, although it became noticeable that Matabon was making a move to improve his position. Roman Wing was just swinging an eighth of a mile from the wire, being in receipt of a nice hand ride by Lieut. Rumbough. Danger showed in the final sixteenth, however, when Lieut. Rockwell shook up his mount, and riding with hand and heel was enabled to reach Roman Wing in the last thirty yards, finally beating him home by a neck in a real drive. Corzo was a length to the bad of Roman Wing, with Kinnelon a half length further back.

One mishap marred the day's sport, this befalling Fred Alpers in the third race, when he rode Macedonian. He sustained an injury to his right shoulder which put him out for the day. He had been stated to ride Nosegay, the winner of the last race. In the first race he had the mount on Garterette, but got a fall over a jump at the top of the turn. The summary:

NEW JERSEY STATE GOLF.

W. E. Shackelford Wins Qualifying Round Medal at Atlantic City.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 6.—Both match and medal play under trying conditions were indulged in by the contestants who started in the thirteenth annual championship tournament of the New Jersey State Golf Association on the links of the Country Club of Atlantic City today. W. E. Shackelford of the home club won the medal in the qualifying round with a 75, a fine score considering that a gale of wind prevailed. It was five strokes better than the next best score of 80, made by both Jerome Travers of Upper Montclair and Oswald Kirkby of Englewood.

Later in the day when the golfers had started out at match play the rain came down in torrents and flooded the links. Despite this Travers, Kirkby, and Shackelford all won their matches. In the team competitions Atlantic City won with a total of 328 for four men. Only match play in the championship set was run off this afternoon. The scores:

Championship.—W. E. Shackelford, Atlantic City, 75; J. D. Travers, Upper Montclair, 80; Oswald Kirkby, Englewood, 80; Roy Webb, Englewood, 81; Maurice Risley, Atlantic City, 83; F. H. Thomas, Morristown, 87; J. H. Hayes, Jr., Atlantic City, 88; F. C. Robbins, Atlantic City, 88; C. Geist, Atlantic City, 89; F. S. Sherman, Atlantic City, 89; Dr. Theodore Senseman, Atlantic City, 90; A. D. Swords, Morris County, 90; William Watson, Baltimore, 90; L. M. Richmond, Englewood, 90; J. H. McDonald, Essex County, 91; E. M. Barnes, Englewood, 92.

Second Division.—Dr. J. H. McCall, Atlantic City, 93; Harry Gormley, Atlantic City, 93; Walter Nagel, Atlantic City, 95; Paul Moore, Morris County, 95; F. S. Mathers, Atlantic City, 95; R. L. Chamberlaine, Englewood, 95; K. Smith, Morris County, 96; E. A. Lord, Atlantic City, 97.

Third Division.—D. C. Reed, Atlantic City, 97; J. H. Hyson, Canoe Brook, 97; H. McSweeney, Atlantic City, 98; Dr. A. W. Westney, Atlantic City, 98; J. H. Lippincott, Atlantic City, 101; T. C. Walker, Atlantic City, 102; W. E. Edge, Atlantic City, 102; H. W. Hemphell, Atlantic City, 103.

Fourth Division.—T. P. Endicott, Atlantic City, 103; S. K. Nisell, Atlantic City, 103; J. M. Wilkins, Jr., Atlantic City, 105; Dr. Moore Stevens, Atlantic City, 106; Walter Lyon, Atlantic City, 106; J. O. Hess, Canoe Brook, 113.

Championship, First Round.—Kirkby beat Risley, 2 up and 1 to play; Thompson beat McDonald, 5 up and 4 to play; Watson beat Richmond, 3 up and 2 to play; Shackelford beat Hayes, 7 up and 5 to play; Thomas beat Robbins, 2 up; Barnes beat Geist, 1 up; Travers beat Swords, 6 up and 5 to play; Webb beat Senseman, 3 up and 2 to play.

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—Boston smothered New York in the first of the tri-city matches for the Griscom Golf Cup over the Philadelphia Cricket Club course to-day, gaining 11 points to 4 and winning so easily in the singles that it was not necessary to play the four-ball matches. As the total number of points can be no more than 21, the Boston victory was complete, with only half of the competition played. The summary:

American Chessmen Low in List.

BUDAPEST, June 6.—With twelve adjourned games disposed of and added to the record, the actual standing, after ten completed rounds, of the contestants in the international chess masters' tournament at Poestyen has been established. O. S. Duras of Prague had four of these unfinished games in hand, and, by winning three of them, increased his total to 7½ points, and took second place, just below Rubinstein, who scored his adjourned games against Salwe. Duras won from Balla, Leonhardt, and Hromadka, at the same time resigning a hopeless game to Sterk. Alapin of St. Petersburg tied Spielmann for third place by winning from Barasz. Marshall, the United States champion, dropped to ninth place in consequence of a defeat by Barasz in their game adjourned from the seventh round. Other results recorded were: Hromadka 1, Sterk 0; Barasz 0, Teichmann 1; Hromadka ½, Breyer ½; Yates 0, Leonhardt 1; Leonhardt 0, Barasz 1. The standing after ten completed rounds follows:

Players.	W.	L.	Players.	W.	L.
Rubinstein	8	2	Marshall	5	5
Duras	7½	2½	Sterk	5	5
Alapin	7	3	Barasz	4	6

Jones Will Not Run at Cambridge.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., June 6.—Jack Moakley and Toll Berna left here to-night for Boston, where Berna will run in the Olympic tryouts on Saturday. The big Cornell runner is in good condition, although he has had only one day's practice since he returned from the intercollegiates on Saturday. He is determined to give a good account of himself despite his breakdown in the two-mile race at the intercollegiates. Because of his having already run the mile race he could not stand the pace. It is believed he will run the 5,000-meter race, though he has not trained this year for more than two miles. John Paul Jones, the Cornell crack miler and half-miler, will be unable to take part in the Olympic tryouts in the Harvard Stadium because of examinations on Friday and Saturday that detain him in the university. The same is also true of Capt. Putnam of the track team.

2,000,000 Wall-Eyed Pike for Jersey.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., June 6.—Percival Chrystie and James M. Stratton of the State Board of Game and Fish Commissioners have distributed more than two million wall-eyed pike fry in Lake Hopatcong, Cranberry Lake, and Swartswood Lake. The fry were raised in Vermont and obtained from the Government.

Arrested for Bookmaking.

Special to The New York Times.

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., June 6.—On a complaint of Michael Williams, a Deputy Sheriff, and, when not otherwise occupied, a barber of this place, Paul Shayne of New York was arrested on a charge of bookmaking and violation of Section 896 of the Penal Code at Belmont Park terminal to-day. He was brought to the Justice's court of Charles F. Gittens about 6 o'clock to-night. Charles McCarthy, Assistant District Attorney of Nassau County, is prosecuting attorney and Counsellor John J. Graham, who is the Nassau County Surrogate, represents Shayne.

The complaint of Deputy Williams states that Shayne was seen, while walking about the grounds at Belmont Park, where the United Hunts race meet was in progress, to be making oral bets. These bets, the complaint states, were made without his writing them, but that a note was prepared by the opposite party, giving the name of the horse, and that the said memoranda or note was in each case shown to him. The defendant pleaded not guilty. He was paroled in charge of his counsel until June 11.

PLAINFIELD'S HORSE SHOW HELD IN RAIN

Exhibiting and Judging Accomplished in Water and Mud Deep in Ring.

Although the inclement weather of yesterday deprived the opening day of the ninth annual Plainfield Horse Show of some of its social aspect, the judging was got under way and resulted in some keen competition. Many of the dyed-in-the wool followers of horse shows related instances where the judging was carried on under trying conditions, but those which existed at Plainfield yesterday established a new record.

When the special train with most of the exhibitors from New York arrived at the scene of battle the rain fell in torrents, and at the station conveyances of every description were at a premium, and the cabbie did a rushing business with increased rates.

The first class was slated for 1:15 P. M., but at that particular moment the storm was at its height and the show ring ankle deep in water. The officials held a conference and they were undecided as to what to do, but finally decided to schedule the harness and saddle classes and set back a special event for ladies' appointments and jumping competitions until later. The ladies' class will receive decision to-day at 3:30, while the other postponed classes will be judged to-morrow morning beginning at 10:15.

The entries are up to the standard of this show, which is known as one of the best open-air exhibitions in the East. Many of the largest stables in the country are showing their strings of high-bred equines, and before the championship classes are reached there will be some keenly contested battles for the coveted blue rosettes.

Despite the rain, a good gathering of spectators were in the grand stand before the last class was judged. Among those present were the Misses Finch, Miss Mary Backer, Miss Charlotte Wyeth, Miss Florence Scheff, O. T. Waring, Mrs. L. C. Waring, Mr. and Mrs. Louis K. Hyde, Miss Helen Hyde, Miss Alice Smith, Lawrence Smith, Miss H. D. Atterbury, A. W. Hunter, Charles Baker, George Bramell, Mrs. C. W. Holland, Howard Beebe, Mrs. A. G. Hooley, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McCutcheon, Jack Bauman, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Timson, Miss Helen Timson, Mr. and Mrs. George Megraw, H. L. Pierce, Miss Pierce, H. Stuart Hollis, Mrs. R. H. Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Collens, Robert A. Fairbairn, and Henry L. Finch. The awards follow:

ROUGH WATER ON THAMES.

Harvard and Yale Crews Get Only Light Practice on River.

RED TOP, Conn., June 6.—The Harvard oarsmen were unable to get in more than three-quarters of an hour's practice this afternoon because of the rough water and storm. Later in the afternoon the wind shifted, leaving an open space of water for about half a mile, and Coach Wray gave the crews practice in racing starts. There were short brushes between all the crews and then the water became rough again. MacVicar at No. 3 in the Freshman eight broke his oar in the rough water.

GALES FERRY, Conn., June 6.—The water was so rough on the Thames this afternoon that the Yale crews were obliged to get what practice they could in the sheltered coves. The Varsity eight made several spins of a half mile at a stretch at a fairly high stroke.

Dr. Richard Harrison, Yale, '76, a classmate of Bob Cook, was a visitor at the camp to-day, as was also Goetchins, who rowed in the '97 'Varsity eight.

Athlete Davenport to Marry.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Ira Davenport, captain of the University of Chicago track team, one of the fastest quarter and half-mile runners in the country, and a leading candidate for a place on the American team at Stockholm this Summer, is engaged to be married to Miss Phyllis Shriner, a sophomore at the university, it became known at a social function at the Midway School last night. It has been known among their student friends that Miss Shriner has long been an admirer of Davenport and his record-breaking performances on the cinder path, but the engagement has been carefully guarded. Davenport's home is at Pond Creek, Okla., and Miss Shriner's at Dubuque, Iowa.

Negro Boxer Dying of Blow in Ring.

NEW ORLEANS, June 6.—Dave Brown, a negro heavyweight who came here from Memphis, was knocked out in the first round here last night by John Tholmer, a local negro, and was rushed to a hospital in a dying condition. Brown's jaw stopped a terrific right swing and his head struck the floor heavily.

Colonial Cricketers in Lead.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, June 6.—The Colonial cricket teams appeared to advantage to-day, although rain interfered with both matches. In the match on Kennington Oval Surrey scored 169 in the first innings. The South Africans will begin batting to-morrow. The Australians at Cambridge ran up a total of 255 and then dismissed six members of the Cambridge University team for 17 runs.

PRIZES FOR AUTO ROAD RACES

Milwaukee Offers $16,750 for Vanderbilt, Grand Prize, and Other Races

Contrary to general expectations the prize money for the Vanderbilt Cup and Grand Prize races at Milwaukee, Sept. 17 and 21, respectively, will aggregate only $6,500 in each contest. Conditions for the two big automobile road classics were received yesterday by the racing officials in this city. The blanks for the Vanderbilt Cup, Pabst and Wisconsin contests were received by the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association, while the conditions for the Grand Prize race reached Robert Lee Morrell, Chairman of the Contest Committee of the Automobile Club of America. A few hours after Mr. Morrell received the official entry blank he was succeeded as Chairman of the board by William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., to whom he turned over all the correspondence in connection with the Grand Prize race.

No sanction for the Vanderbilt race will be granted by the Contest Board for some time, as there are several important matters to be adjusted before the event can be officially approved. Bart Ruddle, President of the Milwaukee Automobile Dealers' Association sent to the Contest Board the formal application for the Vanderbilt race, which was received yesterday. Accompanying the application were a draft of the entry blank, surveyor's certificate, necessary permits for the use of the highways, and classification and prizes.

The surveyor's report showed that with a single exception all the necessary permits had been obtained. The missing permit is expected to-day, as the property owner was not in the city when the documents were sent from Milwaukee. It stated that a new curve on the corner of the road would be rebuilt. This is a stretch of 1,800 feet through Jungbluth farm, near Woodlawn Avenue highway and Janesville Plank Road.

The draft of the entry blank was returned to the Milwaukee Automobile Dealers' Association for several suggested changes. These must be made before the Contest Board will grant the sanction. As these are not important no trouble is anticipated on this score. The surveyor's certificate will be forwarded to George A. West, the American Automobile Association representative at Milwaukee, who will make a thorough inspection of the course. The Contest Board will take no official action on the application until this report has been received from Mr. West. The course is 8.725 miles.

The total prize money offered by the Milwaukee promoters for the four road races is $16,750, which is nearly $4,000 more than was hung up last year by Savannah. Of this sum $6,500 will go to each of the first four cars in the Vanderbilt Cup and Grand Prize races, while $1,875 has been offered for each of the Pabst and Wisconsin contests.

The Vanderbilt Cup is for Class C cars from 301 to 600 cubic inches piston displacement. The distance will be 287.925 miles, or 33 laps of the 8.725 miles course. The prize money will be divided as follows: $3,000 to the first car, $2,000 to the second, $1,000 to the third, and $500 to the fourth. The winner holds the Vanderbilt Cup for one year, and receives the donor's cup, which is a replica of the original. Entrance fees will be $500 a car, $800 for two, and $1,000 for three, providing they are all of the same make. It is not necessary for two or three same owners, as the make alone will count.

Conditions for the Grand Prize race, which will be held over the same course, call for cars of unlimited displacement. The distance will be 401.350 miles or 46 laps. The prize money will be the same as that of the Vanderbilt Cup race, while the entrance fees will be $1,000 for each car, two cars of one make, $1,500, and three cars of the same make, $1,700. The winner will receive an exact replica of the Gold Cup in addition to the money prizes. It is expected that in each of the races the special prizes from tire manufacturers and accessory firms will double the amount offered by the management.

The Pabst trophy race will be held Sept. 17 preparatory to the Vanderbilt Cup contest. It will be for racing cars of C class, 231 to 300 cubic inches piston displacement. The prize money will be $1,875, divided as follows: First, $1,000; second, $500; third, $250; fourth, $125, with a special donors' trophy for the winner. Entrance fees will be $250, two cars $400, and three cars, all of one make, $500. The distance will be 25 laps or 218.125 miles.

The Wisconsin trophy is offered for cars of 161 to 230 cubic inches, piston displacement. The prizes will be the same as in the Pabst Cup race, and the distance 18 laps or 157.050 miles.

Considerable interest will be aroused by the fact that the Grand Prize race and Wisconsin trophy contest will be decided on the same day. The Automobile Club of America contest rules will govern the Grand Prize race, while the Contest Board of the A. A. A. will exercise jurisdiction over the Wisconsin trophy competition. It is probable that the Contest Board will insist upon the Wisconsin trophy race being held before the Grand Prize.

Two Days' Meet for Indianapolis.

The Indianapolis Motor Speedway will hold a two-days' automobile meet on Saturday, Aug. 31, and Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 2. Although the Indianapolis promoters applied for these two days early in the season, it was not expected that they would exercise their option. When the Milwaukee Dealers' Association requested Indianapolis to give up Labor Day for the Vanderbilt Cup race the request was refused, and yesterday an official announcement was made of the Indianapolis meet. The list of events will be issued in a few days.

OLYMPIC PRESIDENT PLEASED

Col. Robert M. Thompson Confers with American Committeemen.

As the result of a conference yesterday with James E. Sullivan and Bartow S. Weeks, two of the members of the American Olympic Committee, Col. Robert M. Thompson, the President of the committee, announced himself as very well pleased with the work performed by the members of the committee in its relation to the financial and competitive sides.

Col. Thompson further said that he was very much pleased because of the numbers of lovers of sport and their families who have taken reservations on the steamship Finland, and who will accompany the team to Stockholm. He hopes to be at the Boston tryouts to-morrow in order to see the nucleus of the team in competition.

M. P. Halpin, manager of the team, has been instructed by Col. Thompson to invite all the American athletes who make the team to be at the New York Athletic Club next Thursday evening, in order to organize and receive final instructions in relation to affairs at the Olympic Games.

Garden A. C. All-Star Show.

Manager Billy Gibson of the Garden Athletic Club has called off the show which he had arranged for next Monday night at Madison Square Garden and will begin his series of all-star shows on the following Monday, June 17. The original card did not have enough boxers of reputation, and rather than put on a show of inferior quality the entire bill was called off.

The first of these popular price all-star shows calls for forty-two rounds of boxing, two six-round bouts and three ten round. The six-round bouts are yet to be arranged. In the longer events Pal Moore, the Philadelphia lightweight, will hook up with Young Shugrue of Jersey City; Phil Cross will engage in a return bout with Willie Beecher, and the star bout will bring together Jim Stewart of Brooklyn and Tom Kennedy of New York. Moore will make 130 pounds for his contest with Shugrue, whose fighting weight is between the featherweight and lightweight figure. The prices for the show will range from 50 cents to $2.

Tennis Strike in Switzerland.

It will no doubt amaze American lawn tennis players to learn that strikes, so popular in labor circles in this country, have made their appearance abroad upon the lawn tennis courts. All of the star players recently withdrew from the tournament at Montreux, Switzerland. The reason was because of a grievance against the referee of the tournament and some of his rulings. The walkout followed, with the result that a player who played in took the first prize by default.

Jeff Smith Defeats Mike Glover.

Jeff Smith of Bayonne, N. J., outpointed Mike Glover of Boston last night in the main event of ten rounds at Brown's A. A. The Jerseyite was favored with a substantial weight handicap which showed its effect on the Bostonian toward the end of the contest. Smith scaled 159 pounds, while Glover only tipped the beam at 145, and with the steady assault of blows weaked perceptably at the end.

F. W. WHITRIDGE TO LEAD AUTO CLUB

Board of Directors Spring a Surprise in Electing Sanderson's Successor.

The long delayed election of officers of the Automobile Club of America was held yesterday in the club house, Fifty-fourth Street, west of Broadway. The election was in keeping with the recent events in the club, and upset all predictions as to the successor to President Henry Sanderson. It was expected that Henry Evans would be selected for the position, but the Board of Governors decided upon Frederick W. Whitridge, and selected Mr. Evans to succeed George W. Perkins as First Vice President. Edward Shearson was made Second Vice President in place of Robert Lee Morrell, while Henry R. Taylor succeeds Mr. Shearson as Third Vice President. Dudley Olcott, 2d, remains Treasurer, and W. A. Edwards was confirmed in his position as Secretary.

The return of William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., into the active list is marked by his election to the position of Chairman of the Contest Committee, succeeding Mr. Morrell, who cast his lot with the insurgents, incurring the displeasure of the administration. Mr. Vanderbilt will be the head of the committee having charge of the Grand Prize race at Milwaukee, September 21. Mr. Evans remains Chairman of the Executive Committee.

Frederick W. Whitridge, the newly elected President, is President of the Third Avenue Railway Company, and receiver for the Third Avenue subsidiaries. President Whitridge was born in New Bedford, Mass., Aug. 5, 1852, and was educated at Amherst College and the Columbia Law School, being admitted to the bar in 1879. He was appointed Special Ambassador to Madrid to attend the wedding ceremonies of King Alfonso and Princess Ena. The officers and committees follow:

President—Frederick W. Whitridge; First Vice President—Henry Evans; Second Vice President—Edward Shearson; Third Vice President—Henry R. Taylor; Treasurer—Dudley Olcott, 2d; Secretary—W. A. Edwards.

Executive Committee—Henry Evans, Chairman; Colgate Hoyt, Vice Chairman; Henry Sanderson, Dave H. Morris, and President Frederick W. Whitridge, ex officio.

Membership Committee—Edward Shearson, Chairman; A. J. Hemphill, Colgate Hoyt, Henry Sanderson, Henry B. Anderson, William W. Miller, William L. Rich, Dave H. Morris, William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Frederick D. Underwood, Henry R. Taylor, James A. Blair, Jr., Hamilton F. Kean, and George S. Brewster.

Aviation Committee—James A. Blair, Jr., Chairman; R. J. Collier, W. W. Miller, W. R. Cross, Samuel H. Valentine, C. J. Edward, Alan R. Hawley, and Major Samuel Reber, U. S. A.

Contest Committee—William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Chairman; Henry B. Anderson, W. W. Miller, C. L. Riker, and James A. Blair, Jr.

Technical Committee—Frederick R. Hutton, Sc. D., Chairman; J. W. Lieb.

Good Roads Committee—A. R. Shattuck, Chairman; Dave H. Morris, Colgate Hoyt, Henry R. Taylor, Henry Sanderson, Oliver G. Jennings, George S. Brewster, Hamilton F. Kean, F. D. Underwood, and Henry B. Anderson.

Motor Boat Committee—Frederick W. Whitridge, Chairman; August Heckscher, Vice Chairman, and Alfred Hennen Morris.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, JUNE 7, 1912.

AGAINST A THIRD TERM.

Absorbing interest in the day-to-day events of Mr. Roosevelt's fight for the nomination has obscured but has in nowise diminished the opposition to a third term for any President. In St. Louis the Anti-Third Term Republican League of Missouri has been organized, the members of which have pledged themselves by their signatures to use all honorable means to defeat Mr. Roosevelt's election in case he should be nominated at Chicago. This is the pledge which has been circulated for signatures:

> Whereas, We firmly believe that "the "wise custom which limits the President to two terms regards the sub"stance and not the form," and means that no person should hold that high office for more than two terms, whether such terms are consecutive or not. And,
>
> Whereas, Theodore Roosevelt, in violation of said custom, in violation of his former declarations and promises, seeks by means heretofore unprecedented to become the nominee of the Republican Party for the Presidency;
> Now, therefore, We, the undersigned, members of the Republican Party of the United States of America, hereby pledge ourselves that, even in case he should become such nominee, we will not support him, but use such honorable means as we deem most effective to defeat his election.

The pledge has been signed by hundreds of prominent Republicans in the city, including the Mayor, many of the chief executive officers and bankers, manufacturers, merchants, and professional men. At a meeting of Republicans opposed to the third term a committee was appointed to send an appeal to Republican voters throughout the country. The appeal bases opposition to the nomination and election of Mr. Roosevelt not only upon the danger of the third term, but because of a firm belief that "an upright, fearless, learned, independent, "and responsible judiciary is the main "safeguard of our liberties," and that Mr. Roosevelt has striven to bring the judiciary into disrespect and "to "make its decisions depend not upon "the law of the land, but upon the shifting whim of the populace and his "own sovereign will." The appeal "deplores" Mr. Roosevelt's abnormal ambition, which has led him to violate his solemn pledge not to seek a third term, and it calls upon Republican voters in all the States to organize for the purpose of defeating his nomination, and, should he be nominated, of securing his defeat.

It was only during the few days following the New Jersey primaries that Mr. Roosevelt seemed to have come within measurable reach of the nomination. Within the last week he has visibly lost ground, he has appeared to lose confidence if not hope. Should he regain what he has lost, however, should he in fact become the nominee, which now seems quite improbable, the country's deep-seated hostility to the third term would come to the fore as a campaign issue second only to his revolutionary designs and his dangerous qualities of mind and temperament. And, indeed, it might easily become the dominant issue.

"GRAFT" IN UP-STATE ROADS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I am not a pessimist, or a kicker, or opposed to improvement, but I am against favoritism and graft. I favor good roads for the people, but not for the aid of a few.

The Times has done the State great service in the past. Do more of it now by showing up the good roads inequalities. I inclose clipping from to-day's Times, headed "Up-State Roads Come High." Note road "Boonville to McKeever." Doesn't help a hundred persons outside of a scattering few automobilists. Note "Potsdam to Nicholville," in Speaker Merritt's bailiwick.

It is an outrage to spend all this money in the wilderness when thousands and thousands could be benefited by good roads that will be used.

New York, June 5, 1912. J. W. V.

Our correspondent is right. The situation could hardly be worse. The bulk of the $50,000,000 appropriated by the people for good roads in this State has been wasted, first, through the operation of the "joker" that prescribed an "equitable" distribution of the moneys in the State's sixty counties, thus necessitating the patchwork building complained of. The Times's dispatch says that of the 174.65 miles of improved highways for which proposals were opened by the State Highway Commission on June 3, "the longest stretch of road in the proposals "was 18 miles, from Boonville to Mc"Keever"; the most expensive stretch cost $44,500 a mile, and the average bid was over $13,000 a mile.

The contractors who build these State roads must have had many a good laugh at the expense of the people who voted the $50,000,000 appropriation. The local politicians in the counties have been favored with a rich patronage, which they have parceled out both for the building of roads which begin nowhere and end nowhere, and for their upkeep, which is expensive. Since automobiles have furnished the chief traffic on highways every one has come to know that macadam paving is precisely the wrong kind of construction to withstand the wear occasioned by the backward thrust of the self-propelled machines. Yet macadam continues to be the standard paving throughout the State. There is no intimation from official sources that it will not be adopted by the State Highway Commission should the second $50,000,000, which is to be voted on by the people next Fall, become available. Macadam pavements have to be practically replaced, within a few years, at an expense exceeding the original outlay.

The new appropriation would be devoted to the building of trunk-line highways. That is a decided step in advance over the old method, which played directly into the hands of the party "grafters." But it should be defeated, unless assurance is given that a better method of surfacing the State's highways will be employed than that afforded by the top-dressing of macadam pavement.

TITO RICORDI.

Giulio di Tito Ricordi, who died in Milan yesterday in his seventy-second year, was a man of richly varied gifts, but he was chiefly known throughout the world as the most powerful middleman in the musical market. He was grandson of the founder of the most famous musical publishing house in Italy, and, in its way, the most famous in the world. Under the guidance of his father, Tito, the son of Giovanni, who was the Ricordi from 1853 to 1888, the house assumed the proportions of a music trust. It controlled the chief Italian operas of the epoch, compelling handsome royalties from operatic managers, deriving enormous profits from the sales of printed music. Verdi intrusted all his business to the Ricordis, Boito is their "client," and so is Puccini. They have served composers well, and made plenty of money for themselves.

Giulio di Tito, called Tito, was the Ricordi of our own time, and under his rule the business had prospered more than ever. Milan's great opera house, La Scala, was his property. Giulio Gatti-Casazza and Arturo Toscanini of our own Metropolitan Opera House were in a sense his protégés. To succeed in any operatic position in Italy it has been necessary to have the approval of Ricordi, and to produce the best-esteemed and most profitable Italian operas in other countries it has been necessary to buy Ricordi's permission.

When the directors of the Metropolitan Opera House were seeking a successor to Heinrich Conried as manager, Ricordi was talked of. But the manager of La Scala, Gatti-Casazza, came instead, accompanied by the famous conductor of that theatre, Toscanini. Ricordi came only in spirit. His loss will be greatly felt in the world of Italian opera. He was not only publisher, impresario, maker of artistic reputations, founder of others' fortunes, Ricordi was a good writer and a skillful draughtsman, while under the pseudonym of Bergheim he composed some music of distinctive merit.

A LOYAL LIMNER.

It is something of a shock to the sense of the divinity that doth hedge a King to read the opinions of Sir Sidney Lee on the life and character of his Majesty the late Edward VII., King and Emperor, reported in The Times's London dispatches yesterday. The eminent biographer and critic could not have been more detached and impartial in spirit, more independent in judgment more free in the use of constructive imagination, more of an artist and less of a flatterer, had he been engaged in building, from musty documents, a portrait of Elizabeth the Queen or of Shakespeare, her most illustrious subject. Within two years of the death of the sovereign he applies to his career and his qualities the searching test of the historic method as he might apply it to those of one whose dust lay beneath the pavement of Westminster Abbey.

The result is the more noteworthy because at the time of the King's demise the Kingdom and the Empire were deeply agitated by a struggle involving the hereditary principle in the British Constitution, not only as concerns the Peers, but half-consciously on both sides as concerns the Throne. In that fierce agitation there was no serious argument used against or for the change sought in the House of Lords that would not, if pushed to its logical effect, apply to royalty. The more advanced Liberals did not shrink from the application, and some of the extreme Conservatives rather rashly employed it in defense of the Lords. It was believed at the time that the King was profoundly interested in the situation, and it was freely intimated, in Tory quarters, that chagrin at the outcome had hastened his death. It now appears from Sir Sidney Lee's review of that time that the King did, in every way that was consistent with constitutional limitations, vigilantly watched and rigorously maintained by the statesmen of both parties, seek to change the course of events.

His efforts were in vain. On the one hand, the Premier, with absolute firmness and a touch of audacity, staked his tenure of office upon the assumption that no effective intervention by the King was possible. On the other hand, the more obstinate of the Conservatives refused the counsel of the King to avoid an open issue, made the issue, and, indirectly but decisively, lost on it. This was as might have been predicted by any careful student of the evolution of democracy in Great Britain. The checks upon the power of the people which still remain—and they are of considerable importance—have been retained by the sagacious avoidance of an open dispute as to their value. When the Lords exercised their traditional right in rejecting the Budget of 1909, they only cast that and other of their rights into the arena of popular discussion, where they could not hope to win.

Undoubtedly the King was chagrined. But Sir Sidney finds that the wound was not so deep as it might seem to the outside world it must be. "His "natural buoyancy of dispositon and "numerous social pleasures and inter"ests outside of the political sphere "eventually counteracted the depressing "influence of public affairs." A like view of the King's character is developed in discussing his influence on foreign affairs, which was generally thought to be much weightier than it really was:

> Foreign statesmen and rulers knew that no subtler aim really underlay his movements than a wish for friendly social intercourse with them and the enjoyment of life under foreign skies quite unincumbered by the burden of diplomatic anxieties.

He was, according to Sir Sidney, incapable of concentrated thought and without originating political faculty, nor was he always willing to use such mental power as he had. In short, King Edward seems to have been prone to intellectual dissipation, rather shallow, pleasure-loving, and essentially indolent. This view will, we may be sure, be contested, and the dispute will be very interesting. The mere challenge to it in a work like the Dictionary of National Biography casts a revealing light upon the relations of royalty to public opinion in Great Britain.

THE COURT HOUSE SITE.

The commissioners appointed by Mayor Gaynor to condemn the property selected as a site for the new law courts will have to battle with long-cherished traditions, but it will be a brisk fight if the business is all completed within sixty days, according to promise. The second meeting of the commission will be held to-day. The property to be condemned comprises seventy-two separate parcels of real estate, bounded by Leonard Street, Baxter and Park Streets, Duane Street, and Elm Street. Under the old method the work of condemnation would have dragged along a year or more. But the beginning of work on the new Court House has been too long deferred, already, and it is most gratifying to have commissioners like Messrs. Elkus, Coogan and Schneider, who comprehend the situation and are prepared to push their work and to get through it without needless delay.

It is a pity that the condemnation cannot be extended to a larger area. A new building for the criminal courts is projected for the same neighborhood, while, as the bill of Senator O'Gorman providing for the removal of the downtown Post Office is likely to pass both houses of Congress, land may be needed near by for both the Federal courts and a new Post Office. To prepare betimes for this huge work, the construction of a civic centre which will exist for centuries, would be good business. Unfortunately our public affairs are too rarely conducted on sound business principles.

ONE WAY WITH ONE SORT OF STRIKERS.

A New Jersey Justice yesterday sentenced twenty-one men to one year each for disorderly conduct. The sentence is not so remarkable as the conduct which was thought to be disorderly. The convicts had done nothing but stone some men who were working. Incidentally a schoolboy was shot to death, and the Chief of Police of Newark had his skull crushed. There can be no possible doubt that this summary action is thought by some to savor of tyranny.

The organization which has had its ranks thus depleted is the same that was driven out of San Diego by a vigilance committee, and which has revolution for its aim rather than improvement in conditions of labor. As between the methods of San Diego and New Jersey one must think more highly of our esteemed suburb. There can be no doubt of public opinion in either place, but procedure according to the forms of law is the better way. It has the disadvantage, to be sure, of making the law unpopular, but then the law never is popular with lawbreakers. It is manifestly better that the law which protects men in earning their livelihood should be enforced even at the risk of making it unpopular, than that the people should be allowed to rule in their own way, even in making it safe to earn wages without the permission of the Industrial Workers of the World.

It is a blow to Mr. Haywood's sort of uplift, and it is treachery to his sort of free speech, but it is time that such a blow was struck. It is a quicker and cheaper way than making the laws over to suit those dissatisfied with our institutions. It is a novel view that a striker has any duty to keep the peace, or that it is disorderly to stone men away from the jobs abandoned by the stone throwers. There is no reason to suppose that the men who caused the death and the woundings meant anything in particular, or had any idea that they were bad citizens. They were merely exemplifying direct legislation when untrammeled by effete constitutional restrictions.

There are those who will protest against Jersey justice as thus exemplified, and who will think that something softer and nicer ought to have been done for those wretched unemployed who thought that their right to work includes the right to take work from others, and to fix the rate of wages for everybody. There are those who think thus, but it may be that there are others, and perhaps a larger number, who think that it is also worth while to vindicate the right of anybody to work in peace, for the selfish reason that more work gets done that way, and that work done represents service performed in the production of goods. As between workers and strikers, it is well that once in a while sympathy should be shown to the workers.

THE TITANIC MORAL.

It is said that Mr. Ismay left the witness stand in London with a look and air which indicated that he appreciated the seriousness of the testimony which he had given. Nothing was so damaging to Mr. Ismay's company as the disclosure that it was experimenting with an untried ship under known conditions of danger, and with a disregard of it which amounted to hardihood. Mr. Ismay admitted that he left the sinking ship with the knowledge that many passengers remained aboard for whom no boats had been provided. It was an inglorious act, but it was human, and understandable.

It is hard to say as much for his testimony that the Captain was justified in making full speed with extra boilers after he knew that ice lay ahead, and after he had communicated the warning to the official representing the business discretion of the owners of the vessel as surely as the Captain represented the navigating discretion and authority. The revelation of what Mr. Ismay thought proper under such conditions, and the fact that the Captain was aware of what the company's official thought, is more important than surrender to the impulse of self-preservation. There are more who would have saved their lives like Mr. Ismay than would have encouraged the Captain, as Mr. Ismay did, to hurry through the ice at night to make a good maiden voyage. Mr. Ismay is crestfallen because he now realizes the weight of opinion that he failed more in not assuring the safety of the ship than he did in taking such good care of his own safety. It would have been of no consequence how many lifeboats there were if he had kept the ship afloat. His fellow-Director, Mr. Sanderson, appreciated this, and gave testimony indicating greater prudence. If, therefore, Mr. Sanderson had been in Mr. Ismay's place, the Titanic might not have sunk.

The moral is that not only the White Star but every company ought to inspire every Captain with the idea that it is better to be safe than sorry, and that it is better to arrive with your ship than to display any qualities whatever when your ship is lost. It will not be safe for any company desiring to maintain its custom to sail its ships on the policy indicated by Mr. Ismay's testimony in this respect. The readers of the newspapers are remarking Mr. Ismay's views on navigation, and would feel safer if he were not of any ship's company with them. An announcement of the revision of the company's policy or a disclaimer that Mr. Ismay's testimony represented it, would do much to reinstate it in popular esteem.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Stockholders and Their Responsibility.

To what extent a stockholder in a big corporation is morally responsible for the way it treats its employés and the conditions in which they work is a question on which honest opinions can differ widely. The question has been raised, however, and even those who would deny that the stockholder has any more responsibility than other citizens to whom knowledge of industrial abuses or dangers has come would probably admit that on him, too, was imposed an obligation to take action of some sort and to some extent.

To a still greater number, in these days of growing social conscience, the fact of drawing dividends from a business would seem to create an additional duty to "do something," and the something has really been done of late by several stockholders. A particularly interesting instance of this responsibility effectively met is recorded in The Survey by Alice Hamilton of Hull House, Chicago.

The heroine of her story is Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, a holder of stock in the Pullman Company. Having learned that the workmen in the company's great plant were suffering from occupational diseases of a kind that can be prevented, she first had the matter carefully investigated, and then, with the report of her expert in hand, she went to the Directors and demanded reforms. She was coldly received, at first, when she informed them that the workmen were not sufficiently protected from lead poisoning in the paint-shops and from the inhalation of dust in several other departments. One Director told her that if her conscience as a stockholder troubled her, all she had to do was to sell her stock. The other Directors were better logicians and moralists than that one, and, after looking into shop conditions for themselves, they proceeded to institute practically all the reforms demanded by Mrs. Bowen.

These proved to be neither difficult nor expensive, and the result is that there has been a marked decrease of occupational diseases in the Pullman works. The painters are no longer poisoned, the sand-blast men and the users of acids are protected, and the medical service has been enlarged and improved. Perhaps any outside reformer could have done as much, but certainly his task would have been more difficult, and the action of the company, if compelled instead of voluntary, would have been far less creditable to it.

Kansas Mourns Its First Woman Mayor.

Mrs. Mary D. Lowman, the first woman to be elected Mayor of an American town, has just died in Oskaloosa, Kan., the town that elected her. She was burned to death, her dress having taken fire from the cook stove while engaged in preparing the evening meal for her family.

The accident lends itself to varying comment, according to the commentator's point of view. An advocate for woman suffrage, for instance, might say that it tended to refute the charge that participation in public affairs by women was incompatible with domesticity and involved neglect of the home. Those opposed to the entrance of women into politics might hold, on the other hand, that Mrs. Lowman's fate—one that certainly would never befall a masculine Mayor—was an argument for not letting woman hold office.

The subject, however, does not lend itself to humorous treatment, for the Kansas papers agree in stating that not only was Mrs. Lowman, all through her long life, a faithful and accomplished housewife and mother, but that her administrations—she served two terms, beginning in 1888—were as marked for efficiency as for honesty, and that the effects of the cleaning-up, literal and metaphorical, which she and her subordinate officials, who were all women, gave Oskaloosa, set an example from which the little city has profited through all the following years. Mrs. Lowman's election and her appointments constituted a novelty that attracted attention all over the country, at the time, and, much to her embarrassment, she was photographed and interviewed by reporters from many papers in the United States and several abroad.

Judging from the obituary articles now printed about her in Kansas, her public services and private virtues were equally notable, and the American suffrage women might well give her a place of some eminence in the history of their movement. Her portrait and a sketch of her life appear in "The Women of the Nineteenth Century," by Frances Willard and Mary Livermore, so she is not likely to lack recognition and honor as a forerunner of—what they who live will see.

This War Not Wholly Bad.

Deadly fights between the members of criminal gangs have long been rather familiar features of metropolitan history, but it is something new for the gangsters to engage in open and continuous warfare. Fortunately, the present conflict is of the internecine character, and, were it not for incidental danger to the more or less innocent bystander, one would be tempted to suggest that the police be not too prompt or energetic in putting an end to a struggle the victims of which can be so well spared.

The majority of the ruffians are not yet pogoniate—there's a word that will be a sticker for some!—but they are all old in desperate crime, and the probabilities are that in killing each other they are only saving the State trouble and expense sure to come upon it later. Professional murderers almost as much as professional thieves, they appear to be irreclaimable enemies of society—a lost legion.

The thing to do is to change, somehow, the environment of which, with some help, presumably, from heredity, they are the natural and inevitable products. Hatred of them should be mitigated by an element of compunction on the part of the community for its own mistakes and ignorance and sins. The natives we should not have grown, the aliens we should have excluded.

The Plague of Mosquitos.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Dr. Doty's remarks on mosquito extermination, and your comments thereon, should arouse the inhabitants of the East Bronx and other of the pest-stricken localities to immediate action against the annoying plague. The Board of Health some two years ago ordered owners of the salt meadows in the Borough of the Bronx to drain them, and the order was pretty generally complied with, in many cases at a very considerable expense.

But although there may have been a reduction of the number of mosquitos from the draining, it is not noticeable. Unless the work of extermination is thoroughly done, and by the most approved methods, it would be better that nothing at all be attempted. It discourages the public from further attempts. Draining, the most important of the preventive measures, must be perfect. A single acre neglected may nullify all the advantages of the work. The trenches must be deep enough to carry off all water, and their bottoms carefully graded to prevent accumulations of water, as these may serve as breeding spots. In the Bronx the work has not been, by any means, thoroughly done. Some of the marsh land has not been drained at all, and in many places where trenches have been cut, pools of water lying between them remain undrained.

How to Buy a Farm.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Replying to "Would-Be Farmer," I think that as I have two farms (which are not for sale) my experience may qualify me to answer his letter in your column.

I would suggest, first, that he realize that there are no bargains for farmers within 100 miles of New York City, excepting as they may be speculations in real estate. Second, the gentleman should decide what kind of farming he wishes to do. That is, whether dairying, fruit growing, or something else; then he can surely learn the part of the country best suited to what he wishes to engage in.

If he will write to the Postmaster or Mayor of some town of, say, 10,000 inhabitants, in the vicinity where he would locate, he can get the address of a reliable real estate agent to whom he can send for a list of farms for sale. After that he can forget his fears of being "stung." But if he is constitutionally inclined to "cold feet" he had better drop the idea now. R. C. TILLINGHAST.

Capt. Ransom's Distinction.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

As an employé of the White Star Line let me remind your many readers that Capt. Ransom of the Baltic has performed as heroic work as ever Capt. Rostron of the Carpathia did. But the fact is that the Baltic seems entirely forgotten in the praise showered on Capt. Rostron. The Republic sank at 8:30 P. M., Jan. 24, 1909, and the Baltic at the call for help rushed to her assistance and saved every one on board. Surely your readers will give a passing meed of praise to Capt. Ransom. J. J. SMITH.

TRACTION FRANCHISE UP.

Queensboro Plaza-Long Island City Matter Referred to Connolly.

The franchise of the South Shore Traction Company, the concern with which J. G. Robin was connected, came up again yesterday before the Board of Estimate. Recently there has been a correspondence on the matter between Mayor Gaynor and William J. Schieffelin of the Citizens' Union, in which the latter has protested against the Mayor's epistolary style.

The Board's Franchise Committee reported that the franchise of the company should be revoked. The company has never been able to make good its undertaking, and it has a franchise for the only possible outlet from the Queensboro Plaza to Long Island City. Counsel for the company, however, pleaded for "a slight modification of the terms" proposed by the committee as "necessary to the continuance of the franchise."

Borough President Connolly of Queens also suggested that a week's time be granted to give the company and the city another chance to get together.

"It has been the policy of this board and of the committee right along," said the Mayor, "not to revoke hurriedly such a franchise, and thus cause absolute loss to all the stockholders of the company. The time is come, however, when we can permit no further delays, except that if Mr. Connolly thinks he can accomplish good by the reference to him of the matter for one week I do not think we should object to it."

The franchise was then referred to President Connolly.

MAYOR APPROVES ROUTES.

Eight Subway Lines Are Legalized by the Mayor's Signature.

Mayor Gaynor yesterday approved eight subway routes, which had already been laid out by the Public Service Commission and accepted by the Board of Estimate. These form part of the dual subway system, and include the South Brooklyn lines, one or two small sections needed to provide connections between trunk lines, and other routes which, though included in the subway settlement, had not yet received legalization.

The Board of Estimate yesterday also adopted the report of its Transit Committee, approving the Whitehall Street tunnel to be awarded to the B. R. T., and substituting for the William, Beaver, and Clark Street route the Park Place, William and Clark Street route, which the Interborough will operate.

To Tell Pittsburgh of Our Subway.

Borough President McAneny departed for Pittsburgh last night, where he will speak to-night on the Subway situation here. An application for a subway franchise is now before the Pittsburgh Council, and Mr. McAneny will give them an account of the experiences of this city in dealing with the rapid transit problem. The invitation came from the Pittsburgh City Council through the Pittsburgh Civic Commission, on which are such men as ex-Mayor Guthrie, H. D. W. English, President of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce; H. J. Heinz, and John W. Beatty, Director of the Carnegie Institute.

MEN-MINDED WOMEN.

Is Not Gertrude Atherton's Type an Evolutionary Variant?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

There is a peculiar logic in Miss Atherton's interview printed in The Sunday Times, in which she diagnoses "the kind of women who have the brains of men," and claps on a woman suffrage prescription. She makes it out that suffrage is a natural step in woman's evolution, but it is hard to believe that men-minded women are a natural product of evolution. It does not seem fair to Mother Nature to take the mannish woman as the representative type of her feminine handiwork. Nor would it be fair to the State to force upon it so radical a change in its modus operandi just to suit the whims of evolutionary variants. There would be as much consistent logic in an attempt to dress all men in skirts because a few masculines are mollycoddles.

Craving restorative after all this talk of mannish women, I turned to Tennyson, who has many masterly things to say of the position of woman.

> * * * let her make herself her own
> To give or keep, to live and learn and be
> All that harms not distinctive womanhood.
> For woman is not undeveloped man,
> But diverse; could we make her as the man,
> Sweet Love was slain; his dearest bond is this,
> Not like to like, but like in difference.
> Yet in the long years liker must they grow;
> The man be more of woman, she of man;
> He gain in sweetness and in moral height,
> Nor lose the wrestling thews that throw the world;
> She, mental breadth, nor fail in childward care,
> Nor lose the childlike in the larger mind;
> Till at the last she set herself to man,
> Like perfect music unto noble words.

Here is a statement of the natural evolution of woman, as well as of man. In the presence of such a beautiful conception how abnormal appear the symptoms of woman suffragism! Inconsistent logic, militant brickbats, soap-box oratory, Socialistic parades, the forgetting of "childward care"—not a feature here but harms "distinctive womanhood." These are the phenomena generated by men-minded women. Hardly attributable to natural evolution, I hold.

"Slow to Anger."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

As ex-President Roosevelt seems to be fond of strife, may I make the suggestion that if he wants a real man's fight he could do no better than to proceed on the lines as laid down in Proverbs, Sixteenth Chapter, Thirty-second Verse:

"He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city." C. H.

New York, June 3, 1912.

COMMENCEMENT, 1912.

Each graduate stands mute,
Bearing his untried lute,
The precious attribute,
Which many days designed and fashioned;
And now with hearts elate
Before the will of fate,
Life's advent all await,
Determined, eager, brave, impassioned!

What of the instrument?
With it, what gifts are blent—
What virtues inward pent
Of teaching's sedulous contriving
Now dimly pulse and beat
As lessons still repeat
Answer to answer fleet
With pleasure of perfected striving!

Letters have had their day,
Science and Art and Play,
Much as you bear away
Against attack to place reliance;
To sing although you sift,
To learn although you lift,
To give what is your gift,
That evil fear at your defiance.

What is given to know
Of things true long ago
In you again may show,
As last year's planting now may flower;
Lessons are only true
In part—in part renew
What they achieve of you,
And in this knowledge lies your power!

Then school's last echo rings
The mead of finished things,
So the old hour takes wings
Amid Commencement's preen and glamour—
What momentary grief
Finds, if it may, relief
In a farewell too brief,
As friends are parted in the clamor!

COURT HOUSE BOARD BEGINS WITH A RUSH

Commissioners Announce That Their Condemnations Will Be Made in Sixty Days.

START WORK AT 8:30 A. M.

And Finish 72 Inspections by 10 A. M., a Proceeding That Usually Takes Many Days.

The Court House Condemnation Commission will begin work this morning at 258 Broadway and is determined to push through the work of condemning the property on the site set apart for the new Court House in sixty days.

This, if it is accomplished, will be a record of celerity, but the Supreme Court Justices are anxious to get their new quarters finished as soon as possible, and requested Mayor Gaynor to recommend to them for appointment as Commissioners men who could be relied on the save the city as much as possible in fees, to push through the work with the utmost speed and to give awards which could not be questioned.

Mayor Gaynor suggested Abram I. Elkus, as Chairman, James J. Coogan and Henry Schneider, and on Monday the Commission met and organized. Yesterday they did their first stroke of real business, and it was energetic enough to make those who know how condemnation proceedings have a habit of dragging along hold their breath.

There are seventy-two parcels of property to be condemned and the law requires that the commission inspect each to be sure it exists. In other cases commissioners have considered that the inspection of one parcel a day was good work and well worth the $10 which each Commissioner receives for each sitting. But yesterday the three Court House Commissioners sallied forth at 8:30 o'clock afoot, and returned at 10 o'clock to their office with every parcel duly inspected.

They have also had inserted in the City Record a notice that the commission intends to make its report within sixty days and have had the Corporation Counsel send to each property owner a marked copy of the record with this information: Property owners are consequently requested to come along as quickly as possible and file the proof of their right to the parcels under consideration. Many have protested through their lawyers that sixty days is an unconscionably short time, but the commissioners mean to live up to their declared intentions and to wind the condemnation awards up in the two months specified.

QUEENS ROAD CONTRACTS.

Fourteen, Aggregating $777,688, Awarded for Important Highways.

Fourteen contracts, aggregating $777,688.95 were awarded yesterday by Borough President Connolly of Queens for road repairs. These are for all the important highways in the borough. They are to be improved with bithulithic macadam, a new material especially adapted to heavy automobile traffic.

These contracts were awarded yesterday:

Locust Avenue, from Rockaway Road to Farmers' Avenue—Uvalde Contracting Company, $31,075.

Third Avenue and Eighteenth Street, from Thirteenth Street, College Point, to Eleventh Avenue, Whitestone, and in Fourth Avenue and Whitestone Avenue, from Eighteenth Street to Broadway—Standard Bithulithic Company, $54,486.50.

Cooper Avenue, from the Kings County line to Myrtle Avenue, and from the Montauk Division of the Long Island Railroad to Woodhaven Avenue—Uvalde Company, $39,332.50.

Union Turnpike from Metropolitan Avenue to Flushing and Jamaica Road—Standard Company, $35,895.

Laurel Hill Boulevard, from Newtown Creek to Thomson Avenue—Standard Company, $51,215.

Hillside Avenue, from Myrtle Avenue to Hoffman Boulevard—Uvalde Company, $16,580.

Rocky Hill Road, from Queens Avenue to Hillside Avenue—Standard Company, $56,742.50.

Rockaway Plank Road, from Kings County line to the Long Island Railroad, and from Lefferts Avenue to Locust Avenue—Uvalde Company, $90,515.

Bell Avenue, from Willets Point Road to Rocky Hill Road; Willets Point Road from Eleventh Avenue to Bell Avenue; Fourteenth Street, from Eleventh Avenue to Willets Point Road, and Eleventh Avenue, from Boulevard to Willets Point Road—Standard Company, $93,888.

Jackson Avenue, from Trains Meadow Road to Shell Road—Warren Quinlan Contracting Company, $57,804.75.

Trotting Course Lane and Woodhaven Avenue, from Hoffman Boulevard to Forest Park Drive, and Jamaica Avenue, from Rockaway Turnpike—Standard Company, $58,420.

Mott Avenue, from Bayview Avenue to the Long Island Railroad, and from Central Avenue to the Rockaway Turnpike; Central Avenue, from Nostrand Avenue to city line, and Washington Avenue from the Boulevard to Pelham Avenue—Standard Company, $50,865.

Little Neck Road, from Broadway to the Jericho Turnpike, and Floral Park Road, from Little Neck Road to city line—Standard Company, $59,797.50.

Springfield Road and Lincoln Avenue, from Rockaway Road to Hillside Avenue—Uvalde Company, $31,225.

Eight other contracts, aggregating $350,000, for several of the main traffic highways have been awarded.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PARADE OFF

135,000 Brooklyn Children Prevented from Marching by Rain.

Because he had broken his promise and spoiled all the long-looked for joy of Brooklyn's Anniversary Day parade yesterday, the 135,000 little members of the Brooklyn Sunday School Union unanimously voted the weather man to be "too mean for anything."

Sunshine had been promised, and dainty white frocks and natty new knickerbocker suits were laid out, but all had to be laid away again.

This year's march of the Sunday School Union was expected to be the greatest in its history. When the rain began the march was called off. In place of the parade exercises were held in the different churches.

Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary was to have been chief reviewing officer of the day. He talked to the children at the Central Presbyterian, the Marcy Avenue Baptist, and the Central Congregational Churches, and the Baptist Temple. With Admiral Peary, ex-Gov. Weeks of Connecticut, and city officials were the guests of William Berri at a luncheon at the Union League Club, in Bedford Avenue. Afterward they visited the churches where they addressed the children.

TO INSPECT NEW FIRE BOARD.

Aldermanic Committees May Investigate Its Prevention Work.

The Aldermanic Committee on Rules will meet to-day to consider a resolution introduced at the last session by Alderman Bolles, asking the board to appoint a special committee to investigate the organization and work of the new Fire Prevention Bureau.

The investigation, if authorized, will consist solely of an inquiry into the actual work accomplished by the recently appointed Inspectors along lines tending to protect life and property from fire hazard in the city. The political aspect of the situation will probably not be touched upon, as the present temporary appointments will hold good only until the Civil Service Commission compiles a list, from which permanent employes will be selected.

MAYOR TO IMPROVE MARKETS

He Was Much Impressed by the System in Force in Washington.

Mayor Gaynor, in commenting yesterday upon his recent trip to Washington, said he was greatly impressed with the excellent market facilities of that city.

"I arose early in the morning," he said, "and made a thorough inspection of the Washington market. I think New York has much to learn from the marketing in Southern cities, and I mean to take up the matter seriously as soon as I can get to it. I think this is a matter of great interest to housewives, and I should be very glad to get suggestions from the people of the city."

MISS ADELE KEYS WEDS AUBREY HULL

Miss Helen B. Mordaunt the Bride of John Furlong at Pretty Church Wedding.

TO EUROPE FOR HONEYMOON

Miss Theresa F. Stern Married to Sidney H. Schloss at the St. Regis.

The wedding of Miss Adele Keys, a niece of Mrs. Albert J. Milbank, to Aubrey Cameron Hull of this city took place at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Milbank residence, 107 East Sixty-ninth Street. The Rev. Dr. Lea Luquer of Bedford, N. Y., officiated.

Owing to the family being in mourning only the immediate relatives were present. The bride wore a trailing gown of white satin, trimmed with point applique lace and draped with chiffon. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley.

John A. Hull, a brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man. Shortly after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hull left for Quebec on their bridal trip. They will reside in Chicago, where Mr. Hull is with the Chicago branch of Spencer Trask & Co.

Furlong-Mordaunt Wedding.

The wedding of Miss Helen Beatrice Mordaunt to John Furlong of this city took place at 7:30 o'clock last evening in the Church of the Ascension. The Rev. Edwin M. Sweeney officiated. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. James Machell, 313 West 104th Street.

The bride was attired in a trailing gown of white satin charmeuse, with an overdress of rose point lace and a Court train embroidered with pearls. Her veil was of tulle and lace, and caught up with a chaplet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley, and her only ornament was a diamond necklace, the gift of the bridegroom.

She was attended by Miss Josephine Miriam Furlong, sister of the bridegroom, who wore pink satin veiled with pink chiffon embroidered with silver, and carried sweet peas. Mr. Furlong had as his best man Eugene A. Walsh, and the ushers were Frank and Horace Furlong, brothers of the bridegroom; S. Marts Cloud, and Edward J. Mordaunt, a brother of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Furlong will sail Saturday for Europe on the President Lincoln, and will return in October to this city, where they will make their home.

Nuptials at the St. Regis.

Miss Theresa F. Stern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raphael S. Stern of 411 West End Avenue, was married to Sidney H. Schloss of this city at 6:30 o'clock last evening at the St. Regis. The Rev. Dr. Joseph Silverman officiated.

The bride wore a gown of white charmeuse in the pannier style, trimmed with rose point lace, and a tulle veil, caught up with a lace cap and held with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss Clarice Unger attended the bride as maid of honor, and wore white satin, trimmed with lace, and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Schloss had Stuart Mason as best man, and the ushers were Otto D. Steiner, John E. Stern, Bernard Ottenberg, and Edwin J. Stern. After the wedding ceremony a reception was held and a seated dinner was served in the banquet room for about seventy-five guests, and later Mr. and Mrs. Schloss left for their wedding trip. They will live in this city upon their return.

TWO EAST ORANGE WEDDINGS.

Miss Ditmars and Miss Leggett Brides at Church Nuptials.

Special to The New York Times.

EAST ORANGE, N. J., June 6.—Miss Amy Eleanor Ditmars, daughter of Mrs. Henry Pierson Ditmars of 45 Washington Terrace, was married in Christ Episcopal Church here to-night at 8 o'clock to Arthur W. Lunn of Newark. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Charles E. Hutchison, rector of the church, and the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Henry Pierson Ditmars. The maid of honor was Miss Melitta Krueger of Newark, and the matron of honor was Mrs. George Swift Trow. Miss Anna H. Cox and Miss Florence Carnrick of East Orange were bridesmaids. The best man was Joseph Hewitt of New York.

Grace Episcopal Church was the scene to-night of the wedding of Miss Olive Carrington Leggett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pemberton Leggett of 31 Burnett Street, East Orange, to Edward Chancey Halsey of East Orange. The rector, the Rev. Charles T. Walkley, was the officiating clergyman. The bride's father gave her in marriage. After the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents. The maid of honor was Miss Ruth Halsey, sister of the bridegroom, and the bridesmaids were Miss Edith Hedge, Miss Katherine Woodruff, and Miss Florence Allen of East Orange, and Miss Marguerite Rose of Bronxville, N. Y. The best man was Robert Davis of Denver.

Miss Sibley to Wed Artist.

The engagement is announced of Miss Adele Garland Sibley, daughter of the late Mrs. C. W. Sibley of Tuxedo, to F. Graham Cootes of this city. Mr. Cootes is an artist and magazine illustrator, and a graduate of the University of Virginia. His brother is Capt. Harry N. Cootes, U. S. A. He is a member of the Delta Tau, Delta Phi, and Beta Kappa fraternities. Their wedding will take place on July 17 in the chapel at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, and later they will sail for Europe on their honeymoon.

Weill-Tuch Wedding on Monday.

The wedding of Miss Clarice Lorraine Tuch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Meyer H. Tuch of the Hotel Walton, 104 West Seventieth Street, to Albert Walter Weill of this city, will take place on Monday, at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride. The Rev. Dr. Rudolph Grossman will officiate. The couple will sail for Europe on June 13 to remain until the Autumn.

To Stand on Athletic Field—Sixteen Graduates Are Elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

Barnard's Class of 1912 held Class Day exercises yesterday at the college. The salutatory was delivered by Eleanore Meyers, the class President. The class was famous, she said, for the intense way in which it had "gone in" for everything.

In fact, it had gone in so intensely for hazing the Freshmen and Juniors that the following class was prohibited from indulging in these activities at all. In Senior year, still intent on being intense, the class refused to be shelved and went in for violent internal struggles.

The class history, gathered from college papers and student memory books, was delivered by Dorothy Spear.

Miss Meyers, Class Poet as well as President, read the class poem. Then Lucile Mordecai introduced the Anti-Precedent Reform bill. It recommended that the Student Council be abolished and that its work be undertaken by the Suffrage Club, and that the Socialist Club run the Executive Committee. To the faculty it was recommended that Dr. Knapp's salary be doubled.

Mrs. Lowther made the presentations. Two received parachutes "to bring them down from the clouds." A group of fair graduates received a box of cold cream "to keep the chaps away." The class "knocker" received a hammer, the angel was decorated with wings, the talkers received speedometers, a forgetful girl was presented with an engagement book and an alarm clock. The next group, "who could not make their eyes behave," received glasses guaranteed to be darkened by the best Havana smoke.

Mildred Hamberger read the class prophecy and then Miss Latham announced that these students had been elected to Phi Beta Kappa: Mabel Barrett, Gertrude S. Borchardt, Molly B. T. Coyle, Eleanor M. Doty, Mildred V. Hamberger, Marion Heilprin, Phoebe E. Hoffman, Miss Mahler, Louise Nyitray, Marjorie O'Connell, Vera M. Reese, Hildegarde C Reese, Etta M. Schweis, Dorothy A. Spear, Beatrice C. Stegman, and Edith M. Valet.

Irene Glenn made the presentation to the college, a grandstand for affairs on the campus. The gift was accepted by Helen Dana, the undergraduate President for next year. The valedictory was delivered by Cora Thees.

PRINCETON'S SENIOR COUNCIL

Capt. Pendleton of the Football Team Heads the List.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 6.—Princeton's Senior Council for next year was made public to-day. It will be composed of sixteen men from the class of 1913, representative men of the most active college organizations. These men have been chosen:

Group 1.—Talbot T. Pendleton, Berkeley Springs, W. Va., Captain of the football team; Frank D. Worthington, Bel Air, Md., baseball; Rupert B. Thomas, Jr., Flushing, N. Y., Captain track team; Truman P. Handy, New York City, Editor The Daily Princetonian; Maxwell Chaplin, Ridgewood, N. J., President Philadelphian Society; Rawleigh Warner, Evanston, Ill., Glee Club leader; John A. Larkin, New York City, President Triangle Club; Warren S. Taylor, Shade Gap, Penn., Editor Literary Magazine; Ferdinand Eberstadt, East Orange, N. J., scholarship. Group 2.—Wilder G. Penfield, Hudson, Wis., manager baseball team; Thomas M. McMillan, Jr., Mobile, Ala., manager track team; Edward R. Simpson, Jr., London, England, manager Triangle Club; Thomas A. Wilson, Binghamton, N. Y., athletics; Rudolph S. Rauch, New York City, Captain of the crew. Group 3.—John S. North, Philadelphia, general election; Francis C. Hall, Brookline, Mass., general election.

The council plays an important part in student activities.

FIRST ELTINGE THEATRE BILL

"Within the Law" Will Open New House About Sept. 1.

According to arrangements entered into yesterday the opening attraction at the Julian Eltinge Theatre in West Forty-second Street will be the production, about Sept. 1, of Bayard Veiller's play, "Within the Law," which was produced originally by William A. Brady at the Princess Theatre, Chicago, where it is still running. The engagement at the Julian Eltinge Theatre is made possible through a special agreement whereby the William A. Brady Forty-Eighth Street Theatre Company released the contract previously made for the New York engagement.

After the New York run the piece will make a tour of the eastern part of the country, playing in the Shubert Theatres. A special Western company is being organized to play the Shubert and Cort Theatres in the West.

Denies Miss Manierre Made Offer.

Victor Kennard, the brother of Reginald P. Kennard, who in discussing the breaking off of the marriage engagement between Reginald and Miss Wilhelmina Manierre of Chicago was credited with the statement that Miss Manierre had asked him to bring about a re-engagement and had offered to settle $200,000 on Reginald if he would marry her, says that Miss Manierre never suggested such a thing to him or to anybody else so far as he knows. He says that all he has had to say about the case is that the engagement was broken off by mutual consent, and that there has been no rupture of the friendly relations which have long existed between the two families.

MacDowell Chorus Changes Its Name

The MacDowell Chorus, which has given several successful concerts in this city under the direction of Kurt Schindler, is to become in the future the Schola Cantorum, a name which was adopted by the disciples of César Franck to perpetuate the principles of that Belgian musician in Paris. Vincent d'Indy is at present at the head of that school. The new name has been chosen for the New York organization as the title, the MacDowell Chorus, would seem to limit its scope.

Benefit Bridge for a Hospital.

A large bridge will be given for the benefit of the Orthopedic Department of the New Fordham Medical College on Tuesday evening, at the Waldorf-Astoria. The benefit is under the direction of Mrs. John Fowler, Mrs. Thomas Cullen O'Sullivan, Mrs. William J. Scanlon, Mrs. Carl Richard Keppler, Mrs. William O. Smith, Mrs. John J. Fleming, and Mrs. Francis O'Neill.

Rev. Wilson A. Farnsworth.

BOSTON, June 6.—The death at Hanover, N. H., yesterday of the Rev. Wilson A. Farnsworth, D. D., in his ninetieth year, removes from the American Board its oldest missionary. He was born in Green, Chenango County, N. Y., Aug. 29, 1822, and was ordained at Thetford, Vt., in 1852, and arrived at Smyrna, in Turkey, in 1853.

Louis Jacobus, Teacher, Dead.

Louis Jacobus, for many years a teacher in Public School 158, in East Eightieth Street, died at his home, 203 West 136th Street, on Wednesday. Mr. Jacobus was on the eligible lists for Principal and would probably have received his promotion next Fall. He was a graduate of the College of the City of New York of the Class of '98.

STEPHEN A. CHASE DIES.

Christian Scientist Since 1884 and Treasurer of the Mother Church.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 6.—Stephen A. Chase, Treasurer of the Christian Science Church of America, died at his home in this city to-day after a few days illness.

Mr. Chase is survived by a widow, two sisters, and a brother, all residents of Fall River. He was born in this city, May 10, 1839, and received public school education. For many years he was engaged in business with his uncle, the late Edmund Chase, a prominent manufacturer.

In 1884 Mr. Chase became interested in Christian Science and the following year he received instruction from Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, the founder of the Christian Science denomination.

Twenty years ago Mrs. Eddy appointed Mr. Chase one of the Christian Science Board of Directors. During the same year, 1892, he was made Treasurer of the Building Fund of the First Church of Christ, (Scientist,) Boston, known as the original Mother Church, which was then being constructed. Later he was elected Treasurer of the Mother Church, a position which he held until his death.

DENNIS McLAUGHLIN DIES.

He Was Democratic Boss of Hudson County, N. J., for Many Years.

Dennis McLaughlin, one-time boss of Hudson County, N. J., died last evening at his home, 241 Eighth Street, Jersey City. His death is attributed to indigestion. He is survived by eight children.

McLaughlin was born in Ireland in 1847, and was brought to this country while an infant. In 1870 he was elected Alderman of the Second District, known as the "Horseshoe," of Jersey City, and served two terms. From 1884 till the late nineties he was the Democratic leader of Hudson County.

McLaughlin was one of the owners of the old Guttenberg race track. He is said to have been the third largest owner of flat houses in Hoboken, and one of the largest owners of real estate in both Jersey City and Hudson County. His estate is estimated at more than $2,000,000.

Mr. McLaughlin was married twice, his first wife being Johanna Biggan, and his second Terresa Stack. Both are dead.

HONORS W. T. STEAD.

Peace Society Adopts Minute in Memory of Titanic Victim.

At the annual meeting of the New York Peace Society yesterday the following minute concerning the death of William T. Stead was adopted:

> The New York Peace Society, realizing that in the death of William T. Stead of London the peace cause loses one of its most ardent advocates, desires to put upon record its appreciation of his indefatigable service to humanity. He was the champion of all oppressed people; he courageously rebuked all nations, even his own, when they practiced injustice or tyranny; he untiringly pleaded for the brotherhood of man, the unity of races, and the settlement of all international disputes by peaceful methods. He was on his way to our Nation with a message of good will when he met death as courageously as he faced the issues of life.

Mr. Stead was one of the victims who went down on the Titanic.

Gov. Foss's Father Dies.

BOSTON, June 6.—George Edmund Foss, father of Gov. Eugene Foss of Massachusetts and Congressman George E. Foss of Illinois, died during the night at his home in Jamaica Plain after an illness of several months, aged 82. Heart trouble and complication of diseases were the cause of death. Since early yesterday Mr. Foss had been unconscious. At his bedside when he passed away were Gov. Foss, Congressman Foss, and other members of the family.

Mr. Foss was born in Derby, Franklin County, Vt., June 1, 1830, and when a small child was taken by his parents to Burke, Franklin County, N. Y., where he lived until he was 18 years old. Then he returned to Vermont and later engaged in business, first as a builder and contractor, and later in the commission business at St. Albans. In 1898 Mr. Foss retired from business.

After residing in Chicago a few years he came to Boston, where he had since lived. Mr. Foss is survived by his widow and two sons.

Oscar L. Thonet Dies.

Oscar L. Thonet, Chief Mortgage Tax Examiner in the Register's Office, Brooklyn, died Wednesday at the Methodist Episcopal Hospital, Brooklyn. He represented the Twelfth Assembly District in the Assembly from 1903 to 1906. He was a candidate of the Republican Party for State Senator in 1906, but was defeated. Mr. Thonet was born in South Brooklyn in 1868. He leaves a widow, a son, and a daughter.

GIULIO T. RICORDI DIES IN MILAN

Head of the Famous Music Publishing House, Known as "the Operatic Trust."

BUSINESS A CENTURY OLD

Firm Controlled the Works of Verdi, Puccini, and Others—Ricordi Invited to Succeed Conried Here.

MILAN, June 6.—Giulio Tito Ricordi, head of the music publishing house of Ricordi & Co. and publisher of the works of Verdi, Boito, Puccini, and other noted composers, died to-day.

Giulio Tito Ricordi was the grandson of Giovanni Ricordi, founder of the famous music publishing firm of G. Ricordi & Co. of Milan. The firm has been called "The Operatic Trust" because it has such a secure hold upon the music publishing business of the world. It was founded in 1808, when a small collection of musical compositions bearing the title "The Seasons of the Year," by Antonio Nava, was published with the imprint of G. Ricordi, music publisher.

Since then three generations of Ricordis have had the direction of the concern. Each has seen the business make a large growth. It published all the operas of Verdi for half a century as well as those of Rossini, Donizetti, Bellini, Puccini, and other famous composers. Only last Spring Giulio's son, Tito, who now becomes head of the publishing firm, was in this country superintending the production of Puccini's "The Girl of the Golden West." Giulio Ricordi himself was also here in 1906, superintending the production of the composer's other masterpiece, "Madama Butterfly."

The firm, known in Italy as Casa Ricordi, has main offices in Milan and branches in Rome, Naples, Palermo, Paris, London, Leipsic, Buenos Aires, and New York. Giovanni Ricordi, the founder of the firm, was born in 1785. When a young man he became an orchestra leader at a Milan marionette theatre, and in a short time he was much in demand as a music copyist. In those days music printing in Italy was in a very primitive condition, and young Ricordi, realizing the possibilities, saved enough money to take him to Leipsic, where he learned every step in the printing of music from the famous music publishers, Breitkopf & Härtel. Ricordi then took a small typographical outfit back to Milan with him and began publishing.

In time, feeling that the business was getting too large for him, the older Ricordi took into the firm his elder son Tito, who was a good business man, musician, and painter, but had astronomy as his particular hobby. Even before the elder Ricordi died in 1858, Tito had assumed large control of the firm's affairs. From then until his death in 1888 the history of Casa Ricordi was bound up with that of Giuseppe Verdi. The great composer's increasing fame was due in large measure to the activity of the firm which published his operas.

Giulio Ricordi, who died yesterday, being the third in the line, had leanings toward a military life. He served several years in the army, and wrote his experiences, but the need of another Ricordi in the musical publishing house cut short his martial career. He abandoned his uniform, and went into partnership with his father, Tito.

It was Giulio who went to the home of Verdi when it was given out that the wonderful old composer, after a silence of seventeen years, was hard at work on another opera. Ricordi found Verdi, disheveled and excited, pounding away at his piano, drinking cup after cup of black coffee. Suddenly Verdi arose and clapping Ricordi on the shoulder, exclaimed:

"Home to my study."

There he played the entire cast of "Otello." The opera was produced in 1887. The next year Tito Ricordi died and Giulio took his place, with another Tito, his son, at his right hand.

Some time after the death of Verdi a friend of Giulio Ricordi asked permission to introduce a young composer and friend of his, whose ultra-modern work he admired. This proved to be Giacomo Puccini.

"Have you something to play to me?" asked Ricordi.

"Yes," said Puccini, diffidently. He sat down and nervously began on the score of his first work, "Le Villi."

"Enough, I'll buy it," exclaimed Ricordi. Later he bought "La Bohème," "Manon Lescaut," "Tosca," and "Madama Butterfly."

It was when Giulio Ricordi was in America in 1906 to help in the production of this last composition that an offer was made to him to succeed Heinrich Conried in the management of the Metropolitan Opera House. Giulio declined the offer.

As an example of the power wielded by the Ricordis in Italy, a musical writer once said:

> Billaud, the one-time tenor, controls the popular Quirino Theatre in Rome, in which every Spring, and sometimes in Summer, popular opera is given; that is, opera at popular prices. Ricordi not only controls the copyrighted works, but through these he exercises a dominion over those in the public domain. He has the scores, the parts, the material, &c., and, like a competent firm, the price he fixes is his own. Billaud started a newspaper controversy with the Ricordi house. The house asked for 'Il Trovatore' 1,000 francs a performance. For the performances of 'Gioconda,' 'Trovatore,' 'Norma,' 'Favorita,' and several others the price demanded was 8,800 francs, or lire.
>
> That was several seasons since; for this past season 12,300 lire was demanded for the same group, or any similar group, such as 'La Tosca,' 'Il Forza,' 'Traviata,' &c. 'La Boheme' was increased from 3,000 to 6,100 lire; 'La Tosca,' formerly 3,000 to 6,500; formerly 'Ballo in Maschera' and 'Ernani' were 1,000 lire each; now 4,500. Ricordi explains that the augmented prices are due to the general advance in the cost of production, to the rise of prices, and to other added expenses.

Tito Ricordi, son of Giulio, is about 40 years old and succeeds to the entire business.

$500,000 Needed to Help Cancer Patients

We have reached a crisis in our work. With money we can purchase an addition to our present well-equipped plant that would give us double our present capacity.

This Hospital is supported by voluntary contributions, and all of its 100 beds are occupied. Will you not help us to receive the scores of sufferers who come to us for treatment, and for whom we have no room?

The recent purchase and installation of the most advanced apparatus for the treatment and relief of cancer have brought a flood of cases to us demanding care.

PLOT TO KILL A JUDGE.

Justice Kalisch Says the Conspirators Met Here.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., June 6.—A statement made by Detective Harris to-day, describing his work in trapping Atlantic City Councilmen as bribe-takers, asserts that the Burns detectives have evidence that certain men interested in seashore politics plotted in New York City to kill Supreme Court Justice Samuel Kalisch, who presided at "Boss" Kuehnle's trial and sentenced the former Atlantic City leader to a year in jail.

When he was asked if he knew anything of the plot, in this city, to-day, Justice Kalisch said:

"I heard talk of it while trying cases in Atlantic County, and I understand that there was a meeting in New York at which the question of disposing of me was discussed.

"I understand that the detectives have dictagraph records of conversations along those lines. I ignored the talk at the time, and will continue to ignore it while fulfilling my duty to the State."

Some of the Burns investigators came here to-day. It is said they will confer with Gov. Wilson or Attorney General Wilson.

Justice Kalisch will have the task of charging the Grand Jury which will be asked to indict the accused Councilmen.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 6.—The resignations of several more Councilmen as the result of the publication of further details of the investigation of Detective Burns are expected by Mayor Bacharach. A statement by Detective Harris, who posed as a New York contractor, anxious to get a contract for building a concrete boardwalk and pay the Councilmen for their support, was given out to-day.

He says Councilman William Murtland had knowledge of the bribe fund and wanted $500, but balked when he understood that he would not be permitted to divide the money.

Harris says that Councilman Phoebus, who confessed, suggested that Boss Kuehnle be left out and that the Councilmen could handle the affair without his aid.

Harris told of the use of dictagraphs by which stenographers overheard conversations. In several instances the remarks were reproduced upon phonographic records, which, it is said, will be "sworn" and placed on the witness stand at the trials.

It was asserted by Harris that several of the Councilmen had received money or promises of remuneration for their votes in favor of an $800,000 concrete drainage conduit along Arctic Avenue.

NEW HEARING FOR OLSSEN.

Federal Attorney Will Ask a Reopening of the Longshoreman's Case.

SEATTLE, June 6.—Acting United States District Attorney William G. McLaren conferred to-day with attorneys, representing Leonard Olssen of Tacoma, the longshoreman, whose citizenship papers were canceled recently by Judge Cornelius H. Hanford on the ground that Olssen was "not attached to the principles of the constitution."

Application to Judge Hanford for a reopening of the case will probably be presented to-morrow. Should Judge Hanford decline to set aside his judgment, the case will be appealed to the Circuit Court of Appeals at San Francisco, the Government co-operating with the defense.

While both District Attorney and Judge declined to discuss the order from Washington, which directed McLaren to seek a rehearing, attorneys here called it revolutionary procedure. Never before, it is declared, has an attorney for the United States, after he has prosecuted a case on complaint of a Government department and won, been compelled to co-operate with the defense in seeking to have the judgment set aside.

Thomas R. Horner, who was a speaker at the mass meeting held here last Aug. 25 to denounce Judge Hanford for a decision a street railway case, left for Washington to-day to aid Representative Berger in the impeachment proceedings.

Marriage and death notices intended for insertion in The New York Times may be telephoned to 1000 Bryant.

MERCHANTS APPEAL FOR FLOOD VICTIMS

Think the Fact That the Disaster Is Not Realized Here Has Made Contributions Small.

200,000 PERSONS HOMELESS

Chamber of Commerce Starts to Collect Fund—Lack of Donations Surprises Jacob H. Schiff.

The Mississippi Flood Relief Committee of the Merchants' Association, of which E. H. Outerbridge is Chairman and William A. Marble Treasurer, sent out an appeal to the citizens of the city yesterday for more funds. The appeal says in part:

"Fifteen thousand square miles of land are submerged by the Mississippi floods. About 200,000 people are homeless. Their buildings are wrecked, their cattle drowned, their possessions swept away, their farms under water, their means of subsistence destroyed.

"The relief afforded by the War Department was only partial and temporary and ceased June 1, leaving a multitude of helpless persons, deprived of all ordinary means of support, thrown upon their own resources to face continuous suffering, widespread disease, and appalling mortality, unless the generous charity of the American people comes to their relief. With little or no possibility of crops this year, with no manufacturing industries in which to utilize their labor, their need for aid is desperate and will be long continued. Food, shelter, and clothing must be supplied to them for many months or they will suffer and perish.

"Relief camps must be provided and systematically managed. Careful sanitary arrangements must be made, and funds must be secured in sufficient amount to aid these destitute thousands in re-establishing themselves in farming pursuits by providing them with farming tools, seeds, and animals. This work is wholly beyond the power of the local authorities. The calamity is National in its scope, and the entire American people should aid in making provision to relieve the vast want which has suddenly stricken a great community. No other disaster in our National history has exceeded this in the extent of suffering involved nor in the need for large and speedy aid.

"The extent of the calamity has not yet been fully realized, and undoubtedly, for that reason, the funds thus far contributed have been pitifully insufficient in comparison with the needs. Upon other occasions of great calamities New York has contributed hundreds of thousands, and even millions of dollars for relief, but thus far her response to this appeal to her generosity and humanity has been small. When the need is understood surely the response will be worthy of New York.

"We earnestly urge every person who reads this appeal to contribute liberally, according to his means, to aid in relieving the pressing wants of the thousands of homeless and suffering men, women, and children in the flooded districts of the Mississippi Valley. The funds contributed will be disbursed through the Red Cross Society or other equally reliable channels. Checks should be drawn to the order of W. A. Marble, Treasurer, 60 Lafayette Street, and will promptly be acknowledged."

Before the appeal was issued contributions to the fund were received from members of the committee and others who had learned of the association's intentions as follows:

J. G. White	$1,000
The Yale & Towne Manufacturing Co.	1,000
Rogers, Peet & Co.	500
Fritz Achelis	100
Fred Butterfield & Company	100
Paris, Allen & Company	100

The H. B. Claflin Company	100
The Strobel & Wilken Company	50
Frederick Vietor & Achelis	50
Stewart, Warren & Company	10
	$3,110

The Chamber of Commerce also took up the matter of collecting funds yesterday. President John Claflin at the regular meeting announced that a request had been received from James Speyer that the Chamber appoint a committee to co-operate with the Mayor's Committee to receive subscriptions, but as Mr. Speyer is a member of that committee it was decided simply to recognize him as the official recipient of any funds that members may wish to donate.

Jacob H. Schiff, Treasurer of the Mayor's Committee, then said:

"As Treasurer of the committee I wish to add that the subscriptions are coming in very slowly indeed. I think it is a reflection upon the people of our city that while they are always ready to help those whom misfortune overtakes in far away lands the terrible suffering that exists in the flooded districts of our own country seems to have been somewhat overlooked.

"This Chamber is just the body that is peculiarly situated to appeal to its own members and to the people of the City of New York to open their pockets a little wider. These sufferers are our own kith and kin. I therefore move that the Chamber make a special appeal and send it out to the members asking for more liberal subscriptions to this fund."

These contributions were received yesterday at the Mayor's office, at the Red Cross office, and at the office of William D. Buckner, Treasurer of the Southern Society:

$1,779 IN PHILLIPS FUND.

Suggestion Made to Put a Wireless Memorial Tablet in Trinity Church.

The contributions received yesterday by C. C. Galbraith, Chairman of the Jack Phillips Memorial Fund, at his office, 42 Broadway, amounted to $98.20, which makes the total subscribed so far $1,779.85. With the exception of three or four contributions from business men in answer to the committee's appeal sent out by Mr. Galbraith, the amount was collected on the coastwise steamships of the Clyde, Savannah, Old Dominion, and Ward lines out of this port.

A suggestion was made to Mr. Galbraith yesterday that the committee of the fund should apply to the Rev. W. T. Manning, rector of Trinity Church, for permission to put up a tablet in Trinity in memory of Jack Phillips, the wireless operator who went down on the Titanic; George C. Eccles, who lost his life in the wreck of the steamship Ohio on the Pacific Coast, and C. S. Sczpanck, who met death on the Père Marquette car ferry on the Great Lakes, and any others who may lose their lives in the future while doing their duty. The object, in addition to having a tablet erected to the memory of Jack Phillips, Mr. Galbraith said, is to start a permanent fund with $10,000 for the wives and families of wireless men who die at their posts.

Mr. Galbraith has sent out 500 letters to survivors of the Titanic and prominent people of this city who are in the habit of crossing the Atlantic twice or four times a year for business or pleasure. The names of yesterday's contributors to the fund are:

BROAD SILK MEN'S RULES.

Adopted by Manufacturers to Standardize Business Methods.

At a meeting of the Broad Silk Manufacturers of the United States, Division D of the Silk Association of America, yesterday, in the rooms of the Silk Association, 487 Broadway, the rules to govern transactions between buyers and sellers of broad silks throughout the country, as published in last Monday's TIMES, were adopted as recommended by the Executive Committee. By-laws of the organization and the following recommendation to standardize business methods, of vital importance to the future of the silk industry of the United States, were also adopted:

(a) Should exceptional circumstances arise, either in reference to some individual buyer or to some unusual condition of the trade, such circumstances, with recommendations, should be referred to the Executive Committee of Division D, which will on each occasion recommend the action to be taken by the trade.

(b) If for one reason or another a request for cancellation contrary to the rules of this association is made, same should be referred to the Bureau of Adjustment and Complaints of Division D of the Silk Association of America.

(c) Goods should not be held by seller subject to buyer's call unless contract provides final date for delivery and billing up thereof, such final delivery and billing up to occur not later than four months from date of first part delivery.

(d) Should exceptional circumstances, such as strikes, fires, floods, or other causes beyond buyer's control make it practically impossible for buyer to take in goods receivable, same should only be held on call as Recommendation C provides.

(e) Goods should not be sent to prospective buyers on memorandum unless it is provided that they shall be either billed up or returned by consignee not later than three weeks from day of receipt.

(f) Goods should not be sent on consignment for sale unless a selling price, or a minimum selling price, and the percentage of commission payable, be arranged by written contract.

(g) Seller should insist upon an acceptance of contract signed by buyer within two weeks from date on which seller mailed signed contract to deliver. Contract should state clearly: Price, discount, dating, width, length, quantity, quality, style, color, design (by sample illustration or other method of indentification), and all other specifications; also the Rules of the Silk Association of America governing transactions between sellers and buyers of broad silks in the absence of specific agreements. In case of part of the above items being left for future specification, the ultimate date therefor should be stated.

(h) The following are held to be undesirable practices which should be discouraged: The taking of orders subject to buyer's cancellation at any time or at a specified date; the giving of options; the taking of orders with price left open, or price to apply to be the market price at time of delivery; the granting of rebates when contracted price does not conform with market price at time of delivery; the sending of goods on memorandum for sale.

Thirty-five representative silk manufactures were present at yesterday's meeting, and the unanimous opinion expressed was that the trade has learned the fallacy of broken promises, and will abide by the recommendations and rules adopted. The Executive Committee, which includes Robert Schwarzenbach, Chairman; D. G. Dery, H. B. Cheney, Carl Forsch, M. C. Migel, G. A. Post, and Albert Tilt, was re-elected.

ASSAILS FORT LEE FERRY.

Edgewater Meeting Demands Three-Cent Fares and Better Service.

About 400 of the 5,000 residents of New Jersey who commute by way of the Fort Lee Ferry into West 130th Street, New York, met in the Town Hall in Edgewater, N. J., last night to protest against the kind of service the Edgewater Ferry Company is giving them.

The commuters assumed an insurgent tone toward the ferry company from the start, and decided in a set of resolutions that they did not think very much of its plan of operation, its time table, its rate of fare, or its equipment. In another resolution, calling for the appointment of a committee of citizens to interview the Freeholders of Bergen County, a series of improvements were demanded, the chief of which is a reduction in fare from the 5 cents now demanded to the three-cent rate enjoyed by commuters from points further down the Jersey shore of the Hudson.

The plaint of the Jersey folk against their ferry service is a long-standing one, it was brought out by John P. Towle in a speech denouncing the Dock Department of New York for not building an extra ferry slip on the New York side to enable commuting to be carried on at a more rapid rate than is now possible.

Mr. Towle read a letter from the President of the ferry company. It stated that the complaints of the citizens had been received and were being given urgent attention. It pledged the company to a progressive policy and offered assurance that one important reform, namely, that of furnishing all-night service, would be inaugurated in the very near future.

"And to think that we commuters," declared Mr. Towle, "have to do our cabaretting on a prospect of a ferry shutdown at 2 o'clock!"

SALE OF STATE BONDS SHOWS GOOD DEMAND

Canal and Highway Gold Issue of $20,000,000 Oversubscribed by More Than $9,000,000.

MANY LARGE NEW YORK BIDS

Controller Sohmer Says He Is Satisfied Considering the Glut in the Bond Market.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 6.—State Controller Sohmer received bids to-day for $29,950,000 New York State 4 per cent. gold bonds, exempt from taxation, and is gratified with the result "considering the glut in the bond market." These bonds were divided into three classes. The first was an issue of $20,000,000 for canal and highway improvements, the second of $5,000,000 for barge canal terminals, and the third of $950,000 for the Saratoga State Reservation. The second class was not fully subscribed, while Class 1 was $9,000,000 oversubscribed.

The larger of the amounts awarded to successful bidders in Class 1 are:

BENNINGTON GETS LIBERTY.

Bensonhurst Horseman Is Sane Enough to Leave Hospital.

Newton Bennington of Bensonhurst, horseman, who has been detained as insane in the Homeopathic Hospital at Middletown, N. Y., for some years, was released yesterday by Justice Kelby in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, in habeas corpus proceedings.

A guardian will be appointed for him by the court, and George Cole, Mrs. Bennington's lawyer, told Justice Kelby that she is willing to take care of her husband.

Dr. Robert C. Woodman, Acting Superintendent of the hospital, testified that Bennington was suffering from hallucinations when he first was there, but that his mental condition has improved, and if released he is not likely to be a menace to himself or the community.

Brooks to Get After Loan Sharks.

District Attorney Whitman yesterday appointed Assemblyman Franklin Brooks as special Assistant District Attorney to prosecute the cases against alleged loan sharks. All the cases now on hand were prepared by former Assistant District Attorney Lloyd D. Stryker, who resigned from Mr. Whitman's staff to form a law partnership with George W. Whiteside, the general attorney for the Credit Men's Association.

Asks $75,000 Damages from Cab Co.

Nellie Grant Guertin of Boston began suit, yesterday in the Federal District Court, against the Mason-Seaman Transportation Company to recover $75,000 for personal injuries. On May 9, 1911, she states in her complaint, she engaged a taxicab belonging to the company to drive her to the Grand Central Station. Through the carelessness of the chauffeur, she declares, she was thrown to the pavement and sustained serious and painful injuries, which have forced her to give up her work, from which she was earning large sums of money.

BAD DAY IN DRY GOODS.

Heavy Rain Checks Activity of Buyers Here.

Trading in the New York dry goods market was retarded to a considerable extent yesterday by the rain. Buyers were fairly active during the early hours of the day. Few of the important local buyers were seen in the market and the threatening outlook tended to keep the smaller out-of-town buyer at home. Summed up briefly, the reports from the various houses indicated the poorest single day's business done for two or three weeks. Following the falling off on Wednesday, yesterday's slump was particularly unpleasant to wholesalers. Mail orders were received in good number by the principal houses and were well distributed over the various lines. Correspondence from Southern points, outside of the flood belt, was encouraging, and indicated a continued return of confidence on the part of retailers in that section of the country. The Middle West still lags somewhat, but better things are expected soon.

Wash goods trading was dull yesterday, and, following two successive poor days, the leading distributors were inclined to be a bit pessimistic. The season is getting well along and every poor day means a loss that cannot be made up this year. No great amount of spot buying of white goods was seen, but reports were not so bluely tinged as those from the wash goods end. Silks were good early in the day, but slumped badly when the rain started. This condition was reflected to a considerable extent in laces. Ribbons and embroideries showed practically no change, both lines having moved slowly of late. Hosiery and underwear were slow to move, as were stocks of notions. Rugs and carpets were inactive on spot, but some very good road orders were received by one of the prominent trade factors. Linoleums and floor oilcloths were also slow on spot, but good from the road.

STANDARD OIL MONEY IN VARIED BUSINESS

Great Surplus of the Old Controlling Group Has Sought Many Outlets for Profits.

TRACED IN 70 COMPANIES

Financial, Industrial, Mining, Bank, Eating House, and Railroad Companies Among Them.

Indications are increasing of the extended activity of Standard Oil money, not meaning the funds of the New Jersey Company or its old subsidiaries, but the surplus which John D. Rockefeller and his eight or ten close associates who share with him the dominant position in the "Oil Trust" have accumulated in the last score of years. How much the accumulations of this group have grown to could not be even remotely guessed, for while some of the old "Standard Oil crowd" added greatly to the huge sums they received annually in dividends on their oil shares, others have been less fortunate in outside investments. Some have died and have scattered their fortunes among many heirs, and others guard the secret of their wealth closely.

Since its organization and up to the time of its dissolution last year, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey paid out more than $700,000,000 in dividends, the bulk of this sum being divided among the dozen men whose holdings constituted control. Their investments and surplus funds took greatly varied forms, the late H. H. Rogers and the Flaglers going in for the development of new railroad territory, others, among them the Bedford, Pratt and Tilford families, leaning particularly toward manufacturing companies. Others of the group, and here again H. H. Rogers was prominent, as is William Rockefeller, made commitments to established companies listed on the Stock Exchange which offered opportunities for stock market operations.

Less is known of the quiet drift of Standard Oil money into smaller enterprises, but it may safely be said that the recent large additions to the holdings of Standard Oil men in the Childs restaurants, as told in THE TIMES yesterday, is only a slight measure of the great sums which are being invested by this group in outside enterprises.

There is no clue in the Standard books of financial reference to the interests of this group in various corporations except where the names of some of the men themselves or of their known agents appear among officers or Directors. It is well known, however, that connections traceable in this way are only a small part of those actually held by Standard Oil men.

In the appended list of fifty-five corporations there does not appear, for instance, the Western Maryland Railroad, in which John D. Rockefeller is one of the largest holders of securities, nor the Missouri Pacific. Only those companies are named in which some of the old Standard Oil Directors appear themselves as Directors or members of their families. The same is true of the financial institutions named. Besides the sixteen printed below there are many others in which the Standard Oil voice is important if not dominant.

Since the dissolution of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey the mining industry particularly has attracted Rockefeller capital. The Amalgamated Copper Company has increased its field by buying out the United Metals Selling Company, which for years had been agent for the sale of its output. William Rockefeller personally has gone into a large number of new copper enterprises. He is said to have acquired recently an important share in the Tennessee Copper Company, and William G. Rockefeller appears as an officer of the Inspiration Consolidated, one of the important new copper properties, and has become interested in a number of others.

One of the important outlets for Standard Oil money is in enterprises which are seldom heard of, close corporations floated by organizers who have the confidence of the oil men. Many of these do not appear in any of the financial reference books.

SHIP TRUST HEARINGS HERE.

Will Begin Next Week, Says Pickett —Ismay to be Called.

NEW HAVEN, June 6.—Charles E. Pickett, clerk of the United States District Court here, who was recently appointed special Commissioner to take testimony in the suit brought by the Government against the Hamburg-American and other steamship companies for the dissolution of the North Atlantic Conference, announced to-night that hearings will commence in New York next week. With the exception of a few weeks in the Summer, Mr. Pickett says the sessions will be held continually until November.

Hearings will also be held in Chicago and perhaps in Europe. Mr. Pickett says J. Bruce Ismay will be one of the most important witnesses called by the Government.

Mauretania In This Morning.

According to a wireless message received last night from Capt. W. T. Turner, no time or position given, the Mauretania is expected to arrive at the Ambrose Channel Lightship at 7 o'clock this morning and at her dock about three hours later. Gov. Dix is a passenger on board.

Barkdull, Cleveland, Assistant Secretary; and for Executive Committee, Joseph Ramsay, Jr., R. E. Slaven, F. E. Palmer, New York; A. G. Webb, Cleveland, and F. E. Henry, Cleveland.

The majority stockholders, the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal Company, maintain that the Ramsay faction has no legal right to assume control of the property, and that the annual meeting will be held next Wednesday. The Ramsay interests contend that the annual meeting was legally held—the date fixed on May 1, when adjournment was taken to "Wednesday, June 4." On Wednesday the majority again postponed the meeting to next Wednesday.

BOSTON CARS TO BE TIED UP.

Strike of Trolley Employes Likely to be Called at Any Time.

BOSTON, June 6.—Preparations for a strike on the Boston Elevated Street Railway system were made to-day by both the officials of the company and the newly unionized employes.

Officers of the new union said that a strike appeared to be almost inevitable. The company apparently expects that one will be called, as it is hiring new men. A number of men have already arrived here from Philadelphia and New York and training at the company's school of instruction. The discharge of men who recently joined the new union is said by the operatives to be the cause of the trouble.

Should a strike be called the people of twelve cities and towns would be affected. It is estimated that at this season of the year the road's daily traffic is nearly 1,000,000 passengers.

About 5,000 men are employed in operating the company's cars. The company has 3,000 other employes.

SOUTHERNERS BUY SEABOARD

S. Davies Warfield Heads Syndicate and Tells Its Purposes.

The purchase by a syndicate largely composed of Southern capitalists of the Cumberland Corporation's holdings of the stocks of the Seaboard Air Line and the surmise that this group now holds control of the system were confirmed last night by S. Davies Warfield of Baltimore, who heads the purchasing syndicate. Mr. Warfield had acquired in the market during the past year large holdings of the Seaboard stocks, and has taken from the Cumberland Corporation 90,000 shares of the preferred and 120,000 shares of the common stock. These, with the shares already acquired, give him and his associates an actual majority of the $25,000,000 preferred and $37,516,000 common stock outstanding.

As has already been told, the block of stock owned will be trusteed for five years, Mr. Warfield being Chairman of the managers. In a statement given out last night it was explained that he has associated with him in New York, among others, Franak A. Vanderlip, Albert H. Wiggin, Blair & Co., Benjamin Strong, Jr., Charles H. Sabin, Samuel L. Fuller of Kissel, Kinnicut & Co., and Roberts Walker, formerly Chairman of the Board of the Rock Island Company. It was also stated that the Ryan and Coolidge interests in the property will retire. Thomas F. Ryan gave up participation in Seaboard affairs several years ago, when he retired from active business.

The principal associates of Mr. Warfield in the syndicate have financial interests in States of the South traversed by the road. Mr. Warfield laid stress on this point last night. He said:

"The Seaboard Air Line Railway is distinctly a Southern property, and the South's position in Seaboard affairs will now be emphasized. Its independence as a Southern line should be preserved. The read should be operated as such, and from and in the South. The Board of Directors should include representative business and financial men from Southern States through which it operates, and as the representatives of Southern interests. The financial connections of the railroad are enlarged, insuring the procuring of money for its development on the best terms with resultant benefits to both the territory it serves and to its security holders."

COMMERCE CHAMBER APPEALS TO CONGRESS

Fears Reduction of Appropriation for Trade Bureau Will Cripple Commercial Interests.

FAVORS MARGINAL RAILWAY

National Guard Committee Gives Reasons Why So Many Eligible Men Are Out of State Service.

The Chamber of Commerce at its last meeting of the season yesterday prepared steps to start an energetic campaign "to save the now modernized State Department from being crippled" by the reduction of $94,000 made by the House in the annual appropriation for the State Department. This reduction would "abolish the Bureau of Trade Relations, the Divisions of Latin-American and of Far Eastern, New Eastern, and European Affairs." Resolutions adopted by the Chamber declared "destroying the entire organization by which the State Department has been able to extend to American commercial interests that measure of support which every other nation extends to its commercial interests in foreign countries."

At its previous meeting the Chamber protested against this cut in the appropriation, but, meanwhile, it has been passed by the House, and in order to give force to the renewed protest it was voted to memorialize Congress on the subject, and to send copies of these proceedings in the Chamber to the leading commercial organizations throughout the country.

The Committee on Harbor and Shipping offered a resolution, which was adopted, indorsing the proposed international conference for the study of means for increasing the safeguards for life and property at sea. The resolution urged President Taft to assist the German Government in bringing about the conference at the earliest possible date.

Chairman Outerbridge said that his committee had found that Congress had passed a joint resolution asking the President to inquire of foreign nations if they would participate in a marine conference in Washington, but that as the results of the inquiries would not be reported until the next session of Congress, six or seven months must pass before the conference could be assembled. The way to get action before the lesson of the Titanic had been dimmed, he said, was to bend efforts toward participation in the conference proposed by Germany.

The Special Committee on National Guard and Naval Militia, of which Herbert L. Satterlee is Chairman, made a preliminary report in which it was explained that the committee had been in touch with employers representing more than 42,000 men eligible for the militia, but only 3 per cent. of these men were enlisted in the State service. Only two employers had expressed themselves as opposed to employing enlisted men, and 47 out of 491 preferred to have their employes members of the National Guard. The report said:

> The committee is of the opinion that the principal reason that the ranks of the National Guard and Naval Militia are not more full to-day is owing to the indifference of the employe, which is a reflection of the indifference of the employer. This is perhaps attributable to a lack of thorough information on the subject, which the committee will attempt to rectify in its final report.
> The fact that employers apparently make no deduction of pay for time spent on jury duty, but many deduct pay for time spent on military duty must be a controlling factor for many young men who are eligible for the State service, and whose patriotism would prompt them to join it. It ought not to be a hardship to any employer to have, say, 10 per cent. of his force in the State service. Three per cent. would seem to be a very small proportion, in view of the practical advantages to the employer as well as to the employe.

The report on Harbor Improvements, which has been bofer the members of the Chamber for some months past, was taken up again yesterday and carried with but one dissenting vote. This report advocates the building of a marginal elevated freight railway along the water front, the transferring of Sound lines from the North to the East River wherever possible, and urges the Board of Estimate to use for port improvements any borrowing capacity released through self-supporting dock bonds.

A resolution authorizing the attachment of a seal of the Chamber on goods to guarantee its American origin was passed.

KNIT GOODS OPENING.

Lines for Next Season Quoted at Slight Advances.

The Spring, 1913, knit goods season has been officially opened by several of the largest factors in the New York market. The lack of an accepted opening date this year is said to have caused some hesitation in certain quarters of the trade in placing the new season's lines on the market, but now that the opening gun has been fired it is believed that the coming week will see most of the important hosiery and underwear houses in the field. According to a prominent selling agent, quotations on the majority of lines of hosiery offered for the new season show little change from last year's opening prices, some of the lower grades having been advanced 2½ cents a dozen.

Standard lines of balbriggans are said to be quoted at figures about equal to the revised prices of 1911, although rumors are heard that some manufacturers have slightly advanced opening quotations. There is a belief expressed in certain quarters that advances will be made as the season progresses. The well-remembered break in balbriggans a year ago, and the subsequent reduction in the output of the majority of manufacturers left stocks of this underwear generally low in the hands of jobbers and retailers at the beginning of the current season, and it is believed that the stocks of many retailers are still below normal. Consequently, the belief is held that after the retail market is carefully felt out advances will be generally declared. Quotations given yesterday on this merchandise ranged from $1.70 to $1.85 per dozen, according to weight.

HALTS BAGGAGE RATE RISE.

Commerce Commission Holds Up Proposed Excess Regulations.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—New regulations for the transportation of baggage, which were proposed by nearly every railroad in the United States, and in effect would advance the rates on "excess," were suspended to-day by the Inter-State Commerce Commission. The suspension becomes effective July 1, and continues in force 120 days, pending investigation. The proposed regulations read:

> On and after July 1, 1912, for any piece of baggage, (except immigrant baggage checked at port of landing,) the greatest dimensions of which exceeds 45 inches, there will be an additional charge for each additional inch equal to the charge for 10 pounds of excess weight.
>
> On and after July 1, 1912, no piece of baggage, the greatest dimension of which exceeds seventy inches, (excepting immigrant baggage checked at port of landing,) will be transported in baggage cars.

The commission holds that the fixing by the roads of the dimensions of baggage will work an unnecessary hardship on travelers.

COFFEE.

Coffee showed unexpected activity, closing at a net advance of 12 to 20 points on sales aggregating 120,500 bags, including about 25,000 switches. The buying movement appeared to be due to the technical position rather than to any change in the underlying situation. Havre gained ¼ to ½f while Hamburg was unchanged. Rio market advanced 25 reis and Santos was unchanged. Cost and freight offers from Brazil were steady at about previous quotations.

Spot market quiet; 14¼c for Rio 7.

COMMODITY MARKETS.

Cotton Jumps as Wheat Sags—Other Staples Generally Strong.

Wheat values show heaviness, due to beneficial rains west of the Mississippi; Spring wheat reports continue generally favorable. Corn showed strength, with the cash situation firm. Crop news was mainly favorable. Oats rallied on the technical situation, although new crop deliveries showed weakness on the crop outlook. Provisions were steady on fair support from packers. Cotton-oil is firmer with a moderate speculative inquiry; consuming demand is light. Cotton scores unexpectedly large advances; shorts bought freely. Weather conditions are satisfactory, as a rule. Coffee is also more active, and advanced substantially.

WHEAT.

The wheat market was influenced by the official reports of rain in Kansas and Nebraska and opened weak, rallied, but was heavy in the afternoon at about the low point of the day. The selling was quite active at times. The official map showed quite good rains in the sections west of the Missouri, although it was claimed for a time that the rains did not come in the sections where the need was greatest. The fact, however, that the rains of last Saturday have been followed within a week by another quite general storm in the two States had a distinctly depressing influence, and the crop reports showed the influence of these conditions. The Spring wheat news was again very favorable. Western receipts of wheat have shown a decrease for the week, but this had very little influence on the market. The Price Current advices claims that the progress of agricultural interests during the past week has been imminently favorable. At the East cash demand is comparatively quiet and exporters are doing very little. Cable advices were received of good rains in the Argentine which were favorable for the new wheat crop. The Argentine exports for the week were estimated at 2,400,000 bushels, against 2,512,000 bushels last year. Some conflicting advices continue to be received from Russia. Cash prices at the seaboard were nominal, with No. 2 red quoted at $1.21¼, No. 1 Northern $1.26¼, No. 2 hard Winter $1.20½, No. 1 Manitoba $1.15½.

OTHER GRAINS.

CORN.—The corn market was very firm and showed an advance of ⅜ to 1c, closing at some reaction. Although the receipts continued large at the West country offerings were small and the contract offerings in the future market were limited. The reports of crop conditions seem to have very little influence. Most of the news was favorable, although there were some complaints of delayed farm work. The situation is reported as a whole fairly encouraging as to the new crop. Cash corn was nominal, with No. 2 quoted at 83c, free on board.

OATS.—Trading was quite active, with the near deliveries strong, while the new crop deliveries were heavy. This appeared to be due to the anxiety of the July shorts and the oversold condition of the market. The new crop deliveries were weak on the favorable weather conditions and the crop reports indicating a full outturn this year as far as the present development can foreshadow. Cash oats were quoted, Standards, 61c, elevator; No. 3 white, 60½@61c, and No. 2 white, 61½c.

PROVISIONS.

Trading in hog products were quiet, the market showing some improvement in lard. Packers bought at times. Hogs were generally steady, with receipts for the day 87,000. Packing for the week was 550,000, compared with 635,000 last year.

COTTONSEED OIL.

There was increased aggressiveness from bull interests during the day, with more or less buying, inspired by the strength in cotton and the higher lard market. The West, however, did not seem to be especially active on the long side. Offerings were not heavy, and although part of the early pressure was thought to receive its origin from refiners, sales were readily absorbed. The majority of the reports are indicative of a continuation of the slow consuming demand, but, obviously, stability of lard values and a change to less favorable crop prospects at the South are not factors militating against an expansion in the inquiry.

COTTON.

Accompanying the greater activity yesterday was a convincing upturn in values, which at the close represented a gain for the day of about ¼c per pound, following small advances at the outset. The enhancement of values was gradual, and seemed to be largely the result of a strained technical position, with this made more acute by the absorption of contracts recently for the account of powerful interests. Shorts covered freely during the day, but there was also important buying at times by leading spot interests, other prominent bulls of the early part of the season, and for the uptown clique.

European selling served to partly supply the demand at intervals, with also pressure from the South as prices rose, but the volume of sales emanating from bearish circles was comparatively light. It was evident that many who had entertained bearish ideas had become uneasy, due to their limited success on the short side, notwithstanding the improvement which has occurred in the crop outlook the past few weeks, the perfunctory demand reported for spots, indifference on the part of outside interests toward accepting the views of longs, while neither the foreign market nor Manchester advices have been stimulating to bullish enthusiasm.

Weather conditions were not analyzed as unfavorable, with the detailed advices indicating that many of the central and eastern districts received beneficial moisture. There was apprehension in some quarters lest the precipitation again prove excessive in Alabama and Georgia, particularly as the forecast was for showers in the east over night. Clearing weather, however, was expected to set in to-day. The scattered precipitation in Oklahoma was regarded as insufficient, and, although the advices at hand would not suggest that the absence of rain was causing material deterioration, a good fall of moisture in that State and over Central and Northern Texas would eliminate the basis for increasing crop complaints. Some interests call attention to the fact that it was at just about this time last year that the Southwest was experiencing droughty conditions, and, even though the subsoil moisture was not as abundant as at present, the yield was large. Uninterrupted improvement for the past thirty days was claimed to have occurred in the Arkansas and Memphis districts by a prominent expert. Another authority commented upon the poor stands in Oklahoma, resulting largely from insufficient soil preparation, although clean fields were said to be the rule, this work having been permitted by the recent dry weather. The accounts are hopeful, despite a season averaging from ten to twenty-five days late.

Cable advices were slightly better than had been looked for, with spot sales larger at Liverpool, amounting to 10,000 bales. Manchester continues to report yarns and cloths quiet. Mail advices from Germany stated that spinners were well stocked, but this is not surprising, and is generally admitted to be the case almost universally. Meanwhile, active buying by trade interests in the past has removed the surplus at the South from where there is little pressure. Yesterday's spot markets were generally unchanged at Southern points; New York spots were 20c advance, with middling uplands 11.65c.

STOCKS OUT OF TOWN

Many Advances in Local Issues, with Especial Strength Shown by the Boston Coppers.

Trading in the principal markets of other cities was moderately active yesterday, and prices were generally firm. There were some notable advances, as reported in the special dispatches to THE TIMES.

Houston Oil common was active in Baltimore, and advanced more than a point. G. B. S. Brewing 4s were strong and gained nearly 2 points, due, in part, to reports that the controlling interest will spend a considerable sum improving the property.

Stocks were strong and active in Boston. Calumet and Arizona advanced to 78¼, up 2¼; Calumet and Hecla went to 515, up 5; Ahmeek made a new high record at 360, Copper Range got up to 61¼. Lake went to 43, and Isle Royale advanced to 31½. Old Dominion made another high record for the movement at 60. This new high range of price invited considerable profit taking, but offerings were well absorbed and the undertone of the market remained very strong. All of the activity was on the upturn. When prices started to recede a little the tape became quiet.

The advance of several points, to a new high record of 200, made by Chicago Title and Trust shares on dealings, for the most part in small lots, furnished the principal feature of strength in the Chicago market for local securities. Gains of around a point each occurred in Union Carbide, Steel, and Booth Fisheries common stocks. Sears-Roebuck common managed to do a little better than hold its own, while the preferred sold above 125. Fractional advances were made by Swift's, Commonwealth, Edison, and Can common issues. People's Gas, Illinois Brick, and Booth preferred ruled firm and unchanged. Chicago Railways Series 2 led the declines, with a drop of 1½ points. Small declines in Ogden Gas 5s and Chicago Railways B 5s were the only noteworthy exceptions to a steady but quiet market in bonds.

Largely on account of the uneven drift of prices in New York, the market in Philadelphia pursued an irregular course, with quoted values varying only nominally. The encouraging feature was the apparent continuance of buying by investors, but even this was on a moderate basis. The news that attracted most attention was a sale of $6,000,000 Pennsylvania general freight 4 per cent. equipment notes, the first sale of this class of securities by the company in over two years.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Lower Duty on Writing Cases—Horsehair Hat Duty Rate Is Fixed.

The Board of United States General Appraisers yesterday decided that leather portfolios of various kinds imported by Rogers, Peet & Co., and F. B. Vandegrift & Co., are entitled to enter under the Tariff Act of 1909 as manufactures in chief value of leather at the rate of 40 per cent. ad valorem. The portfolios, or writing cases, contain writing paper and envelopes, and, in some instances, pens and pencils. There was no dispute between the Government and the importers that leather is the component material of chief value in the goods.

Collector Loeb, however, assessed the articles at 50 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 452, for permanently fitted leather cases. Judge McClelland finds that the cases are similar to merchandise held in an abstract decision to be dutiable as claimed in the present protests. The lower rate is granted, with an order to the Collector to reliquidate the entries accordingly.

A decision was handed down by Judge Howell relating to untrimmed horsehair hats, in which the so-called "similitude" clause of the Tariff was interpreted. The merchandise in question was imported by the Upland Millinery Company, and imported under the Act of 1897. The hats were classified as dutiable by similitude to silk hats and assessed at the rate of 60 per cent. ad valorem, under the provision for silk wearing apparel under Paragraph 390 of the law. Various claims are filed by the protestant, but the claim relied on is that the hats are dutiable by similitude to straw hats, at the rate of 35 per cent., under Paragraph 409.

After quoting authorities, Judge Howell reaches the conclusion that in quality and texture a hat made of horsehair braids more closely resemble a hat made of silk than it does one manufactured of straw braids. Another point emphasized in the Board's decision is that in respect to material, horsehair bears a greater resemblance to silk than to straw, for the reason that both horsehair and silk are animal products, while straw is a vegetable substance. The Board upholds the Collector's action in classifying the hats at the rate applicable to silk wearing apparel.

PROPOSALS.

Office of the Comptroller of the City of New Orleans, City Hall.

New Orleans, May 16th, 1912.

The City of New Orleans, acting under authority of Act 179 of the General Assembly of the State of Louisiana for the year 1908, ratified by Constitutional Amendment, and now a part of the Constitution of the State of Louisiana, will receive sealed proposals at the office of the Comptroller of the City of New Orleans up to twelve (12) o'clock noon, on the 20th day of June, 1912, for the purchase of $300,000 in face value of Public Belt Railroad Bonds of the City of New Orleans, authorized by and to be issued under and subject to the provisions of the Act aforementioned, and the Constitutional Amendment ratifying same, and of the numbers, denominations, and maturities of the authorized issue of $2,000,000, and in the form of and in accordance with the bond schedule of the maturities of the entire authorized issue, as given and prescribed by an ordinance of the City of New Orleans, being Ord. No. 8628, N. C. S., approved May 14th, 1912, and Ord. No. 8629, N. C. S., approved May 14, 1912, of said City, authorizing the present offering.

Said bonds are of the denomination of $1,000 each, and bear interest at the rate of five per cent. per annum, evidenced by coupons attached, payable semi-annually on the 1st days of January and July, respectively, of each year.

Said bonds are the first issuance out of the total amount authorized by said Act and Constitutional Amendment, and are of the numbers, amounts and maturities, as follows, to wit:

Fifty bonds, Nos. 6901 to 6950, inclusive, aggregating in face value $50,000, maturing July 1st, 1958.

One hundred bonds, Nos. 6801 to 6900, inclusive, aggregating in face value $100,000, maturing July 1st, 1957.

One hundred bonds, Nos. 6701 to 6800, inclusive, aggregating in face value $100,000, maturing July 1st, 1956.

Said bonds are subject to call by the City of New Orleans on the 1st day of July, 1929, or on any interest day thereafter, at par and accrued interest, on thirty (30) days' notice of its intention to so redeem, published in the official newspaper of the City of New Orleans.

They are, by the aforesaid Act and Constitutional Amendment, exempt from all State, Parish and Municipal taxes, and may be legally invested for the estates of minors and of interdicts, and are receivable by State, Parish and Municipal officers where, by law, deposits of bonds are allowed or required to be made.

The payment of the principal and interest of said bonds is made a preferential charge upon the net revenues of the Public Belt Railroad of the City of New Orleans, and are and will be issued under and subject to the aforementioned statutes and ordinances, all of which are hereby referred to and made part of this advertisement for greater certainty and particularity.

Said proposals shall be received under and subject to the following conditions, to wit:

Proposals must be in writing, sealed, and marked on the outside of the envelope "proposals for the purchase of $300,000 of Public Belt Railroad Bonds of the City of New Orleans," and shall likewise be accompanied by a certified check on some chartered bank in the City of New Orleans, for an amount equal to one per cent. of the aggregate amount of the bid, which said check of the successful bidder or bidders shall be cashed and the proceeds retained by the City of New Orleans as a guarantee that the successful bidder or bidders will comply with its or their bids, and the said proceeds shall be applied to the payment of the bonds last delivered to the successful bidder or bidders, respectively. In case of the neglect or refusal to comply with any bid, the proceeds of said check shall be forfeited to the Public Belt Railroad Commission of the City of New Orleans.

No sale shall be made unless the aggregate of bids received equals the full amount of the present offering of $300,000, in face value, and the adjudication shall be made to the highest bidder, provided, however, that no adjudication shall take place for less than par and accrued interest. All matured interest coupons shall be cut from said bonds and cancelled, and the successful bidder shall pay the interest which may have accrued on said bonds up to the date of delivery. The bonds shall be paid for in cash as fast as said bonds can be signed and delivered. All bonds will be delivered within thirty days from the opening of said bids. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

Further particulars and information will be furnished on application to W. B. Thompson, President Pro tem., Public Belt Railroad Commission, or to Charles R. Kennedy, Comptroller of the City of New Orleans.

CHARLES R. KENNEDY,
Comptroller of the City of New Orleans.

Conservatism

is a factor of large importance in the safe and profitable investment of money. It is a check against impulsive decision, and a restraint against hasty action, so often the excuse for ill-advised investment.

Included among our current bond offerings are several issues yielding from 5% to 6%, which make a strong appeal to well-informed investors desiring to increase the average earning power of their money, or wishing to add to their holdings of conservative investments.

An Ideal Method of Saving

SAFE FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS, yielding 5 to 6 per cent., when obtainable in denominations of $100 and convertible into $1,000 bonds, constitute, in our judgment, an ideal way of saving money for people of moderate means.

For example: We offer at a price to yield 6% First Mortgage Bonds of a steam railroad issued at the low rate of $10,000 per mile. These bonds are in $100 pieces, and when ten are accumulated may be converted into $1,000 bonds. Meanwhile purchasers receive a return at least 50 per cent. higher than paid by most savings banks.

We have sold Bonds of this issue to conservative investors.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Prices Make Further Progress—Sharp Advance in Some Copper Shares.

The net gains recorded at the close of yesterday's trading did not entirely bear out the impression of strength which observers of the dealings gathered from a casual survey of the course of trading during the session. This is partly due to the fact that a good many quotations eased off before the close from the high prices of the day, and partly to the large share of attention which traders gave to the dealings in Amalgamated Copper and a few of the other copper stocks. A net gain of 1⅞ in Amalgamated, which closed near the top price of the session, helped, therefore, to give the market an appearance of greater strength than it actually showed. At the same time further gains in most stocks, following the advances of the previous day, justified the feeling of satisfaction which was felt by those whose interests lay in the long side of the market. Trading was in somewhat larger volume than on Wednesday, and moreover, the market was broader than of late in some other ways than in the mere amount of sales. The experience at least of some commission houses indicate that it was easier yesterday than on most days of late even during the recent period of advancing prices to sell stocks without depressing prices. This might be interpreted as indicating a feeling of greater confidence on the part of the trading groups, which have been active in the market of late, but there were some indications that it was at least in part due to a return to the market of some capitalists, other than those closely identified with Stock Exchange operations, who had previously shown little disposition to buy stocks except for investment in the strict sense.

With the convening of the Republican National Committee at Chicago, the political situation naturally forced itself to some extent upon financial discussion, but the Stock Exchange was hardly paying much attention to the developments in that quarter. If one were to attempt to analyze the source of the apparent indifference to political considerations, even in a campaign where questions as momentous as those now under discussion have been raised, it might be possible to find it in the fact that even though Mr. Taft is admittedly a safer leader than Mr. Roosevelt, he has few supporters, and it may be said, no enthusiastic admirers, in the financial district, certainly not among those whose opinions go furthest in the shaping of the views of the financial community. Thus coldness, or even something more, toward Mr. Taft has readily been translated into tolerance of, or even support for, Mr. Roosevelt, in the belief that, on the part of many in the financial district, that there is more than a modicum of accuracy in the prediction which many are now making that there would be far less radicalism in another Roosevelt administration than in the present Roosevelt campaign. It is upon this background that is being projected the present drift of political discussion so far as it concerns the financial community, and herein lies at least one explanation of the indifference which the Stock Exchange and those from whom it largely gathers its opinions, have been showing toward the outcome of the present struggle within the Republican party. Current indications that Mr. Taft's position in the pre-convention manoeuvring is being strengthened, though a helpful development in the eyes of those who are convinced of the dangerous character of the campaign which Mr. Roosevelt has been waging, and of the policies to which he is committing himself, were for the reason given above, an unimportant factor in the firmness of the stock market yesterday.

The result of the State bond sale was not fully known before the close of business, but it was apparent, from the list of bids published during the afternoon, that a great majority of those bidding for the bonds valued them at but a small fraction over par. The relatively large amount of the offering and the fact that the sale followed rather closely upon the largest issue of New York City bonds ever put out, are among the factors which helped to keep down the premium on this State issue. What Wall Street heard during the day of the proceedings before the committee of Congress which is inquiring into the "money trust" supplied no ground for changing the previous assumption that little, if anything, would be brought out other than matters which are of common knowledge. Under the circumstances it was natural that the Stock Exchange paid no attention to this feature of the news. With reports of rain in sections where the grain crops have needed more moisture after the recent hot weather came complaints of too much rain in some of the cotton States. Thus, the good and the bad is mingled in the current crop news, as is inevitable, but so long as conditions of weather and soil are as generally good as they are now believed to be, the burden of proof will be very decidedly on those who assume to predict an unsatisfactory outcome of this year's crops.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call loaned on Stock Exchange collateral at 2¾@3 per cent., with the last loan at 2¾ per cent. Most of the day's loans were made at 2¾ per cent.

Many large lenders on call are holding their money at 3 per cent.

Time money rates, 3 per cent. for sixty days, 3@3¼ per cent. for ninety days, 3¼@3½ per cent. for four months, 3½@3¾ per cent. for five and six months, and 4 per cent. for over the year.

Commercial paper was quoted at 3½@3¾ per cent. for prime four to six months' maturity.

New York Clearing House statement: Exchanges, $319,246,925; balances, $19,132,440; Sub-Treasury credit balance, $553,279.

The local banks have lost $2,061,000 on their Sub-Treasury operations since Friday.

FOREIGN RATES.

Discount rates abroad yesterday were: London, 2 13-16@2⅞ per cent. for short bills and 2 13-16 per cent. for three months' bills; Paris, 2⅞ per cent., and Berlin, 4⅛ per cent. The money rates were 2¼@2½ per cent. in London and 4 per cent. in Berlin.

The Paris check rate on London was 25 francs 23½ centimes and the Berlin check rate on London 20 marks 44½ pfennigs.

Foreign exchange rates at the points noted were quoted as follows at the close of business yesterday:

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Oil Companies Run as Before.

Some recent events have made it very clear that however successful the Government may have been in breaking up the Standard Oil and American Tobacco "trusts," it did not succeed in diverting the minds of the managements of the many companies into which these "trusts" have been divided from the smooth channel in which they were accustomed to work. The latest illustration comes in the shape of the declaration by several of the former subsidiaries of the American Tobacco Company of the same rate of dividends on their common stocks, payable on the same date, to the stockholders of record on the same date. By what telepathic, or other system, the same rates and dates were decided on in all these cases has not been made known. It is subject of remark in this same connection that in dealing with their stockholders the thirty-odd former subsidiaries of the Standard Oil companies in nearly all cases adopted precisely the same policy in respect to supplying, or rather not supplying, information to their stockholders immediately after the distribution by the Standard Oil Company, this policy in a number of cases being couched in practically identical words. Thus the smooth course of trust management seems to run even, though encroached upon by such cruel things as decrees of dissolution!

Wheeling's Surplus Directors.

The Wheeling & Lake Erie, which would like to have every reasonable opportunity to economize on administration expenses while it is in the hands of the court, has had two full Boards of Directors inflicted upon it as a result of the peculiar mix-up which occurred this week. An advertisement of the annual stockholders' meeting made the date Wednesday, June 4. On Tuesday, which was June 4, the minority holders met, declared all the fifteen places on the board vacant, and elected their own candidates. On Wednesday, June 5, the majority stockholders, in the person of a legal representative armed with 51 per cent. of the stock, held the regular meeting and voted in favor of an adjournment to June 12.

Sudden Drop in Omaha.

In the face of an advancing market yesterday 100 shares of Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha sold at 128, a loss of 10 points from the previous sale. The Omaha is owned by the Chicago & Northwestern, and pays 7 per cent. dividends. There has been no development within the company to depreciate its stock, and Thursday's sale probably furnished another instance of the disadvantage of finding a market for an inactive issue, where the price is apt to swing widely either way with the transfer of a small block of stock.

Starting Against a Handicap.

Few men who have taken up new responsibilities have met so many difficulties at the outset as B. F. Bush, President of the Missouri Pacific and Denver & Rio Grande. As head of the Western Maryland Mr. Bush made an excellent showing, with the result that after it had been reported that $100,000 a year had been offered most of the well-known railroad men in the East to take charge of the Missouri Pacific it was suddenly decided to promote Mr. Bush. His election was followed by what the weather sharps characterized as the worst Winter in seventy years, and before the company had gotten its breath again the disastrous floods put more than a hundred miles of the Iron Mountain under several feet of water. The first full year under the new management will show a deficit, after charges, of $2,000,000. The new President has never lost his cheerfulness in the presence of the accumulating troubles, and by the law of averages he will never again see such discouraging weather conditions on the Gould territory.

STOCK EXCHANGE AVERAGES.

The twenty-five typical railroad stocks and twenty-five industrials averaged higher again yesterday, the industrials reaching, at the highest point of the day, the top average figures so far this year. The close for both groups was at the mean of the day's trading. The two groups closed with a net gain of seven-tenths of a point. The averages were:

BOSTON, June 6.—The bill which would allow the Southern New England (Grand Trunk) Railroad to extend its lines to this city was enacted to-day in the House of Representatives. It was sent to the Senate for similar action.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Trading Brisker and Prices Advance to Substantially Higher Levels in Many Issues.

Trading on the Curb yesterday was fairly active, and in the brisker market there were a number of substantial advances. Standard Oil of New York, which is usually traded in over-the-counter exclusively, appeared in considerable volume in the open market. After opening at 410 the price advanced to 436. The close was at 420. United Cigar Stores, though less active than in recent markets, moved up substantially. The top price was 245½, and the close, after sales of 550, was at 243. The coppers were strong and active in spots. Braden continued upward, rising from the opening at 7 to 7¼. The close was at 7⅛ after sales of 7,000 shares. British Columbia sold off from 6 to 5⅞, but rose to 6⅛, which was the closing figure. Greene-Cananea and Giroux were also strong, the former rising from 10 to 10⅜, and closing at 10¼. The new New York State 4s sold off from 100⅜ to 100¼, transactions of $75,000 being reported.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Strength and activity marked the dealings on the Consolidated Stock Exchange. Optimistic views as to the outlook for the crops and general business helped the price advances. Commission houses reported a broadening of public interest and they handled a large volume of odd-lot orders. Of the total sales, amounting to 56,490 shares, Steel common accounted for 13,700 shares and Reading for 12,760 shares. Other large individual totals were Union Pacific, 7,480 shares; Amalgamated Copper, 6,930 shares, and Smelting, 4,550 shares. American Can, Lehigh Valley, Atchison, Erie, Missouri Pacific, Anaconda, and Utah Copper all had much attention accorded them. Pennsylvania became strong and active in the closing dealings. Fifty-three stocks made up the list.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

White & Co. have issued a circular on railroad and public utility bonds giving a high yield.

The Lake Superior Corporation has called for redemption its $5,000,000 of 6 per cent. three-year notes on Sept. 9.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has sold to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. $6,000,000 of its 4 per cent. equipment certificates. They mature serially in from one to ten years.

At the annual meeting of the Canada Southern yesterday the proposed plan for authorizing a $40,000,000 consolidated mortgage was approved. Bonds to the amount of $22,500,000, guaranteed by the Michigan Central, will be issued soon under the new mortgage for refunding and improvement purposes.

John M. Stoddard and William M. St. John have been appointed assistant cashiers of the National Bank of Commerce.

P. W. Brooks & Co. announce that the issue of $700,000 Jackson Light and Traction Company first 5s of Jackson, Miss., has been oversubscribed.

Daniel B. Ely & Co., 80 Broadway, are offering the 6 per cent. cumulative preferred stock of the Associated Gas and Electric Company to yield 6½ per cent. The earnings of this company after payment of all operating and fixed charges are two and one-half times the 6 per cent. dividend.

Hanson R. Duval has been elected a member of the Stock Exchange. He will become board member of Duval, Carroll & Co., a new firm, with offices at 66 Broadway.

TO INCREASE OIL CAPITAL.

Standard of New York Expected to Go from $15,000,000 to $60,000,000.

Although no official information has been given out by the Directors of the Standard Oil Company of New York, rumors have been persistent among specialists in oil stocks that the company is planning to increase its capital from $15,000,000 to $50,000,000 or $60,000,000. The company at the first of the year had assets of about $92,000,000, of which $26,428,190 consisted of cash and debts receivable, and $5,924,417 in stocks and bonds owned. Merchandise and stock in process of manufacture was carried at $34,557,084.

The increase in the company's capital stock to a figure which will more nearly represent value has been generally expected, but the guesses have been divided as to whether this will take place before the company has been operating as a separate entity for a full year.

It was estimated yesterday that transactions in the stock at rising prices aggregated between 500 and 1,000 shares. In the open market on the Curb there were sales of more than 200, on which the price rose from 410 to 436, and the close was at 420. Only a short time ago the stock sold as low as 392.

RAILWAY IN LYNCHING SUIT.

Supreme Court to Decide Its Liability for Conveying Mob.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Whether a railroad that carries a mob to a town to lynch a man is liable to damages to the victim's widow and children is a point to be brought in a case for review before the Supreme Court of the United States.

Mrs. Annie May Rogers and her three children sued the Vicksburg, Shreveport & Pacific Railroad Company on the charge of having carried by special train a mob from Monroe, La., to Tallulah, La., where Rogers was lynched. He had been charged with murdering a man, and was about to be released on the ground that he had been tried once before on the charge.

The lower Federal Court held that as a matter of law the railroad might be liable.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

Business Quiet in London—Consols Lower—Much Realizing in Berlin.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Friday, June 7.—The Times says in its City article to-day:

"Owing to the disinclination of most discount houses to take bills at rather lower rates, day-to-day advances were offered yesterday more freely. The rate for weekly fixtures, however, was firm. The India Council made no change in its terms. The rates for discount on all bills with more than two months to run were a trifle lower.

"Business on the Stock Exchange was restricted, but in several departments prices were fairly well maintained. The continued strength of copper shares was particularly noticeable.

"The American market was also well supported. Argentine railway stocks were higher.

"Consols were depressed and left off ¼ lower on the news that an issue of New Zealand two-year notes was being arranged.

"The home railway market moved irregularly.

"The Foreign Department was inclined to be weak. Nicaraguan bonds, however, rose sharply.

"Mining shares were quiet. Nigerian tin issues again gave way."

PARIS, June 6.—Prices were firm on the Bourse to-day.

Three per cent. rentes, 93f 90c for the account.

Exchange on London, 25f 23½c for checks.

Private discount rate, 2⅞ per cent.

BERLIN, June 6.—There was much realizing on the Boerse to-day, and prices were weaker.

HYDE ASKS SPEEDY TRIAL.

District Attorney Whitman Prefers, However, to Argue the Habeas Corpus Writ.

Ex-Judge Henry B. Unger, acting for Max D. Steuer, counsel for ex-City Chamberlain Charles H. Hyde, yesterday informed District Attorney Whitman that Mr. Steuer would abandon the writ of habeas corpus obtained by Hyde, provided his client received an immediate trial. Mr. Whitman refused to enter into any agreement for an immediate trial, but agreed to postpone the argument on the writ of habeas corpus for one week. The argument was to have taken place before Justice Blanchard in the Supreme Court to-day, and the delay will bring it before Justice Page.

Mr. Whitman did not wish to move the Hyde case for immediate trial as no Justice is sitting in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court at present. Justice McCall will open the June term next week, but will sit simply to dispose of routine work and hear pleadings. Justice Davis was requested to sit in the Criminal Branch this month, but refused to do so.

FOR FREE TYPE MACHINES.

Canadian Editors Ask Government to Remove 20 Per Cent. Duty.

Special to The New York Times.

OTTAWA, Ontario, June 6.—An appeal to the Government for the removal or reduction of the 20 per cent. duty on typesetting machines followed this morning's session of the Canadian Press Association's annual convention in Ottawa. Before the association decided by vote to send a delegation to the Government a number of members of the association argued that the duty should be maintained, if not actually increased, in the hope that a linotype industry might be established in Canada.

It was contended that the removal of the duty would leave no room for such a prospect. A majority of the association, however, voted for an application to the Government, which was duly made. The request was heard by Premier Borden and the Minister of Finance, who promised its early consideration.

Don C. Seitz of The New York World told the association some history of the relations between the New York newspaper proprietors and the I. T. U. He made the point that the power of the I. T. U. largely depends upon its contracts with the publishers.

The annual dinner of the association took place to-night in the Chateau Laurier, and was attended by Premier Borden and other Ministers of the Government.

PARCELS POST WITH PANAMA.

Hitchcock Makes an Agreement Which Means Much to Exporters.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Final negotiations were completed by Postmaster General Hitchcock this morning for the establishment of a Parcels Post Convention between the United States and the Republic of Panama. The agreement means much to exporters of this country, as the shipments of small packages through the mails to Panama make up a large volume.

The conditions of the convention are practically the same as those made with other countries, the rate on parcels being 12 cents a pound, or fraction of a pound within the weight limit to eleven pounds.

The United States already has parcels post conventions with 44 countries of the world, and at the present time Mr. Hitchcock is negotiating with Portugal, France, Guiana, Martinique and Guadaloupe for the extension of the service.

WOULD TAX LEASED ROADS.

Solicitor General Lehmann Asks Supreme Court to Review Adverse Decision.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—In the hope of being able to compel railroad companies which have leased their property to other companies to pay the Federal corporation tax, Solicitor General Lehmann today filed with the Supreme Court a request for a review of the decision of the Federal courts in Pennsylvania against the Government on this point.

The Minehill & Schuylkill Haven Railroad Company, which leased to the Philadelphia & Reading Railway Corporation for 999 years all its rights except that to be a corporation, convinced the lower court that it was not "carrying on or doing business" within the meaning of the corporation tax provisions.

Mr. Lehmann told the court that the question will arise in numerous cases as many railroad properties are operated under substantially similar agreements.

California

The per capita wealth of California in 1911 was $2,800, or $1,675 in excess of the per capita wealth of the United States. This is due to the following reasons:
(a) The opportunity for large income from natural products (the produce transported from this State last year being valued at $680,000,000);
(b) The increasing development of commercial relations, to which the opening and operation of the Panama Canal will give an additional impetus;
(c) The already large industrial growth contingent upon the scientific development of natural resources.
California Public Utility Securities offer an unusual opportunity for attractive investment.

WINES ARRIVE IN TANK CARS.

Shipment from California Foreshadows a Revolution in Transportation.

The arrival of 40,000 gallons of California wines in tank cars yesterday foreshadows a revolution in the method of transporting these wines to the principal Eastern markets in the future.

Heretofore California wines have always been shipped in barrels of about fifty-one gallons capacity, with from sixty to sixty-five barrels shipped in a single car. In the new method the wine is put into steel tanks, properly lined inside with a coating to protect the contents, each of which holds from 12,000 to 15,000 gallons. This method of shipping greatly reduces transportation charges, as one tank car will carry as much as four or five cars loaded with wine in barrels. Yesterday's shipment consisted of six cars, consigned to a local agency. It left Stockton, Cal., on May 27. In their course eastward the cars were handled in turn by the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Chicago & Northwestern, and New York Central Railroads. The wine was tested on its arrival here, and found to be in perfect condition.

Because of the regulations of the Inter-State Commerce Commission requiring shippers to own their tank cars, this method of shipping wine requires a large initial investment. For this reason it is believed that the new method will be adopted gradually by the trade in general.

FOREIGN TRADE OPPORTUNITIES.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The Consular and Trade Report will note the following foreign trade opportunities. Further information regarding these may be obtained by addressing the Bureau of Manufactures, care of the Department of Commerce and Labor, Washington, D. C., giving the number of item referred to:

8,929. VENTILATING FANS AND PARTS.—An American Consular officer in the United Kingdom reports that a business firm in his district has inquired for the names of American makers of ventilating fans driven by hot-air motors, to be fitted with Bunsen burners suitable for petrol air gas. The firm also states in its communication that it would like to receive prices for parts to be used for repairs.

8,930. ASBESTOS PRODUCTS.—A Japanese firm with a number of branch offices informs an American Consular officer that it desires to be put in touch with American manufacturers of asbestos products.

8,931. AGENCIES FOR AMERICAN FIRMS.—A report from an American Consul states that a firm of commission agents in his district would like to secure agencies for any business houses in the United States caring to do an export business with the country in question.

8,932. SHELF COVERS, TABLE BRAIZES, AND STAIR AND FLOOR CLOTHS.—The Bureau of Manufactures is in receipt of a communication from a manufacturing firm in this country stating that it has an inquiry from a customer in Europe for the names of manufacturers of shelf covers, table braizes, and stair and floor cloths.

8,933. GLASS PRESERVE JARS.—An American Consular officer in Canada reports that a resident of his district, who furnishes bank references, desires to receive quotations from makers of three-quarter-pound glass jars known as "honey jars" and ten-ounce jars of a similar sort.

8,934. MACHINES FOR GRATING COCOANUTS.—A report from an American Consulate in a Latin-American country states that a local exporter to the United States desires to obtain catalogues of machines for grating coconuts. Manufacturers of such machines should forward catalogues in the Spanish language if possible.

8,935. DUPLICATING MACHINES.—A firm in Africa dealing in typewriters and supplies informs an American Consulate that it is anxious to get in touch with American makers of a good duplicating machine suitable for that market.

8,936. FLOUR.—A report from an American Consulate in the United Kingdom regarding the market for flour in his district was accompanied by a letter from a local firm requesting to be put in touch with certain American shippers of this article. It desires to have connections with one of the best shippers in each of the principal flour exporting States, and the only State not represented is Nebraska.

8,937. IRON AND STEEL PRODUCTS.—An American Consul reports that the manager of certain foreign metal-working factories desires to enter into correspondence with American manufacturers of iron and steel products. The present demands amount to 800 tons per annum, and up to the present purchases have been made from Gremany and Belgium.

8,938. SEWING MACHINES, MOTORS, BOATS, AUTOMOBILES, &C.—A "business firm in a Mediterranean country informs an American Consulate that it is in the market for the following articles: Sewing machines, marine motors, motor boats, steel and wood, knocked down; electric automobiles, small coupe type, two seats, and motor cycles. The firm is well rated and has large show rooms on the principal thoroughfare of the city in which it is located.

8,939. ALUMINIUM WARE.—Some of the largest wholesale merchants in an Asiatic city have requested an American Consul to secure the names of American manufacturers of aluminium ware.

8,940. AUTOMOBILES.—A report from an American consular officer in a Latin-American country states that a resident desires catalogues and prices for the purchase of two sixteen-passenger automobile trucks, to be delivered in November. Price of this car should not exceed $1,500.

8,941. LUBRICATING OILS AND GREASES.—An American Consul in a European country reports that a business man in his district has requested to be placed in communication with first-class American makers of lubricating oils and greases. Preference will be given to firms which are not represented in the country in which he is located.

8,942. SUGAR EXCHANGE.—A sugar association in a foreign country is considering a proposition for the erection of a central sugar exchange, and with this object in view a committee of the association desires information regarding the best means of storing and stacking white sugars.

8,943. PAPER.—A business man in a South American country informs an American Consular officer that he would like to receive quotations cost, insurance, and freight to city in which he is located for paper similar to samples, which can be obtained from the Bureau of Manufactures, or of even better quality paper. This stationery is intended for the use of the Department of Justice in the country in question. Correspondence should be in Spanish.

8,944. AUTOMOBILES.—A member of a trade organization in the United States who resides in a large city of the West Indies desires to purchase several passenger automobile busses, each capable of carrying fourteen or more persons, to replace coaches in a passenger service between two cities. Specifications and conditions of service can be obtained by addressing the organization in question.

8,945. PLANT FOR MANUFACTURE OF TURPENTINE.—A business man in Central America informs an American association that he desires to install a complete plant for the manufacture of turpentine by the direct distillation of wood.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

ERNEST LIQUORI.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Ernest Liquori, dealer in liquors and groceries at 64 Amsterdam Avenue, by these creditors: P. Pastene & Co., $243; Italo-American Stores, $20, and the Gazzolo & Fogliati Wine Company, $282. It is alleged that he is insolvent and has transferred the business in bulk without notice to creditors to John Warsham. Liabilities said to be $6,000 and assets probably $4,000, proceeds of the sale of the business. The business was started in 1893 by his father, and Ernest has carried it on since February, 1908.

BENJAMIN SAROFF.—Benjamin Saroff of 1,785 Fulton Avenue has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities $979 to three creditors and nominal assets $1,517 in uncollectable accounts in Birmingham, Ala. He owes $486 to the Traders' National Bank of Birmingham on a note and $493 to two creditors in this city. He was formerly in a cloak business in Birmingham, which he gave up two years ago, and it is said in the trade that he is now interested in a cloak manufacturing business on University Place.

F. A. SEITZ REALTY AND CONSTRUCTION COMPANY.—Judge Hand has granted an order of discontinuance of the bankruptcy proceedings brought on Nov. 4, 1911, against the Frank A. Seitz Realty and Construction Company of 1,182 Broadway. The company asserted that it was not insolvent on the date the bankruptcy petition was filed.

JAMES A. NOONE.—Judge Hough has dismissed the petition in bankruptcy filed on Dec. 27, 1911, against James A. Noone, wholesale lumber dealer of 99 Nassau Street, on consent of the creditors. He put in an answer in which he denied that he was insolvent, and denied that he committed the acts of bankruptcy alleged in the petition.

DAIRY PRODUCTS COMPANY. — Judge Hough has dismissed the petition in bankruptcy filed on Jan. 2 against the Dairy Products Company of New York of 406 West Forty-fifth Street on default of the petitioning creditors to appear when the case was called for trial. The company had twelve creameries in Sullivan County, N. Y., and owed $206,681.

WILEY-HARKER LUMBER COMPANY.—Judge Hand has appointed A. Leo Everett receiver for the Wiley-Harker Lumber Company of 200 Fifth Avenue, with authority to continue business. Liabilities are $54,000 and assets $24,000.

JOSEPH WARSHAWSKY.—Schedules in bankruptcy of Joseph Warshawsky, jeweler of 392 Grand Street, show liabilities $10,395 and assets $8,281, of which the principal items are: Stock, $800; fixtures, $735; notes, $4,000, and accounts, $2,000. Among the creditors are Baumgold Brothers & Co., $2,886; Herman J. Dietz, $1,852, and J. Macher, $1,229.

Away From the Dusty Town

As you pick out a comfortable seat on the great shaded decks of a Day Line Steamer every one of your five senses is satisfied.

Your ticket insures you a safe and happy voyage out of and away from the work and worry of the hot, dusty town.

The swift steamer provides you with every first class accommodation of summer luxury, treats you to delightful concerts by an excellent orchestra, exhibits to you a continuous variety of beautiful pictures along either shore of the Hudson, and finally, in all too short a time, lands you at "that haven where you would be," happy, refreshed and satisfied.

ALBANY DAY LINE STEAMERS, DAILY, except Sunday, leave Desbrosses St., 8:40 A. M.; W. 42d St., 9 A. M.; W. 129th St., 9:20 A. A New Enjoyment Down There

Try a summer excursion to Jamaica. Join a few congenial companions, take a camera and have your impressions moulded anew. It is the most enjoyable shore cruise, with the greatest variety of interest, out of any American port.

An unfailing sea breeze and an air-cooled stateroom will keep you comfortable all the way. The summer temperature in Jamaica ranges from 74° to 84°, and if you continue on to the Panama Canal the temperature is about the same.

22-Day Cruise from New York every Wednesday; 24-Day Cruise every Saturday.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Interest Growing in Van Cortlandt Auction — H. C. Severance Buyer of Rockefeller Plot—Fifty-fourth Street House for Trade—Bronx Deals and Active Market in the Suburbs.

Realty circles throughout the city are evincing keen interest in the big sale of 719 lots comprising the last portion of the enormous Van Cortlandt farm, which will be offered at auction to-morrow beginning at 10:30 o'clock on the property, by Joseph P. Day. Not in years has there been an offering of such magnitude of property ready for improvement and enjoying excellent transit facilities. It will be the largest land sale in New York since the auction of the Ogden estate, in the west section of the Bronx, and just south of the Van Cortlandt property, sold five years ago.

These 719 lots lie between Van Cortlandt Park, originally a part of the old farm, on the north; Moshulo Parkway on the east, Jerome Park reservoir, 237th and 238th Streets, on the south, and Broadway on the west. The Subway, which at that point is elevated, runs along Broadway, ending at the lower end of Van Cortlandt Park.

Judging from the interest which has been shown in the sale by operators and investors, there will be a large outpouring of bidders, and good prices for the choicer parcels are looked for. The offering represents what will probably be the last property of good size on Broadway likely to come into the auction market, and it is the last of the old Bronx estates which have remained in the family hands from Colonial times.

The sale is due to friendly partition proceedings instituted by the various heirs of the Van Cortlandt family.

Buyer of Rockefeller Plot.

H. Craig Severance, the architect, is President of the syndicate known as the Forty-fifth Street Realty Company, which purchased from John D. Rockefeller the three buildings at 7, 9, and 11 West Forty-fifth Street in the rear of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church. When the leases to the Forty-fifth Street buildings expire, Oct. 1 next, work will begin on a high-class twenty-story office structure costing about $500,000. The plot to be improved has a frontage of 45 feet and adjoins the northwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Forty-fifth Street. The new structure is to be ready for occupancy in the Spring or early Summer of 1913.

54th Street Residence for Trade.

The three-story residence at 136 East Fifty-fourth Street, on plot 17.6 by 100, between Park and Lexington Avenues, has been sold by Pease & Elliman for Mrs. Thomas Kelly to the Misses Elizabeth and Esther De La Reussille, who will alter the house for business. It will be the first residence in the block to be used for commercial purposes. The property has been owned by the Kelly family for over half a century.

Investor Buys on the Heights.

The new five-story quadruple apartment house 1,516 St. Nicholas Avenue, on a plot 42 by 100, has been sold to an investor by Donald Robinson. The property has been held at $70,000. Goodwin & Goodwin were the brokers in the transaction.

Shubert's New Leases.

No new theatres are contemplated, it was said yesterday by Lee Shubert, in Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth Streets, where the Shuberts and Winthrop Ames are erecting new houses. The additional property leased from the Astor estate, being 233 to 243 West Forty-fourth Street and 232 to 242 West Forty-fifth Street, twelve houses, have been taken to use in connection with the theatres now building, as the plot formerly acquired was not sufficient for the projected improvements.

$600,000 Fourth Avenue Loan.

The Realty Holding Company has obtained a loan of $600,000 from the Chelsea Realty Company on the new loft being erected at the northwest corner of Fourth Avenue and Twenty-ninth Street, on plot 107.6 by 80 and irregular.

Bronx Borough Sales.

E. J. Busher has sold for Jacob Cohn a lot 25 by 100 south side of East 159th Street, 50 feet west of Melrose Avenue, to William Procter, who owns the property adjoining.

The McCarthy Macy Company has purchased a plot of four lots, 100 by 100, on the easterly side of Faile Street, 100 feet south of Seneca Avenue, adjoining the corner improved by them this Spring. Two five-story apartments will be erected on the site.

Brooklyn.

John Welden has sold for the Duff estate of Manhattan to a client 80 feet on Newtown Creek, extending back 480 feet to Bridgewater Street, between Varick and Morse Streets. This property has been in the Duff family over sixty-five years, and was sold to Mr. Welden's client as an investment.

Annie Haines has sold to an investor 210 Willoughby Avenue, a four-story brownstone apartment house. The Bulkley & Horton Company were the brokers.

James R. Ross has sold the four-story double apartment house, 1,356 Bergen Street, for L. E. Sutton to Andrew Peters for investment.

G. W. Snyder & Son have sold 856 President Street, near Eighth Avenue, a four-story and basement brownstone dwelling, on a lot 20 by 100, for L. Monjo, to a Manhattan client for occupancy. The reported price was $20,000.

James J. Connor and James J. Crowe have sold for Irving Portman two three-story brick apartment houses on plot 32 by 50 at 58 and 60 Rockaway Avenue. Hyman Goldberg, the buyer, gave in part payment a saloon at 165 Willis Avenue, in the Bronx.

Long Island Sales.

The Windsor Land and Improvement Company has sold at Lynbrook to H. Laukeman and A. Flatley each a plot 40 by 100 on Edmund Street; to K. Von Nessen, a plot 40 by 100 at Waterview Place, and to H. Bamberger a plot 40 by 121 on Clifford Street.

G. Taus and son have sold at Far Rockaway for James Keenan his cottage at North Division Avenue to Abraham Laschower; for the Farrelly estate, a plot 50 by 139, with two cottages on Dodge Avenue, and for J. Kohn a plot of four lots on South Park Avenue to Mrs. Mary Friedman, who will improve by erecting two semi-detached cottages.

The Somerville Realty Company has sold to David Carroll of Flushing a parcel having 40 feet on the west side of Vernam Avenue and a parcel of 80 feet on the west side of Lawrence Avenue, Arverne.

Staten Island.

The Prince's Bay Realty Company has sold to an investor 1,000 feet of water front with acreage in the Borough of Richmond. This is in addition to the purchase of 500 feet recently sold through the same company.

Cornelius G. Kolff has sold for Mrs. Anna Gerlinger her frame house on plot 25 by 69 at 28 Broad Street, near Brownell Street, Stapleton, to Mrs. Ida Kosanke.

New Jersey.

The old Laidlaw residence at Seabright, N. J., which has been held by the family for about thirty-five years, has been sold to a client of Pease & Elliman. The property has a frontage on the ocean and the Shrewsbury River, and was purchased for occupancy.

Westchester County.

The Valley Farms Company has sold to Frederick Benzinger a tract of land at Lefferts Park, South Yonkers, containing about two acres of ground, bounded by McLean and Sedgwick Avenues, Lawton and Jervis Roads, and old Croton Aqueduct. Richter & McDowell were the brokers.

Recent Buyer.

John Bottomley is the buyer of the dwelling, 112 East Fifty-fifth Street, sold recently.

Woolworth Building Leases.

Edward J. Hogan, agent for the Woolworth Building has leased for a term of years to the Snare & Triest Co., contracting engineers, a large portion of the tenth floor, and part of the south wing of the fifteenth floor to the McClintic-Marshall Construction Company, builders of steel bridges.

Commercial Leases.

N. Brigham Hall & William D. Bloodgood have leased for Cross & Brown Co., as agents, the store and basement at 158 Madison Avenue to Charles N. Leigh, for a long term of years.

Frederick Southack & Alwyn Ball, Jr., have rented the entire building, 357 Washington Street, for Wilkins Brothers to Nathan Kronman.

The McVickar, Gaillard Realty Company has leased the store, basement, and second floor in the Terry & Tench Building, 143 Madison Avenue, to the Macbeth Evans Glass Company of Pittsburgh, for a term of years.

William R. Moore has leased 68 West Thirty-seventh Street, a four-story dwelling, for Coddington & Co., to Mrs. Hurst, and 115 West Forty-ninth Street, a four-story dwelling, for C. McCarthy, to A. Dorando.

First Flathouse in Flushing.

Robert Brennan has secured a permit and will build the first modern apartment house in Flushing, L. I., at the corner of Broadway and Central Avenue. The structure will be of brick, four stories high, and will cost about $30,000.

Neponsit's New Clubhouse.

The Property Owners' Association of Neponsit, on the Rockaway coast, will open its new thirty-thousand-dollar clubhouse to-morrow. An elaborate programme has been prepared for the event. The clubhouse is a spacious two-story structure, built in Colonial style, with broad piazzas that overlook the ocean and Jamaica Bay. There is a boat landing and several tennis courts on the grounds. Surrounding the club are many of Neponsit's finest residences, that vary in style from a low-roofed California bungalow to a half-timbered English cottage of the Elizabethan period.

Big Eleventh Avenue Warehouse.

Plans have been filed for the construction of an eight-story concrete fireproof warehouse on the southwest corner of Eleventh Avenue and Twenty-sixth Street for the Real Estate and Improvement Company of Baltimore, Md. It will have a frontage of 352 feet and a depth of 67 feet. The architect, Maurice A. Long of Baltimore, estimates the cost at $450,000.

Real Estate Notes.

The recently organized Four West Fifty-seventh Street Company, composed of members of the Roosevelt family, has acquired title to the James A. Roosevelt home, at 4 West Fifty-seventh Street, and also to 3 and 5 West Fifty-sixth Street, abutting the Roosevelt house.

Huberth & Gabel were associated with John N. Golding in the sale of the property 136 East Fifteenth Street for Jacob Spielberg.

Pease & Elliman have been appointed managers of 30, 32, and 34 West Forty-fifth Street, commercial buildings, recently purchased by Thomas W. Slocum and others for the Harvard Club. The property will not be altered at present.

Pease & Elliman have also been appointed agents of the Holland Court, at 69 to 73 East Ninety-second Street, northwest corner of Park Avenue, for Miss Charlotte Baker, who recently purchased it from the Quackenbush estate.

BUILDING MATERIAL.

Mr. Landlord

Your store is still vacant. Probably your fault! Analyze what you have to give the prospective tenant.

Have you a large, full window front?

Have you unencumbered space? Have you good light? And if not, why? Don't you know a prospective tenant sees these things?

If you had an organization which would go in and sketch, plan and complete, according to building department codes, an ideal store, would you not jump at the chance?

Are we expensive? No; we are always open for competitive bids.

REAL ESTATE AT AUCTION. REAL ESTATE AT AUCTION. REAL ESTATE AT AUCTION. REAL ESTATE AT AUCTION.

New York, June 6th, 1912.

Gentlemen:—

We have received many letters requesting information about the Van Cortlandt Estate Partition Sale, and in reply would state as follows:

No. 1. GENERAL INQUIRIES.

We do not know what the lots will bring. They are going to bring what you think they are worth—what you are willing to pay for them. There are 719 lots; they vary greatly in location and value. The property has been in the family for over 200 years. Nothing has ever been sold located between Van Cortlandt Park, the Subway Station and the Reservoir. Your opinion and your $200, $2,000, or $20,000 is as good as any man's. It is for you to say what it will bring.

No. 2. SPECIAL INQUIRIES.

Yes. Every lot will absolutely be sold, whether it brings $5, $500, or $5,000. This is absolute and positive, and every lot will be sold without reservation and without protection in spite of anything you may hear to the contrary. A partition suit has been brought. The Court has ordered Adam Wiener, Esq., the referee, to sell to the highest bidder at public auction. There are 719 lots. It will probably take two or three days to sell them. There will be, under circumstances of this kind, many bargains to be picked up and you will get the benefit.

No. 3. FROM INVESTORS.

Yes. We do think the lots will make a good investment. They are directly along the line of the City's Northward growth. Three rapid transit routes on or adjacent to the property and another one building. It must necessarily build up quickly and rise rapidly in value. All past experience bears out this conclusion. You cannot possibly lose money. It is a safe investment. No Board of Directors to put the stock up and down or issue watered stock. You control it yourself.

No. 4. HOME BUILDERS' INQUIRIES.

We think it would make an admirable place to build a home for yourself, particularly the high ground opposite Van Cortlandt Park or the Streets between the Park and the Reservoir, or along Sedgwick Avenue, adjoining the Reservoir. The children have the Parks and Parkways to play in. While some of the Streets are not sewered, all it needs is an application to the Department to have the Street sewered. Of course you will be assessed for the sewer, but whatever you pay your lots will have increased in value double as much as the amount of the assessment, and under the new law this assessment can be paid in ten annual payments. Then, again, don't forget that in addition to using it for your own home you get the immense increase in value as the neighborhood builds up. You have, besides, the five-cent fare on the Broadway Subway and the Lexington Avenue Subway building along Jerome Avenue, with a station at Jerome Avenue and Mosholu Parkway within 1200 feet of the property.

No. 5. SPECULATORS' INQUIRIES.

Yes. For speculative purposes there should be a lot of good opportunities. There can be no risk. They are only ten minutes away by Subway from Washington Heights at 181st Street, and they should sell at so much lower value than property in that neighborhood that there ought to be a good chance for speculation, to say nothing of being at the Park and having better transit facilities than Washington Heights has. Certainly the terms are easy enough, only 25% cash.

No. 6. BUILDERS' INQUIRIES.

Yes. We think you could build here and make money, particularly near the Subway Station, and fill up your houses quickly with good tenants who would like to live in this section near the Park. There are many hundreds of tenants who would like to come up to this section, but there is no place for them to live. There is plenty of money now to be had for permanent mortgages and you will be able to get as much rent per room as they do on Washington Heights, and in this new section, with so much better transit facilities, you should sell your houses quickly and at a profit.

Rider and Olive S. Rider, his wife, to the New York, West Shore & Buffalo Company by three certain deeds, one dated February 7, 1882, and recorded in the County Clerk's Office of Greene County, New York, on that day, in Book 97 of Deeds, at Page 424; one dated February 19, 1883, and recorded in said Clerk's office April 27, 1883, in Book 101 of Deeds, at Page 303; and one dated December 29, 1883, and recorded in said Clerk's office January 3, 1884, in Book 103 of Deeds, at Page 189.

"Also excepting and reserving therefrom all that certain piece or parcel heretofore conveyed by William Martin and Sarah Martin, his wife, to The Wallkill Valley Railroad Company by deed dated August 23, 1881, and recorded in said Clerk's Office September 22, 1881, in Book 98 of Deeds at page 36, also all those certain pieces or parcels heretofore conveyed by William Martin and Sarah Martin, his wife, to The New York, West Shore and Buffalo Railway Company by three certain deeds, one dated June 1, 1882, and recorded in said Clerk's Office on that day in Book 99 of Deeds, at page 169; one dated June 11, 1883, and recorded in said Clerk's Office July 3, 1883, in Book 101 of Deeds, at page 451; and one dated June 11, 1883, and recorded in said Clerk's Office July 3, 1883, in Book 101 of Deeds, at page 453; ALSO all that certain piece or parcel heretofore conveyed by Jacob Person to The Wallkill Valley Railroad Company by deed dated December 1, 1880, and recorded in said Clerk's Office in Book 95 of Deeds at page 404; ALSO all those certain pieces or parcels heretofore conveyed by Jacob Person to The New York, West Shore and Buffalo Railway Company by two certain deeds; one dated March 28, 1882, and recorded in said Clerk's Office, April 1, 1882, in Book 99 of Deeds, at page 55, and the other dated June 11, 1883, and recorded in said Clerk's Office, June 18, 1883, in Book 101, at page 434.

"ALSO EXCEPTING AND RESERVING all those certain pieces or parcels heretofore conveyed by John Post and Catherine, his wife, to The New York, West Shore and Buffalo Railway Company, by two certain deeds, one dated February 8, 1882, and recorded in said Clerk's Office on that day in Book 97 of Deeds, at page 428; and the other dated December 22, 1882, and recorded in said Clerk's Office on that day in Book 101 of Deeds, at page 77.

"ALSO EXCEPTING AND RESERVING all that certain piece or parcel heretofore conveyed by Clifford Bonneville and Margaret, his wife, to The New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company, by deed dated May 14, 1906, and recorded in said Clerk's Office June 2d, 1906, in Book 175 of Deeds, at page 78.

"Subject to rights of way, if any, heretofore granted over said premises.

"(2) ALSO ALL that other certain lot, piece or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in said Township, County and State, containing about 6 acres and situate on the northerly side of the "crossroad" hereinbefore mentioned, being about 200 or 300 feet west of the westerly boundary of the foregoing tract and being bounded generally as follows:

"On the north by lands now or formerly owned by Charles A. Post, on the east by lands of Charles H. Person, on the south and west by said "crossroad,"—said lands being a triangular piece of land located off of the west end of the wood lot of C. H. Person.

"The two parcels of land hereinabove described contain (when there is excluded therefrom the above-mentioned lot of D. M. Post of 18 acres, but without excluding therefrom the lands conveyed for the purposes of railways and highways, or the lands reserved as places of burial) 716.84 acres; being all the lands situate in Greene County, State of New York, of which the late Clifford Bonneville died seized and possessed, being the same premises conveyed to the Seaboard Portland Cement Company by the following deeds; Margaret Bonneville to Seaboard Portland Cement Company, dated August 21st, 1907, and recorded in the office of the Clerk of the County of Greene on August 21st, 1907, in Liber 179 of Deeds at page 395; Bertie B. Bonneville and others to Seaboard Portland Cement Company, dated August 21st, 1907, and recorded in the office of the Clerk of the County of Greene on August 21st, 1907, in Liber 179 of Deeds, at page 399.

"(3) ALSO ALL riparian rights of the Seaboard Portland Cement Company in any way incident or appertaining to the lands above described, in and to the waters of the Hudson River, and all the right, title and interest of the said Seaboard Portland Cement Company in and to the said waters or the land under said waters adjoining the premises above described, acquired by the said Seaboard Portland Cement Company, under and by virtue of a certain grant or grants of riparian rights made and issued to the said Seaboard Portland Cement Company, by or under the authority of the Legislature of the State of New York, together with any and all docks, wharves, or other structures, improvements or appurtenances constructed and maintained upon the land under water pursuant to said grant or grants;

"Together with all the right, title, and interest, claim and demand, as well at law as in equity of the said Seaboard Portland Cement Company, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of New York therein and thereto, together with all and singular the appurtenances belonging or in any wise appertaining unto said premises, and all the estate and rights of the said Seaboard Portland Cement Company in and to the same, SAVING AND EXCEPTING therefrom, nevertheless, all those certain lots, pieces, and parcels of land as surveyed and mapped by the State Highway Commission of the State of New York and described upon Map No. 14, dated July 26th, 1911; Map No. 15, dated July 28th, 1911; Map No. 16½, dated October 31st, 1911, and Map No. 17 A. B., dated July 26th, 1911, of the lands to be acquired for the construction of the Saugerties-Catskill Part 2 State Highway (Route No. 3, Section No. 1) filed in the office of the Clerk of the County of Greene, New York, which lots or parcels of land, comprising approximately eighty-hundredths of an acre, formed a part of the premises hereinbefore described, and are now owned by and vested in the State of New York under and by virtue of a taking and condemnation for the purposes of said State Highway pursuant to law and an order of the Supreme Court duly made and entered in the office of the Clerk of the County of Greene on the 12th day of January, 1912, and proceedings prior thereto and in furtherance thereof."

The foregoing description includes all of the real estate owned by the defendant Seaboard Portland Cement Company and subject to the mortgage herein foreclosed or either of them.

"LOT II."

"All personal property located on any and all the above described real property of the Seaboard Portland Cement Company in the County of Greene, unattached to said realty, the nature of which is generally described as follows:

"Engines and condensers; vertical Aldredge electric pumps; clay rolls; machinery on hand and material to be used in the construction of the engine house, pump house, clay disintegrator building, the direct dryer building, kiln dryer building, lime-stone storage building, clay storage building, raw grinding house, kiln building, and crusher building; also motors, horses, wagons, farm tools, general tools, mowing machines, reaper and binder, engines, derricks, portable boilers, crushers, concrete mixers, engine and industrial cars, steam drills and their equipment, railroad ties, hydraulic jacks, rope block and tackle, laboratory and equipment, condemned castings, railroad track scales, sand and gravel, and miscellaneous material with which to work, and other personal property accessory to the said plant and the land and the manufacture of Portland Cement, which is situate on the property of said Seaboard Portland Cement Company, or in the possession of its Receiver.

"Together with any rights or equities growing out of any contracts between the said Seaboard Portland Cement Company and others for the delivery of machinery or other chattels for use in the erection and completion of the plant thereon."

Said property will first be offered in separate lots or parcels as above designated, and then as an entirety in one lot. The sale will be made in which ever way the property brings most. Bidders for separate lots will be required to first deposit either in money or certified check $5,000 upon each lot. Such deposits will be returned in case the property be sold as an entirety. At the offering of the entire property in one parcel each bidder will be required to deposit either in money or certified check $10,000 before bidding, except that the deposit of $5,000 for each lot by any one person shall be sufficient without an additional deposit from the same person when the property is offered as an entirety. The deposits of unsuccessful bidders will be returned to them and the successful bidder will not be required to make any further deposit. The further terms of sale will be announced at the sale and can be ascertained by inquiry of the undersigned Special Master. The premises and property will be open for inspection each day from June 21st to June 28th, 1912, and can be reached by the West Shore R. R. to Alsen, N. Y.

Dated New York, May 28th, 1912.

BANKRUPTCY NOTICES.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, SOUTHERN District of New York.—In the matter of JOSEPH P. BRADY, alleged bankrupt.

It appearing to my satisfaction by the petition of George R. Simpson, duly verified the 27th day of May, 1912, that a petition was filed in this court on the 2d day of May, 1912, praying that the above-named Joseph P. Brady be adjudged a bankrupt, and that a subpoena directed to said alleged bankrupt was duly issued out of this court to the Marshal of this district, and that the said Marshal has been unable to serve the same, and that said alleged bankrupt is not now within this district so that personal service may be made upon him, and that diligent efforts have since been made to ascertain the whereabouts of the said alleged bankrupt, but that he is not now within the jurisdiction of this court, it is on motion of George R. Simpson, attorney for the petitioning creditors,

Ordered, That the above-named alleged bankrupt plead, answer, or demur on or before the 17th day of June, 1912, to the petition herein filed in the office of the Clerk of this court on the 2d day of May, 1912; and in case of his failure to plead, answer, or demur thereto, adjudication shall be made according to the prayer of said petition, and it is further Ordered, That this order be published in The New York Times once a week for two successive weeks, said publication to commence no later than the 31st day of May, 1912, and that a copy of this order be mailed to said alleged bankrupt at his last-known residence, in care of Wagner, on the southwest corner of 42d Street and Eighth Avenue, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, and to his last-known place of business, No. 519 West 40th Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on or before the date of the first publication.

Dated N. Y., May 27th, 1912.

C. M. HOUGH, D. J.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The disturbances over the lake region Wednesday night have passed to the St. Lawrence Valley, and another disturbance of minor intensity is over the Gulf of Mexico. During the last twenty-four hours these disturbances have caused widespread showers through the Atlantic and Gulf States and the Upper Ohio Valley into the lake region.

The barometric pressure has increased decidedly over west and northwest districts, and the weather is considerably cooler in the Rocky Mountain regions and the Mississippi and Ohio Valleys.

There will be showers Friday in the South Atlantic and East Gulf States, and especially on the east slope of the Rockies.

In other parts of the country fair weather will prevail Friday and Saturday, and moderate temperature will continue over the eastern half of the country during the next forty-eight hours.

Winds along the New England and Middle Atlantic Coast will be moderate northwest; South Atlantic Coast, moderate east and southeast, with squalls.

Steamships departing Friday for European ports will have moderate north and northwest winds and fair weather to the Grand Banks.

FORECASTS FOR TO-DAY AND SATURDAY.

Eastern New York and New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania.—Fair Friday and Saturday; moderate temperature; moderate northwest winds.

Southern New England.—Fair and cooler Friday; Saturday fair; moderate northwest winds.

Northern New England.—Fair Friday and Saturday; moderate temperature; moderate northwest winds.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1911.	1912.		1911.	1912.
3 A. M.	57	64	4 P. M.	66	60
6 A. M.	57	62	6 P. M.	62	63
9 A. M.	60	67	9 P. M.	61	63
12 M	62	64	12 P. M.	58	63

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 63; for the corresponding date last year it was 61; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 66.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 64; at 8 P. M. it was 62. Maximum temperature, 67 degrees at 9 A. M.; minimum, 59 degrees at 2 P. M. Humidity, 66 per cent. at 8 A. M.; 92 per cent. at 8 P. M.

EDUCATION NOTES.

The Association of Men Teachers on Eligible Lists prior to Jan. 1, 1912 will hold a meeting to-morrow morning in the Tompkins Square Library, Tenth Street and Avenue B.

The Alumnae Association of the old St. Patrick's Cathedral school will have its annual reunion in the school, Prince and Mott Streets, on the afternoon of June 29.

It was stated in THE TIMES several weeks ago that City Supt. Maxwell would assign District Supt. William O'Shea to take charge of the Bureau of Compulsory Education, for which position Associate City Supt. Edward B. Shallow was ousted by Dr. Maxwell. Mr. O'Shea is now installed in the office formerly occupied by Mr. Shallow, and has begun his work of rounding up truants and enforcing the compulsory education law.

An examination for license for promotion in elementary schools will be held on Sept. 7.

The Committee on Elementary Schools has denied the request of Principal Oliver Jones of the Probationary School on Broome Street, that he be permitted to hold a sale of articles made by his ppupils, the proceeds to be used to buy work materials and a new gramophone.

The local school board of District No. 1 has asked the Board of Education to make the present annex of Public School 29, in Pearl Street, an independent school and to appoint Miss Martha M. Hall as teacher.

Eighteen more applications for retirement have been received from public school teachers.

The Committee on By-Laws at the next meeting of the Board of Education will report in favor of the plan offered by the Committee on Elementary Schools for increased supervision and better medical inspection of defective children in the local schools. The increased cost will be about $6,500. There are about 2,100 defective children in the schools. It is purposed to increase the salary of inspector of ungraded classes from $2,400 to $2,600, to pay the assistants $1,800 the first year, and to make the initial pay for the visiting teacher $1,000. The salary of the teachers in ungraded classes will remain at $720 for the first three years, with a bonus of $100. Two physicians will be employed at $1,800 a year each.

The Committe on Sites is at work studying the need for new school sites and buildings throughout the city.

It is rumored that a number of school Principals are to be shifted from smaller to larger schools and their old places filled by assistants to Principals.

District Superintendent Julia Richman sailed for Europe yesterday on the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria. She intends to remain abroad several months.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

City.

The following reports by Examiner Murray have been approved by the Municipal Civil Service Commission:

Relative to the communication of the Fire Commissioner transmitting applications of certain engineers of steamer and first-grade firemen for special examination for promotion to the rank of assistant foreman. Mr. Murray calls attention to the court decision in the case of Tormey vs. Polk, also the opinion of the Corporation Counsel relative to the appeal of James F. Monaghan, an engineer of steamer, who was granted a special examination.

Mr. Murray states that of the men mentioned in the Fire Commissioner's letters he would recommend that physical examinations be granted to James J. Murphy and Clatus J. Nelson, who were allowed to take the mental test conditionally, and to James J. Cuff, provided he has already taken the mental examination. He states that the commission is without power to grant a special examination to James F Gilligan, who withdrew his application. With reference to the others, it is necessary that the Fire Department submit an individual report in each case, showing that they were compelled to remain away from duty under the direction of superior officers.

Recommending that the request of Harold H. Fallick that his name be restored to the list of bookkeeper, third grade, be denied. Mr. Fallick's name was removed from this list when his title was changed from second-grade clerk to second-grade bookkeeper, as the result of his standing thereon.

Relative to the communication from John B. Law, a candidate in the recent examination for promotion to rodman in the Board of Water Supply, who states that he re-received a notice for the examination for promotion to rodman, Grade C, whereas he actually took the examination for promotion to rodman, Grade B, Mr. Murray recommends that all the papers in the examination be referred back to the original examiners; that only the answers of the first twelve questions, which were designated for promotion to Grade B, be considered; that after the averages are computed from these twelve questions the total average be placed on the papers of all candidates and sent to the computing clerk; that the eligible list be prepared for promotion to rodman, Grade B, and in the meantime the present lists purporting to be for promotion to rodman, Grades B and C, Board of Water Supply, be not certified.

Recommending that the amended record of Max L. Silver, a second grade clerk in the Tenement House Department, who was a candidate in the examination for third grade clerk, held on Jan. 25, be accepted and his rating on record and seniority amended so that he may be given the place to which he is entitled on the eligible list, it appearing that an error was made in recording his original rating.

Recommending that an examination be held for promotion to the position of fifth grade registrar of records in the Tenement House Department, and that the examination be open to all clerks who have served for not less than three years in Grade 3 or Grade 4. He also recommends the subjects and weights for the examination, and states that in the event of less than three persons filing applications it may be considered impracticable to fill the position by promotion, and an open competitive examination should therefore be ordered.

United States.

H. C. Coles, Secretary of the Second United States Civil Service District, New York Custom House, has just promulgated the eligible list of those who took the sub-clerical examination a few months ago. Of the large number of candidates about 1,200 passed the test. Of these 1,200, however, only about 50 will get immediate employment. The other 1,150 will have to wait until other vacancies occur. Morris Poller has the highest rating on the list, 93.70. The next 104 names as they appear on the list are as follows:

John J. Strain, (pref.,) 89.40; Otto W. Markey, (pref.,) 86.30; Charles Blueglass, (pref.,) 85.80; David Nagle, (pref.,) 83.70; Henry F. PARTITION SALES.

NEW YORK SUPREME COURT, NEW YORK County.—HENRY W. HAYDEN, Plaintiff, against AUGUSTUS VAN CORTLANDT and others, Defendants.

In pursuance of an interlocutory judgment of partition and sale, duly made and entered in the above entitled action, bearing date the 16th day of May, 1912, and entered in the office of the Clerk of the County of New York, on the 16th day of May, 1912, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction on the said premises, in the Borough of the Bronx, City of New York, on the 8th day of June, 1912, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon on that day, by Joseph P. Day, auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All that certain piece, part or parcel of land belonging to the Van Cortlandt Estate, situated south of Van Cortlandt Park, between Broadway on the west and Albany Road on the east, and extending southward to the land now or formerly of Thorn, and to land now or formerly of Bowie Dash, said southerly line being about seventy-three and forty-four one-hundredths feet (73.44) south of West 238th Street, as measured on the east side of Broadway, and about three hundred thirty-four and ninety-four one-hundredths feet (334.94) south of West 238th Street as measured on the west side of Albany Road, except so much thereof as has been taken by the City of New York for the opening of West 238th Street, and excepting also a certain strip sixty-six feet wide (66.' 0") through the property which was acquired by the New York and Putnam Railway Company for a right of way, containing seventeen and two hundred fifteen one-thousands acres (17.215), more or less, of land, the whole and the several parts being as shown on a map or plan entitled Map of Property of the Van Cortlandt Estate, situated between Broadway and Sedgwick Avenue, south of Van Cortlandt Park, in the 24th Ward, Borough of the Bronx, New York City, surveyed by Earl B. NEW YORK SUPREME COURT, NEW York County.—AUGUSTUS VAN CORTLANDT, JR., Plaintiff, against AUGUSTUS VAN CORTLANDT and others, Defendants.

In pursuance of an interlocutory judgment of partition and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action, bearing date the 10th day of May, 1912, and entered in the office of the Clerk of the County of New York on the 14th day of May, 1912, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction on the said premises, in the Borough of the Bronx, City of New York, on the 8th day of June, 1912, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon on that day, by Joseph P. Day, auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

All that certain piece, part, or parcel of land belonging to the Van Cortlandt Estate situated south of Van Cortlandt Park between Albany Road on the west and Sedgwick Avenue and the westerly line of land formerly known as the Dickinson Estate on the east and extending southward to the land acquired by the City of New York for the Jerome Park Reservoir and to West 238th Street as said street extends westward from Sedgwick Avenue for a distance of about four hundred eighty-one and eight-tenths feet (481.8) and to the northerly line of lands now or formerly of William O. Giles, except so much thereof as has been taken by the City of New York for the opening of West 238th Street, Van Cortlandt Avenue, and Sedgwick Avenue, and excepting also a certain parcel of land sold to John Olmstead by deed dated August 1st, 1877, as located, fixed, and determined by a certain boundary line agreement made by Robert C. Wood and Augustus Van Cortlandt and recorded June 1st, 1900, in Liber 14, C. P. 224, Section 12, and shown as Parcel A on a map or plan entitled Map of Property of the Van Cortlandt Estate situated between Broadway and Sedgwick Avenue, south of Van Cortlandt Park, in the 24th Ward, Borough of the Bronx, New York City, surveyed by Earl B. Lovell, Civil Engineer and City Surveyor, March, 1911, and excepting also three other parcels of land sold to James B. Woodworth and De Forest Fox by deeds dated August 1st, 1877, and designated by the letters B, C and D on said map or plan of survey made by Earl B. Lovell March, 1911, containing forty-one and eight hundred ninety-three one-thousandths (41.893) acres, more or less, of land, the whole and several parts being as shown on the above-mentioned map or plan of survey made by Earl B. Lovell March, 1911, and more specifically located and described as follows, (the bearings of the several courses referring to the Tenth Avenue meridian):

POLICE AND COURTS GO AFTER GANG MEN

Excise Board and Tenement Commission Enlisted to Close Resorts.

DIGGING UP THEIR RECORDS

One of Sirocco's Men Gets Two Sentences—Torti, Who Shot Zelig, Indicted for Attempted Murder.

The police and the courts have combined to put a stop to the gang wars in this city. This was indicated yesterday by the holding of offenders for trial and the sentencing of gangsters to terms in prison. Affairs in the underworld are receiving the attention of Commissioner Waldo and his assistants, and a plan of campaign was formed yesterday which is expected to be effective. The police have called to their assistance the State Excise Board and the Health and Tenement House Departments. In addition, the detectives on the case have been increased and the gangs are now "covered," to use a police term, with such thoroughness that the police believe they will be on the ground if the "gun men" start their work again. It is difficult, the police say, to determine just where the next battle will be fought. They are sure now the scene has shifted from Chinatown, and they think it will be in the neighborhood of Third Avenue and Fourteenth Street that the trouble may break out again.

The support the courts gave yesterday to the police in dealing with gangsters was welcome, for there was talk at Police Headquarters that in the past the work of breaking up the gangs had been hampered by the courts. Not only had there been a disposition to discharge prisoners, the police say, but also a willingness to fix bail at too low a figure and to allow too long a time between arrest and trial. Experience has shown, a police official said, that bail is all ready for the arrested gangster, and he is at once released, to go forth to battle again. The police were displeased with the fixing of such low bail for Jack Zelig for his part in the shooting in Chinatown on Sunday night. An example of what the police mean by leniency is contained in the police record of Louis Poggi, "Louis the Lump."

On March 7 he was arrested, charged with carrying concealed weapons. He was released under $4,000 bail, and upon his failure to appear in court the bail was declared forfeited. Later, he surrendered himself. Justice Crain set aside the bail forfeiture and released Poggi in the custody of his counsel. He is now a fugitive.

Poggi in 1908 got thirteen months in Elmira on a charge of homicide. The victim was Kid Twist. On Feb. 13 of this year he was charged with fighting a pistol duel with "Game" (Charles I.) Sola. In the exchange of shots Patrick McKenna, a passerby, was wounded. Sola, it is said, was trying to "get" Jimmy Kelly, and Poggi came to the defense of his chief. Poggi was discharged by Magistrate Herrman.

Charles Torti was charged with felonious assault on July 9 of last year, when he shot Frank Smith, alias Pewey, at Park Row and Mulberry Street. He was discharged by Magistrate Herrman.

One Goes to Sing Sing.

Antonio Ballatino, a lieutenant of Jack Sirocco, was sentenced yesterday. His activities as a gun man for the present were brought to a close when, before Judge O'Sullivan, in Part II. of General Sessions, he pleaded guilty to robbery in the second degree and received a sentence of seven years and seven months in Sing Sing.

Between his plea of guilty and his sentence the District Attorney's office dug up his record, and the result was the discovery that he was already out under a suspended sentence. In 1909 Ballatino, before Judge Rosalsky, confessed that he was guilty of burglary, and was let off under suspended sentence. The prisoner was at once taken before Judge Rosalsky, who rescinded the suspended sentence and gave him not less than two years and not more than three years and five months. This done, he was taken before Judge O'Sullivan and received the second sentence.

District Attorney Whitman is taking a hand in the breaking up of the gangs, and it was while discussing the situation with Sergt. Curran of the Elizabeth Street Station that the case of Ballatino came up. The offense for which Judge O'Sullivan sentenced him brought about his arrest on May 22. He was charged with holding up Morris Balinsky in the latter's home, 63 Forsyth Street, and stealing jewelry valued at $900 and $107 in money. Ballatino, who had been going from court to court between two broad-shouldered court attendants, had another surprise. He learned that the District Attorney is now about to move for the rescinding of another suspended sentence, for the record shows that in 1910 he pleaded guilty in Special Sessions to carrying a revolver.

Tricker Describes Himself.

There were two features of the arraignment in court yesterday of "Chick" (Frank) Tricker, who is a prominent figure in the present gang feud, which interested the police. "Chick" figured in the pistol fight in front of his place, 241 Bowery, on Tuesday night, and the police say he was active in the fight. After the fight the police arrested him, and he was brought before Magistrate Appleton in the Essex Market Court yesterday morning, charged with violating the Sullivan law. Bail was fixed at $3,000, and this was promptly furnished by Peter Hughes of 20 James Slip. He gave as security a house at 536 Second Avenue, in which, he said, he had an $11,000 equity.

Tricker described himself yesterday as a friend of the poor. The newspapers wronged him, he said, when they called him a gang fighter. Wanda Murphy, the Chinatown woman, he said, was not the cause of the hostilities. It was a race war, he said, and a fight for the graft of "holding up" storekeepers and others and other forms of blackmail.

"I am the friend of the beggar, and I am the friend of the thief if he's right," said Tricker. "If the big fellow pitches into the little fellow I go to the little fellow's help. I don't persuade. I sail in and do things. That's why they call me a gangster. When a gang comes in and tries to shoot up our place we shoot back. It was only by accident I happened to be in Jack Poggi's place on Sunday night when the fight started. Some would call it slumming. We had no idea that Jack Zelig was on the warpath, and I was not looking for fight. I ain't no gun fighter. Get that clear. I don't know how to carry a gun. I was born in New York, and I am going to stick right here. They ain't going to stick us up. We won't stand for it.

"Is Sirocco the leader of our gang?

"We ain't got a leader. We don't need one. I am a business man. I have been in business nine years, and I can't afford to be mixed up in gang fights," Tricker replied.

The other interesting thing in Tricker's visit to court came when the police read later that an attempt had been made to lighten the charge against the prisoner by making out a complaint of misdemeanor. When Magistrate Appleton discovered this he ordered that the complaint be changed to one charging a felony.

Torti Indicted for Shooting.

Charles Torti, arrested last Monday after the shooting of "Jack" Zelig on the steps of the Criminal Court Building, was indicted yesterday by the Grand Jury on a charge of attempted murder. He will be brought before Judge Rosalsky to-day for pleading, and District Attorney Whitman said that he would move his immediate trial. Zelig in Bellevue Hospital is improving and has promised he will settle his differences in his own way.

Louis Spiegel, counsel for Zelig, wanted to confer with his client yesterday, and called at Police Headquarters for permission. Commissioner Dougherty declared that he would allow no interview unless he was present. The attorney went to Bellevue Hospital later, where Zelig is recovering. It was said that he will be able to be arraigned in court to-day.

Victor Morino and Louis Bull, arrested for interfering with the police, were in the Tombs Court yesterday. Magistrate Kernochan allowed Merino to go. Bull got six months on the island.

Frank Hart, Albert Leonardo, and John Martello, arrested after a pistol battle Wednesday in Second Avenue, in which two men were wounded, were held by Magistrate Appleton in the Essex Market Court in $2,500 bail to await the result of the injuries to the men now in a hospital.

Murray Fox of 42 Division Street, a bar tender in Sirocco's saloon, 12 Chatham Square, was held in $500 by Magistrate Kernochan in the Tombs Court, for a hearing on a charge of violating the excise law. He is said to have been in charge of the back room when the gang fight occurred on Monday morning.

A report reached Police Headquarters of a meeting of Italian gangsters, at which one man pledged his word to "get" Zelig when he came out of the hospital. They did not set much store by the story. There was also another report of a fight in Bellevue between Zelig and a wounded rival gangster. They were separated before any harm was done. The police heard the story without much interest.. In the closing of the resorts they have asked the co-operation of the Excise Department and the city departments. Evidence of excise violations will be forthcoming, they say, and visits of Health and Tenement House Inspectors to some of the places will also insure their closing.

The Sirocco gang held a meeting in the afternoon. There was some consternation over the indictment of Torti and the sentencing of Ballatino, and it was decided to raise a fund for Torti's defense and for the bail which will be asked to-day when he pleads before Judge Rosalsky. The police say that on account of the Sullivan law the fighters do not carry guns, but plant them in convenient places where they are acessible when wanted. In some localities, the police say, they believe more than a dozen revolvers are planted in saloons, small stores, and fruit stores.

GANGSTER GUILTY OF MURDER

Jury Against Lindley, Already Convicted of Robbery.

William A. Lingley, a car barn gangster, known as "Big Bill" Lingley, was convicted of murder in the first degree yesterday before Judge Malone in General Sessions, the jury being out only thirty-five minutes.

Lingley was convicted of the murder of Patrick Burns in his saloon at 930 Forest Avenue, the Bronx, on Feb. 10.

Burns was formerly a police Inspector in Findlay, Ohio, and on the night of the murder was closing his saloon when Lingley and Frank W. Muehlfeldt, a gangster known as "Kid," came in. Muehlfeldt pointed a revolver at Burns and demanded his money, while Lingley held his revolver at the head of a barkeeper. Burns did not act quick enough to suit Muehlfeldt, and the latter shot him. Both men then made their escape, and were later arrested and indicted, Lingley being charged with aiding and abetting the murderer.

Three weeks ago Lingley was convicted of robbery in the first degree before Judge Swann in General Sessions and remanded for sentence. At the time of his conviction for robbery no charge of murder had been made against him, but when the time for sentence arrived the indictment of murder had been found, and Judge Swann postponed sentencing him until the murder charge had been tried.

Lingley can now be sentenced on both charges, but as the penalty for murder in the first degree is death and the maximum for robbery is twenty years, it is very likely that he will be sentenced first upon the robbery charge and then upon the murder charge. The imposition of sentence for robbery will in no way conflict with the death penalty, as several years ago the higher courts decided that no previous sentence shall in any way delay the imposition of the death sentence and the execution. Lingley must, however, be sentenced for both crimes.

WOULD TAX DEADLY WEAPONS

A Southern Congressman Has a Unique Plan to Lessen Shootings.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Representative Thomas Upton Sisson of Mississippi has proposed a new law to curb the warlike spirit of Americans and has introduced a revenue measure which would impose a heavy tax on those who sell or carry deadly weapons.

His bill stipulates that after July 1, 1913, every such weapon stored in any warehouse, wholesale or retail establishment in the United States must bear a revenue stamp, which will cost $2.50 and 25 per cent. ad valorem in addition.

STEAM HARD COAL PRICE UP.

Rates for Buckwheat No. 2 Are Advanced Five Cents a Ton.

Though the advance in anthracite prices was to have been only on domestic sizes, consumers have had to pay higher for the steam sizes also. The price of buckwheat No. 2, it was pointed out yesterday, was $2.80 a ton in 1910, $3.19 in 1911, and is now $3.15.

William Fellowes Morgan, a member of the Merchants' Association committee, which is to begin an investigation next week into the 25 per cent. advance in the domestic anthracite sizes, declared yesterday there could be no doubt of the necessity for the investigation.

"The operators and the mine workers' representatives," he said, "by joint agreement regulated wages and working conditions. Then the operators raised the prices of most of the coal sent to market 25 cents a ton without consulting the other party, the consumer. The Merchants' Association represents the merchants of the city, and will see that the people know why this advance was made."

Dealers said yesterday that the advance in No. 2 buckwheat was not caused by the operators, but by the dealers.

TWO BURNED TO DEATH.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgerton Perish in Destruction of Summer Home.

Special to The New York Times.

STANHOPE, N. J., June 6.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edgerton were burned to death early this morning at their Summer home at Budd's Lake, and their daughter, Mrs. Viola Edgerton Knowles, and her husband, Allen Knowles, barely escaped with their lives. Before making a leap from a second-story window they tried vainly to save the elder couple. It is believed that Mr. and Mrs. Edgerton were suffocated before the flames reached them. Coroner Totten investigated shortly after daylight and decided no inquest was necessary. Only the charred trunks of the victims were found in the ruins.

Mr. and Mrs. Knowles were roused from their sleep about 1:45 o'clock by the sound of crackling flames. Their room, at the back of the house, was filled with smoke, and in the hall outside the flames barred the way to the front room, where Mr. and Mrs. Edgerton lay sleeping. Mr. and Mrs. Knowles pounded on the wall in the effort to rouse them, but could not.

The screams of Mrs. Knowles from the rear window wakened Edward Hopping, whose cottage is next to the site of the burned building.

He ran out of his house to see the Knowles couple at their window. He cried to them to jump, but they shook their heads and disappeared into the room, which was already lighted up by the fire behind them. They were trying again to rouse Mr. and Mrs. Edgerton. Again they appeared at the window, and Hopping repeated his urging that they should jump to safety. With a glance back into the flames, by that time close upon them, Mr. and Mrs. Knowles jumped together.

They were just in time. Scarcely had they reached the ground when the floors gave way, and the entire interior of the house was a furnace. Both were bruised a little, but not seriously hurt by the jump. Mrs. Knowles was prostrated with grief and shock.

Confirm Conviction for Vote Frauds.

TRENTON, N. J., June 6.—Convictions of William Lockman, Judge of Elections, and William C. Parker, an election officer in Camden County, both of whom were prosecuted as the result of the campaign there in the Fall of 1910, have been affirmed by the Supreme Court. Lockman received an illegal vote without sanction of a majority of the board. He was acquitted of one charge, but convicted for depositing the vote without sufficient approval. Parker was convicted of depositing the vote of a man after he had been duly challenged, and before the board had voted to receive the ballot.

May Have Been Robbed and Killed.

Special to The New York Times.

ELIZABETH, N. J., June 6.—Albert Dellello, a junk dealer, left his home in Plainfield Tuesday, intending to go to Newark, and has not been seen since. His horse and wagon were found in Kenilworth to-day, and the wheels and shafts of the vehicle were covered with blood. Dellello had a large sum of money in his pockets, and it is believed he was held up and killed. His body has not been found.

MRS. TWOMBLY LOSES.

Court Decides for Morris Railroad Against Her and Jersey Nuns.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., June 6.—Three decisions, every one of which is favorable to the railroad, have just been handed down by the Supreme Court in the litigation between the Morris Railroad Company on the one side and the Sisters of Charity of St. Elizabeth and Mrs. Hamilton McK. Twombly on the other.

The court dismisses the proceedings brought by the women to review the action of Justice Parker in appointing commissioners to appraise land in Morris County, and also ousts the quo warranto suit brought by Attorney General Wilson to test the company's right to exercise its franchise.

Verdict for Slander Upheld.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., June 6.—Holding that punitive damages are awarded in slander suits as a punishment to the offender and a warning to others, the Supreme Court, in an opinion by Justice Bergen, refused yesterday to set aside as excessive a verdict for $10,000 recovered by Lucy C. Hulbert, a Morristown school teacher, against William C. Arnold. Arnold was severely censured by the court for circulating stories reflecting on Miss Hulbert's character.

Death to "Commuting Mosquito."

A new danger besets the "commuting mosquito," which is said to board the trains which pass through the Hackensack meadows. The Erie Railroad has decided to make an attack. The Erie maintains water barrels at many points for use in case of fire, and an order has been issued to place one pint of crude oil in each barrel of water. It will take a large quantity of oil to carry out the plan, but the Erie believes it will be doing a great good in every community through which it operates.

Clothes from Maker to Wearer

$35 to $50 SUITS NOW $19.50 —Moe Levy

Don't misunderstand me—this is not a Marked Down Sale. In the first place, I don't stand for high-priced clothes; neither do my customers.

I sell more suits at $15 than any other clothier in town because I give more value for $15. I sell lots of clothes at prices up to $35, because for value received all my prices are comparatively low. While my price range stops at $35, this fact does not prevent me from selling suits with values as high as $50. I am able to offer you just 310 suits that never sold for less than $35, and some as high as $50, at $19.50.

Here's the Reason

An importing concern, noted for its exclusive selections, sold me their sample piece goods upon condition that their name be kept in strict confidence. The lot comprises 310 different fabrics, each just enough for one suit and every piece different. These garments are without doubt the finest in the world, and the firm that made them only deal in the most exclusive and original ideas. The fact that I don't specialize on clothes from $35 to $50 didn't prevent me from buying these pieces, because the figure at which I made the purchase enables me to give you a rare bargain and at the same time not lose any money myself.

I have made these garments up the best I know how, trimmed them and styled them up to the quality of the cloth, and for the man who wants a real high-class garment this is indeed a rare opportunity.

There are only 310 suits, so I would suggest that you come in early. At the price they won't be on my hands long.

Evenings Until 9 o'Clock Moe Levy Saturdays Until 11 P. M.
